Fire at ACHS could have been much worse

Damage contained in computer lab

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

There was a small fire Thursday afternoon at Antioch Community High School, after students had been dismissed. Staff noticed smoke coming from the vents and called 911 but said they thought they could handle it. At 3:38 p.m. school personnel called back and requested help from the fire department.

Fire Chief Dennis Volling was riding on the first truck that arrived and was surprised when he went into the school and found business going on as usual. The first thing he did was to pull the fire alarm in order to evacuate the building.

Fire fighters searched the building and found the problem in the computer lab. The alarm was upgraded and firefighters from Lake Villa and Fox Lake came to the scene. Firefighters from Salem, Wis., came for stand-by at the Antioch Fire Department station.

The fire was contained in the computer lab and firefighters were able to extinguish it in about 45 minutes. There was some fire damage and a few computers were ruined.

The cause of the fire was due to the way new boxes of computers were stored, which not only started the fire, but also prevented the sprinklers from extinguishing it. The boxes were stacked all the way to the ceiling, and one stack rose to a recessed can light.

"That's why they say nothing should be higher than 18 inches below the sprinkler head," department spokesman Lt. Chris Lienhardt said.

Since the box was against the can light and above the sprinkler head, the sprinklers were not activated. Firefighters said if this had happened at night when people weren't around to notice the smoke, the fire would have burned into the ceiling and caused a great deal of damage.

"This fire demonstrates the importance of proper storage procedure," Lienhardt said. "The potential was there for a fire that was much worse."

The Fire Department and high school officials planned to meet this week to discuss how the situation could have been handled differently.

"Don't not call the fire department since it can cause one of the biggest delays," Lienhardt said. "A building should always be evacuated."

"We're all thankful it wasn't much worse," he said.

Retirement is a new beginning for Dr. Hunt, of District 34

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

District 34 Superintendent Dr. John Hunt has spent 34 years in education, beginning as a sixth-grade teacher. He has spent the last four years heading up the District 34.

The toughest situation facing the district is dealing with growth, Dr. Hunt said. He is very pleased that the district passed the spring referendum for the education fund. That was no small feat since 84 percent of school referendums failed this year.

Hunt is also pleased with the way the district has created a more formal process for a curriculum development cycle. This year, staff members updated Social Studies.

A district action plan has been put into operation and the school board evaluates it and updates it each year.

"That keeps us on our toes and moves us forward," Hunt said. "The changes that have been made accomplished a lot, but there are always new challenges."

"I've enjoyed every job I've had and worked with some really good people," Hunt said.

June 28 is Hunt's official last day of work in District 34.

"I think it will be interesting to have a long time off, since that hasn't happened since 1974," he said. As for June 29, Hunt said he doesn't know what he will do.

However, on August 1 his long time off will end. He has been accepted as a full-time faculty member at Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville. He will be teaching education administration to students who are teachers wanting to go into administration.

"It's a different type of role, but one I'm looking forward to," Hunt said. "After 34 years, I think I have some things to share." He will be teaching school law, community relations and an introduction to administration.

Hunt describes himself and his wife as empty nesters.

"We've enjoyed Antioch, but we'll be closer to two of our girls and closer to my wife's family."

"It's a bittersweet time, and really strange. I think I'll enjoy it because I'll still be doing something in education. Being a superintendent is a great job. Most of the time it's a very positive job."

"I've really enjoyed it here. We

Lakes Community High School celebrates its identity

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

Lakes Community High School officially claimed its own identity last week and celebrated its independence. This year freshman and sophomores were the only high school students in the building, but next year when new freshman arrive the other groups move up a notch, creating three years-worth of a student population.

In lieu of a traditional school lunch period, students celebrated all they had accomplished as a group and developed as their own school entity, after dividing from Antioch Community High School.

During the two-hour period there were ongoing pie-making demonstrations, demonstration by the Jazz Band, treble choir, mixed choir and an ongoing and clubs and classes that include the Academic Team, Amnesty Club, Anime Club, Art Class, Art Club, Band, Choir, Clothing Class, DECA, Electronics class, FCCLA, Foods II class, Freshman Club, German Club, Math class, Snowball, Student Council, Take Action Club, Woods I and II and yearbook, in addition to the sports teams.

As Associate Principal Ron Bode described it, "They're celebrating their 'eagleness.'"

As Friday approached, and students had been buying 25 cent chances to throw a pie at an administrator, administrators were not nearly as enthusiastic as the students.

Chamber of commerce awards scholarships

By Matt Pera
Staff Reporter

The Round Lake Area Chamber of Commerce recognized a group of talented students at their May 26 meeting, honoring several high school seniors in the Round Lake area with college scholarships.

The chamber begins raising money for the scholarship initiative in December, when it hosts a pancake breakfast, Chamber Spokesperson Monica Marr said. Members of the chamber also host a raffle during their annual installation dinner each year.

In all, $12,500 was raised for 16 Round Lake area students from six high schools.

Each student was paired with a Round Lake area business, which served as a sponsor and matched the funds that were donated by the chamber.

Round Lake Area School District 116 Chief Executive Officer Dennis Stonewall said the chamber's donations offered a great help to the futures of the scholarship recipients.

"The board of education really appreciates the ongoing support from the chamber," he said. "These students set a great standard and they are going to great things for the community. These are names you will read about later on as they take their different paths."

A new scholarship was added this year in honor of former Round Lake Beach Village Attorney Robert Rolek, who passed away March 12 at the age of 54 due to liver failure.

Aside from Rolek's nearly four-year term as counsel for the Round Lake Beach Village Board, he was also the attorney for the Round Lake Area Park District and Hainesville Village Board.

Grayslake High School senior Emily Meyer received the $2,000 scholarship, which was supported by the Ance, Glink, Diamond, Bush, DiCanni and Rolek of Chicago, New Century Real Estate, Ashley Home Store and Avon Township.

Other scholarship recipients were Round Lake High School seniors Theresa Anderson ($1,000, sponsored by Justen's Funeral Home), Kelly Zea (Ace Hardware, $1,000), Corryn Moorman (Rockenbach Chevrolet, $1,000), Nick Leneis (First State Bank of Round Lake, $500), Christine Magallon (Advertiser Network, $500), Maria Vidaca (A Tire County Service, $500), Nicole Waters (Blue Bay Restaurant, $500), Amanda Almodovar (State Farm Insurance-Craig Kressner, $500) and Jorge Alcade (Sammie's, $500).

Grayslake High School recipients were Meyer and Jennifer Downey (Baxter Healthcare, $1,000).

Grant High School also fielded two scholarship winners in Sarah Patterson (Community Trust Credit Union, $1,000) and Brittany Schram (Strang Funeral Chapel and Crematorium, $1,000).

Gerry Goshgarian, a Carmel High School senior, also received a $500 scholarship with the help of Crichton Rentals; Sandra Urbine, of Westlake Academy, received $500 in the name of Round Lake Beach Medical Center; and Amanda Williams, of Antioch High School, received a $500 check with the help of First State Bank of Round Lake.

Zea, Moorman, Leners, Magallon, Meyer, Downey, Patterson, Schram and Goshgarian were in attendance at the chamber's May 26 meeting and, after they were recognized, Chamber President Jill Gross said she hoped to see all of this year's winners back to help raise fund for the 2006 recipients.

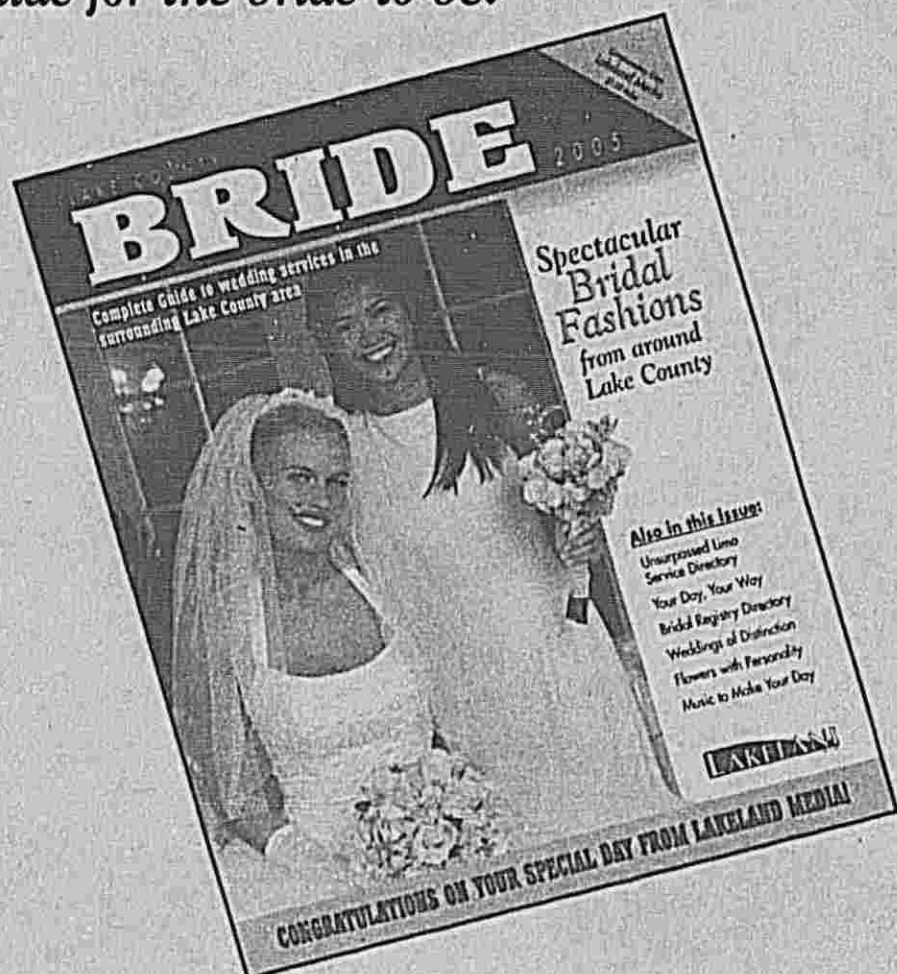

"I know you'll all come back to Round Lake next year and help us eat pancakes so we can get more scholarship money," she said.

Judge McKoski swears in Lake Villa Township board

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

Newly elected members of the Lake Villa Township Board took their oaths of office recently at a special meeting, before Judge Raymond McKoski of the Lake County 19th Circuit Court.

Trustee Glenn McCollum, who has served on the board during the last term and new board members Terry Beadle, Paul Berker and Barbara Stout were all sworn into office, as were Clerk Kathy Renninger, Highway Commissioner James Jorgensen and Supervisor Dan Venturi.

The board voted to accept the resignation of acting Township Assessor, Kenneth Larson, who had been filling a temporary vacancy. He had come out of retirement to serve the township after serving as supervisor of assessment. He is the husband of Mayor Dorothy Larson.

Newly elected Jeffrey A. Lee, of Lindenhurst, was sworn in as Township Assessor. Typically assessors are sworn into office in January but the board acted earlier than usual since Larson resigned and is a resident of Antioch.

Calling all those who have or want a green thumb

June 5 to 11 is National Garden week, according to the Antioch Garden Club. It's getting late, but not too late to plant a garden in your own yard, even if it's just a couple of tomato plants, or a smattering of flowers to add some cheer. Now that Memorial Day has come and gone, local garden shops may have some special prices.

For those who would like some inspiration, circle June 25 on your calendar. That is the day the Garden Club will have their annual garden walk, but more about that in a couple of weeks.

The good news is churches tend to gain membership until they have to enlarge the church building. Such is the case for Christian Life Fellowship Church on 41625 Deep Lake Road, across from Wal-Mart.

Unlike most churches, or any building for that matter, Christian Fellowship is constructing an addition that will go around the church rather than extending it one way or the other.

The groundbreaking ceremony begins at 11:15 a.m. Sunday, following the 10 a.m. service, and the public is invited to help the church celebrate. For more information call Pastor Jeff Brussaly, at 847-395-8572.

Congratulations to Mary Ellen Sheets, CEO and founder of Two Men and a Truck. She won the entrepreneur of the Year Award from the International Franchise Association, the organization that represents franchise organization. Sheets achievement is a milestone because she is the first woman to receive this designation. Way to go!

Congratulations to Heather Kiddoo of Antioch, who was named to the spring dean's list at Southwest Missouri University, Springfield, Mo.

The Rotary Club has honored 23 high school seniors and three college students with awards and scholarships totaling nearly $26,000. Kyle Page was presented with the Tim Osmond Award; Brenda Moechoe received the Homer and Frances LaPlant Award; Abigail Mistic received the Bill Brook Award and Scott Thompson was presented the Vera Thelen Award.

New scholarship recipients include Aurimas Vinckevicius, Sarah Aredia, Eric Swanson, Sara Smith, Catherine Grachek, Gina Florian, Ryan Thamerus, Lauren Foester, Brandie Deran, Megan Robinson, Leslie White, Peter Scheidt, Stephen Worth, Kelsie Hartl, Zachary Mitsuchi, Ashley Fries, Kacie Sheridan and Jose Abarca.

Re-application recipients are Kyle Moncelle, Korin Knutson and Kara Anderson.

Thompson students welcomed at Martin School

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

Children and parents in Cedar Ridge and Northwood Trail subdivisions felt better than they had in a long time since learning children in those neighborhoods would attend Martin School in the fall, rather than Thompson School where they have been comfortable. The changes needed to be made to accommodate district growth and a failed tax referendum in District 41.

To ease some of the stress for the to-be-transferred school children and their parents, they were invited on a field trip to visit Martin School.

Some children cried during the bus ride to their new school, but those tears soon dried up as they pulled in front of Martin School, which looks a lot like Thompson School. What really won them over were the children lined up outside the building holding signs of welcome. At the school entrance, people were holding the doors open and welcoming the children into the building.

Apparently, Martin teacher Mr. Lopez thought of the idea, hoping it would ease the transition.

At last week's board meeting parent Julie Sheehan thanked the board for setting up the field trip.

"The field trip was wonderful. Everyone was nervous and very concerned about moving," Sheehan said. She did have one request of the board, which was echoed by others.

"Let our children stay at Martin when more children move into that school area," Sheehan said. More children moving into the area is just a matter of time.

Summer's here and it's time for 'Dancin' in the Street'

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

The Lake Villa Rescue Squad is gearing up for its street dance fundraiser that begins at 3 p.m. and lasts until midnight on June 11. The event features something for almost everyone. The excitement will take place on Lake Avenue, just north of Grand Avenue and Route 83 in Lake Villa.

Children will be particularly delighted with the Moonwalk, fire truck/train ride, a clown, a magician who creates balloon sculptures, face painting and games. The young fun is scheduled to take place between 3 and 5:30 p.m.

There will be a car show from 4 to 10 p.m., which is open to anyone. First- and second-place awards will be presented.

Musical entertainment begins at 5 p.m. with "The Discords," an a cappella group. The "Blues Monkeys" will provide rock and blues music between 6 and 8 p.m. For those who like their music with an edge, "The Hairbangers, Ball" will offer a '80s hair metal tribute. "Midnight Playback Productions DJ" will take the audience up to midnight with music and a show.

After the food, beverages, dancing and plain old fun, safe transportation will be available for the trip home. A-Cab Service will be on-site to provide transportation. The Lake Villa Rescue Squad also promotes a designated driver program and will provide a wristband for all designated drivers. The wristband will get them free soft drinks.

The event will take place rain or shine and proceeds will benefit the Lake Villa Rescue Squad. For more information or questions, call 847-356-7376.

Dist. 117 Advisory program seems to be right on

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

All signs indicate that the initial year of the Advisory Program begun with freshman at District 117 has been a success at both schools.

Program directors sent out surveys and about one-third were returned. Most parents were satisfied, but most students were not pleased to have only half of a period to eat their lunch.

"The freshmen aren't aware that half-period lunches were followed by a study hall until recently when space became too tight," said Fran Waible, head of the Advisory at Antioch Community High School. Sara English heads up the program at Lakes Community High School.

The advisory groups meet with the same group and the same advisor after lunch on a daily basis, and the program began with this year's freshman. Next year the program will include freshman and sophomores.

The school board felt there was an unmet need for students and sent teachers to study the programs of different schools. They like the advisory program used at New Trier High School, and advisors there are training District 117 advisors.

The number of students who were given write-ups for infractions of rules like being late to class or creating problems in the commons, dropped by half. Overall, grades improved by 2 percent the first semester.

For the most part, parents seemed satisfied but thought there should be better communication. Fran Waible, head of the program at Antioch Community High School, agreed.

"We're advocates for the parents and the children," Waible said. "The advisers' goal was to form a relationship with the students." That happened between the advisor and the group as well as amongst the groups shortly following spring break, she said.

"We want to challenge them to open their minds to the possibilities," Waible said. "We want to show them that what they do now impacts what happens later."

Each high school had about 14 advisors this year and will add advisors for the incoming freshmen.

"The faculty really believes in this program, and the parents can tell something is going on," Waible said. "We learned things from the kids. They need hands-on activities. We quickly got rid of the books."

"Our team-building service projects were fabulous. I was pleased with the kinds of things the kids thought of. After all, Antioch is built on volunteerism."

"We're advocates for the parents and the children," Waible said. "The advisers' goal was to form a relationship with the students."

Fran Waible
ACHS advisor

Some of the projects were hacking buckthorn out of the forest reserve, selling flowers to raise funds and adopting a child from a third-world country.

"They felt so good about what they did," Waible said. "We make sure we're dealing with kids and their needs. They're responding. We keep tabs on what's happening. We've been able to spot some kids with big problems and got the right people involved. We're doing the best we can with a brand new thing."

State Bank of The Lakes awards $8,000 scholarship

State Bank of The Lakes presented Jake Marsh, a senior at Richmond-Burton Community High School, with the first $2,000 installment of an $8,000 scholarship award that will be paid over four years through the Community Bankers Scholarship Program. State Bank of The Lakes is participating in the Community Bankers Scholarship Program to help families offset the cost of post-secondary education as well as demonstrate its commitment to the community.

"We participate in the Community Bankers Scholarship Program because we want to assist young people like Jake achieve their full academic potential so they can make a positive difference in our community," said James B. Kinney, president of State Bank of the Lakes. "By helping these students pursue their dreams, we'll be investing in the development of our future civic and business leaders as well."

Jake is an active student at Richmond-Burton Community High School. He has received the Presidents Award for Educational Excellence and Scholastic Achievement Award for all fours in school, actively participated in sports, making All-Conference for two of his three varsity seasons and finally working on many service projects in his community. He is a member of the National Honor Society. Jake plans on attending Beloit College (Wis.) where he will major in Biology, with a goal of becoming an anesthesiologist.

Beware of Internet ploy

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

Gary Braun of Antioch thought it was strange when he received an e-mail from AOL last week. He opened the official-looking message that asked for confirmation of his account number that he used for an automatic debit on his credit card.

His suspicion really soared when he saw the e-mail also requested his social security number.

According to AOL, they will never ask for your information. If readers receive such e-mail they should not provide any information nor respond. This is one way criminals steal the identity of an unsuspecting person.

As for Braun, he closed the e-mail without responding and called the paper in order to warn others.

Adult Summer Reading Program 2005

Looking for an economical way to explore new territory this summer? Join the 2005 adult summer reading program, "Read Around the World," at Antioch Public Library District. Your choice of getaway is limited only by your imagination. Participation in the adult program is open to anyone 18-118 plus. All you have to do is read or listen to at least six books between June 20 and July 29.

Registration begins June 1. Sign up at the adult reference desk and start exploring this June.

Take a Bite out of a Good Book

This summer teens from sixth-12th grades are exploring the waters of the world as part of this year's Young Adult Summer Reading Program at the Antioch Public Library District. Through a variety of programs and activities, young adults can meet together at their library while enjoying all the great books and other materials the library has to offer.

Sign up at the Adult Reference Desk beginning June 1. The program will run from June 21-July 31. Weekly reading goal is one book per week of 100 pages or more or one recorded book per week. Prizes for successful completion of weekly trivia quizzes as well as weekly reading goals will be awarded! There will be a grand prize drawing at the end of the program for those who complete the program.

For more information on these events, you can also call me at 847-395-0874 Monday noon-9, Tuesday 9-5 and Thursday 5-9.

Adult Programs

June 20-7 p.m.

SUE OS LATIN-JAZZ is a joyful band. Performing primarily Latin-jazz from Afro-Cuban (salsa) and Brazilian (samba and boss nova) traditions, if it makes you dance, they play it. This will be an outside performance at the Williams Park Pavilion (behind the ball field and the pool). Bring your own chair. Reservations are required. Call 847-395-0874.

Teen programs

June 11-1 p.m.

Teen movie matinee, "Phantom of the Opera." Celebrate the beginning of summer and the end of school. Make your own ice cream sundae and settle in to watch the movie. Reservations are required. Call 847-395-0874.

June 15-6:30 p.m.

Duct tape art. Learn how to make your own wallet or bag out of Duct Tape. A variety of Duct Tape colors will be provided. Reservations are required. Call 847-395-0874.

June 30-6:30 p.m.

Bingo/pizza taste-off. Who makes the best pizza in Antioch? Let's play pizza bingo for some fun prizes while tasting and rating pizza from the various Antioch pizzerias. Reservations are required. Call 847-395-0874.

DR. HUNT

have really good teachers, administrators and staff. Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst should be proud of the staff and programs. They're getting good value for the money.

"I've really appreciated the support the communities have given to the schools in the area. They care about education and that's important. It shows you have a healthy community."

As for new Supt. Scott Thompson, "I think it will be a smooth transition, Hunt said. I want to leave things in good shape. Growth in enrollment will be the biggest issue in the next several years. The community will have to decide how to find space to educate our students."

Hunt thinks a lag fee would be a good transition from an impact fee. An impact fee is paid by developers to help a district buy land or build buildings. However, because property taxes are collected a year late, there is no additional money to pay the immediate cost of teaching more children.

"A lag fee could be used for teachers or supplies. We're looking at it in Lake County."

"Education is a great profession but a lot of people don't understand how hard teachers work and how emotionally draining it is."

Lake County's 1st HURRICANE

By Brian Janosch

Eight-year-old Michael Wilson chattered his teeth together as he stood at water's edge on a cool afternoon on May 25. But his chattering teeth were forming an ear-to-ear smile.

Wilson just splashed off of The Vortex, one of 25 new water slides brought to Lake County by Six Flags Great America and their new water park Hurricane Harbor.

"It was really fun and really fast," Wilson said. "Maybe at least five miles per hour."

Wilson guessed about how fast he was shooting around the Vortex's funneled finale, but there was not doubt about the fun he was having at the park's grand opening. He and a couple hundred other invited guests were able to take part in the special preview of the park before the official first day on Saturday, May 28.

The cold water, in conjunction with a cool breeze had Wilson shaking in his suit for the opening, but now that the park is officially open, the only people shaking are other area water parks.

"There's really nothing else like Hurricane Harbor in the Midwest," said Six Flags Spokesperson Michelle Hoffman. "What really sets us apart from anyone in the area is that you get both parks for one price."

For years now, Six Flags opening something new has been the official staple for the start of summer. From the Raging Bull, to Déjà vu, to Superman - every new summer has brought a new roller coaster. This year however, Six Flags had a much bigger initiative. An initiative including more than 2 million gallons of water, more than two miles of water slides and about 600 new employees.

"I think this is going to be a tremendous boost for tourism in the area," said Lake County Visitor's Bureau President Maureen Riedy. "We have a lot of different attractions, but this is really the magnet for the whole county. It's really the icon for the county in terms of drawing tourists."

The park will be attached directly to the existing park with the entrance located in Six Flag's Southwest Territory. Visitors will be greeted by some racing slides where thrill seekers can fly, face first, down the slide on a mat. Also at the entrance to Hurricane Harbor will be Skull Island, the world's largest interactive playground for children with more than 10,000 square feet of activities. The virtual skyscraper of a playground is topped with a 400-pound skull, a 2,600-gallon, dumping bucket and a 50-foot volcano that erupts 80 feet into the air.

Journeying deeper into the park, visitors will cross a bridge over Castaway Creek - a slow-flowing river that wraps around the park. Passing two family slides with giant inner tubes suitable for eight passengers, guests then come face to face with Hurricane Bay. Half a million gallons of water turn from cooling to chaotic when gentle swells become a crashing tide.

All of the attractions accent the 25 water slides ranging from family slides to individual racers.

Hurricane Harbor is open for business and will remain open until September. For more information call 847-249-INFO or visit www.sixflags.com.

Shaw's 'Arms and the Man' proves itself an evergreen romantic comedy

By Tom Witom

Some plays get better with age. A case in point: George Bernard Shaw's 1894 "Arms and the Man," which is now enjoying a sprightly revival by Writers' Theatre. This delightful romantic comedy was the first from Shaw's canon to hit the American stage.

Drawing its inspiration from the Bulgarian cavalry charge against the invading Serbians in 1885, the witty play — evergreen, despite its age — picks up on some serious political themes, including heroism, patriotism, morality and the conventions of war. It also incorporates into the mix a healthy dose of love and a lot of discussion about class struggle.

William Brown has a rock-solid seven-member cast under his assured direction, and he gets the most from each of them. The leads are especially good: the expressive Elizabeth Ledo as Raina, the spirited young daughter of a wealthy Bulgarian family (they like to boast about having the only library in town; at the same time they hang out their wash in plain sight of any who pass by); Brad Eric Johnson as Sergius, the impetuous war hero who is betrothed to Raina; and Timothy Edward Kane as Bluntschli, the Swiss officer who fought on the side of the Serbs and who moves from Raina's infatuated admirer to ardent suitor.

The first scene opens with Raina basking in news of Sergius' success on the battlefield. A tired, frazzled Bluntschli evades pursuing Bulgarian soldiers by climbing a balcony and seeking refuge in Raina's second-floor bedroom. She's oddly taken by him, hiding him under her bed and sating his hunger with cream-filled chocolates, which he confesses to having a greater need for than replacement bullets.

During her conversation with Bluntschli, Raina gets a completely different picture of Sergius' reputed prowess in battle. She's bowled over by Bluntschli and, with her mother (Sarah Gabel) as a confidant, they harbor the soldier overnight until he can safely complete his escape.

Some six months later, the war has ended and Raina is reunited with the flirtatious Sergius, though she discovers he has designs on the family's outgoing maid, Louka (Kimberly Mellen) who has ambitions to rise above her station. No matter that Louka is forsworn to Nicola (Paul Sass), a dedicated servant in the household.

Jonathan Weir, who is married to Gabel in real life, does a good job as Major Petkoff, who commanded the Bulgarian troops and must now sort out the changing relationships under his own roof.

Sets by Brian Bembridge take full advantage of the theater's intimate space: the onion-shaped archway opening onto the bedroom balcony and the Turkish rugs and wood-latticed covered windows in the library scene definitely create a unique sense of place.

Writers' Theatre's lively, well-acted "Arms and the Man" offers a very satisfying night at the theater.

The Ultimate Doo-Wop Show

Star Productions is proud to announce the Ultimate Doo-Wop Show, live at the Genesee Theatre on Saturday, July 9, at 7 p.m. This one night only performance will go on sale to the general public on Saturday, May 21 at noon.

For a special "Scoop the Loop" weekend performance, the Ultimate Doo-Wop Show is sure to be a hit. Nine different groups will hit the stage on July 9 featuring: The Contours (Do You Love Me, First I Look at the Purse); The Skyliners (Since I Don't Have You, Pennies From Heaven, This I Swear); The Spaniels (Goodnight Sweetheart, Baby It's You); Jack Scott (What in the World's Come Over You?, Goodbye Baby, Burning Bridges, Leroy); Kathy Young (A Thousand Stars); The Eldorados (Crazy Little Mama, Bim Bam Boom); The Reflections (Just Like Romeo & Juliet); The Magnificents (Up On A Mountain) and Daddy G & the Church Street Five (A Night with Daddy G).

Tickets for this performance are priced at $35, $55 and $75. The $75 tickets are limited and include a special after show Meet & Greet. Tickets can be purchased at the Genesee Theatre Box Office, all Ticketmaster outlets, charge-by-phone at 312-559-1212 or online at www.ticketmaster.com

Treat Dad to a Barbecue-Style Father's Day Brunch

The Country Inn Restaurant at Lambs Farm will host its annual Father's Day Brunch on Sunday, June 19, 2005. Reservations required. The Country Inn will be serving up a home-style feast in an elaborate buffet including freshly baked rolls, omelettes-to-order, fried chicken, barbecue ribs, and carving stations. Specialty desserts from the Lambs Farm Bakery will complete the spread.

After the meal, families are invited to explore the rest of Lambs Farm and its attractions. Challenge dad to a round of mini-golf. Children will not want to miss the Pet Shop and Farmyard, including petting area, Discovery Center and fuzzy newborn goats, chicks and lambs. Visitors are encouraged to stop by the Thrift Shop and discover its hidden treasures or browse Aunt Mary's Country Store & Bakery to find that special Father's Day treat. With activities to please both Dad and kids, Lambs Farm is sure to be a Father's Day treat for the entire family.

Reservations for the buffet are available between 10:00 AM and 3:00 PM. Outdoor seating available, weather permitting. Cost for the brunch is $18.95 for adults, $9.95 for children 12 and under, and free for children under two. Reservations are available by calling the Country Inn Restaurant at 847-362-5050.

Lambs Farm is a non-profit organization in Libertyville just 35 miles north of Chicago that empowers people with developmental disabilities to lead personally fulfilling lives through a full range of services in vocational employment, residential assistance and social support. For more than 40 years, Lambs Farm has been assisting individuals in creating their own pathways to meaningful experiences at work, home and in the community. For additional information on Lambs Farm, their mission, and the variety of family activities they host, please call 847-362-4636 or visit www.lambsfarm.org.

Pro Rodeo comes to Lake Geneva

WS Enterprises is hosting its First Annual Independence Day Pro Rodeo Challenge on Sunday July 3, 2005 at the Lake Geneva Raceway, 1015 Bloomfield Road, Lake Geneva, Wisconsin. The gates open at 3 p.m., and the rodeo begins promptly at 5 p.m.

Profits from this rodeo will benefit Main Stay Therapeutic Riding Program in Richmond, IL. Main Stay Therapeutic is a non-profit organization that provides therapy on horseback to those with disabilities.

The Independence Day Pro Rodeo Challenge is a PRCA sanctioned rodeo in the Great Lakes Circuit. The Great Lakes Circuit consists of nine states from Ohio to Iowa and Michigan to Kentucky. The Great Lakes is only one of twelve circuits in the country. Cowboys and cowgirls compete in over fifty rodeos to qualify for the Circuit Finals Rodeo held in November 2005 in Louisville, KY. At the Circuit Finals, the top twelve money contestants in each event compete for the opportunity to advance to the Dodge National Finals Rodeo in Pocatello, Idaho. The top two contestants from each event at the Circuit Finals go to Pocatello to represent the Great Lakes Circuit.

Advanced tickets are available from June 3- June 26, Adults $12, Children 10 and Under $6, 5 and Under are Free. Call 815-260-3992 for tickets and information. Tickets are also available at the gate: Adults $14, Children 10 and Under $8, 5 and Under Free.

'All the world's a stage—' 'And all the men and women merely players'

But if we wanna be "players" nowadays, size matters more than the staying power of a Shakespeare.

That's why, for example, we demand bigger and bigger houses. Builders scrimp on bricks and mortar satisfying our need for success measured in square footage. All so we can reside in neighborhoods of grand facades like actors playing roles on fabricated sets...always ready to move on to an even bigger stage.

But aren't we "players" really just pawns in a consumer culture nurtured before that black and white television back in the 50s? Average Joes learned we shouldn't settle for a TV dinner of plain meat and potatoes. Instead, on a steady diet of "new, improved, better, and bigger," we morphed into the insatiable "Hungry Man"—nuking our frozen mega-meal in a huge gourmet kitchen—before collapsing in front of our wide screen, surround sound "home theatre".

For today's "players" it's image over permanence; illusion versus reality—values that now pervade every aspect of society. Too tired from keeping up with the Jones's, we numb ourselves watching "reality" show participants grab their 15 minutes of celebrity in ridiculous, contrived situations. Or, pressed for time, we bypass authentic relationships for a vacuous Internet "date" with "PhattGirl."

Leslie Glazier-Werner

Even news reporting has embraced the mirage of "infotainment." Traditional news outlets are relying more and more on tabloid sensationalism and provocative headlines to break through the white noise created by the recent media explosion. Meanwhile, an increasingly harried audience is evaluating critical events on the basis of talk show monologues.

At the same time corporations are apparently buying the prestige of academics, "renting" their reputations as authors of favorable stories, while influential columnists are accused of selling out to politicians.

Subjects of sensational news stories are commercial opportunities, as well. For example, the Associated Press reports that, "Jennifer's High Tailin' Hot Sauce, a nod to the saga of Atlanta runaway bride Jennifer Witbanks," is selling "briskly."

In light of all this, renting an all-inclusive, "total image package" to weary "players" might very well be the next booming business.

Imagine beating out the "Jones" by simply leasing their lives. There's already "Rent a Wife" or "Rent a Husband" for those undone household chores. Need an admiring crowd? There's "Rent a Body." There's also the tongue-in-cheek "Rent-A-Rat" Internet site offering the perfect baby for "rent" to "impress the neighbors." And interior designers that specialize in "reality enhancement" can even "stage" that leased luxury home with classy rental furniture.

Just think...maybe then we'll actually have the time to get real.

For Peter Gordon, the world is his oyster when it comes to cooking

COOKING BY THE BOOK

With a background as a London-based restaurateur whose cooking career began in Australia, it's no wonder that New Zealander Peter Gordon demonstrates an eclectic approach to his art. He also consults for restaurants in New York and Istanbul.

"Peter Gordon's World Kitchen" (Ten Speed Press, 2005) offers a taste of the various directions he takes in the kitchen. Given Gordon's global style, it's no surprise his recipes know no boundaries but draw upon ingredients that suit his inspiration.

A good example is his Eggplant, Cabbage, Lentils and Polenta with Cheddar Crumble. This is an all-in-one dish that mixes ingredients creatively and results in a delicious meal. (We adapted the recipe by using a larger baking dish than the 8 by 8-inch he suggested, which was far too small.)

Interestingly, Gordon weighs in on whether to salt eggplant or not. He's from the school that says don't bother with this step. "Only in exceptional cases is it now necessary," he notes.

Eggplant, Cabbage, Lentils and Polenta with Cheddar Crumble

Olive oil for basting
1 large eggplant, cut into 1/4-in. slices
1/2 small cabbage (i.e., savoy), shredded
1 tsp. dried oregano
1 cup water
Salt and freshly ground

black pepper
2 1/4 cups cooked lentils or canned lentils
3 1/3 cups vegetable stock or water
1 clove garlic, peeled and crushed
1 tsp. salt

1 1/3 cups instant polenta
3 1/2 oz. (about 1 cup) cheddar, grated (We used slightly more)
1/3 lb. (about 4 to 5 slices) stale bread (i.e., day-old focaccia)

Preheat oven to 400 degrees F. Generously oil (or butter) an 9 x 13-inch lasagna dish. Lightly brush eggplant slices on both sides with a little oil and fry over a high heat until golden and just cooked. Put to one side.

Place cabbage, oregano, water and a little salt and pepper in a deep saucepan and boil 2 minutes. Add lentils (and any other tasty extras you like), mix well and remove from heat.

Bring vegetable stock and garlic to the boil in a saucepan, add 1 teaspoon of salt, then whisk in polenta and cook, stirring, over a low simmer for 1 minute.

Using a wet spoon, spread polenta over base and sides of the oiled dish. Add drained cabbage mixture and sprinkle with 4 tablespoons of cheddar. Lay eggplant on top.

Place bread in a food processor and grind to coarse crumbs. Add remaining cheese and process for a few seconds more. Sprinkle on top of eggplant, drizzle with a little more oil and bake until golden, about 20 minutes. Serve piping hot.

Apple-Blueberry Pie with Strawberry Sauce

Treat loved ones to a delicious slice of this blue-ribbon pie. The apple-berry creation won top prize in the 2004 State Fair Pillsbury Pie Crusts Championship. The dessert is made easy with new refrigerated pie crusts that just unroll into the pan.

5 cups peeled, cored and thinly sliced apples
2 cups fresh or frozen (thawed) blueberries
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
2 1/2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
1 box (15 oz.) Pillsbury refrigerated pie crusts, softened as directed on box
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 egg
1 teaspoon water

Fresh Strawberry Sauce

2 cups fresh strawberries
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon sweet Marsala wine or water
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons water
1/2 cup whipping (heavy) cream

Heat oven to 425°F. In large bowl, stir together apples, blueberries, 1 cup sugar, cinnamon and tapioca; let stand 15 minutes. Make pie crusts as directed on box for Two-Crust pie, using 9-inch glass pie pan.

Spoon apple mixture into crust-lined pan. Dot with butter. Top with second crust; seal edge and flute. Cut slits in several places in top crust. Stir together egg and 1 teaspoon water; brush on top of crust.

Bake 15 minutes. Cover edge of crust with strips of foil; reduce oven temperature to 375°F. Bake an additional 30 minutes or until apples are tender. Cool at least 1 hour before serving.

Fresh Strawberry Sauce directions:

In 1-quart saucepan, crush enough strawberries to make 1/3 cup. Stir in 1/2 cup sugar and the wine (or water). Heat to boiling over medium heat. Dissolve cornstarch in 2 tablespoons water; stir into strawberry mixture. Boil and stir 2 minutes. Remove from heat; let cool to room temperature. Stir in whipping cream. Chop remaining strawberries; stir into cream mixture. Refrigerate. To serve, cut pie into 8 pieces; spoon sauce over each piece. 8 servings.

High Altitude (3,500-6,500 ft.): Increase first bake time to 20 minutes.

Picnic Perfect

Bratwurst and Vidalia Onion Sauce Casserole

The smoky taste of grilled Boar's Head Bratwurst combines with the sweet and sour flavor of Boar's Head Vidalia Onion Sauce in this easy-to-make casserole, which works both as a side dish as well as a sandwich when spooned over crusty French bread. Grill six sausages, slice to bite-sized pieces, place in a heat-proof bowl and mix with one jar of Boar's Head Vidalia Onion sauce. Reheat on the grill, away from direct heat, or in the microwave.

4 to 6 servings

Mendocino Chicken Salad

6 ounces Boar's Head Golden Classic Chicken Breast, or Hickory Smoked Chicken Breast, cubed
1 cup seedless grapes, halved
1/2 cup diced red onion
3 stalks celery, diced
1/4 cup fresh basil leaves, cut into thin strips
1 cup blanched sliced almonds
3/4 cup mayonnaise

In large bowl, combine chicken, grapes, red onion, celery, basil, almonds and mayonnaise. Mix well; chill and serve.

4 servings

Prosciutto and Melon Salad

6 wedges fresh peeled honeydew melon, about 1 1/2 inches thick
6 wedges fresh peeled cantaloupe, about 1 1/2 inches thick
Salt and pepper
12 thin slices of Boar's Head Prosciutto
Extra virgin olive oil, optional
4 to 6 lemon wedges

Season melon with salt and pepper. On serving platter, arrange cantaloupe, melon and prosciutto slices, drizzle with extra virgin olive oil (optional) and garnish with lemon wedges.

4 to 6 servings

Mini Cheesecakes Crust

3/4 cup graham cracker crumbs
2 tablespoons sugar
4 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Filling

8 ounces Boar's Head Cream Cheese
1/4 cup sugar
2 tablespoons sour cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 teaspoons lemon juice
6 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin powder
1 large egg yolk

Garnish: Fresh berries

Preheat oven to 375°F.

Line 24 mini muffin cups with paper liners, or use foil cups with paper liners. Toss crumbs, sugar and butter together. Spoon 1 teaspoon crumb mixture into each paper liner and press down with finger. Place muffin pans, or paper-lined foil cups, on cookie sheet, position on center oven rack and bake until shells are crisp and golden, about 8 minutes. Cool.

Place cream cheese, sugar, sour cream, vanilla and lemon juice in food processor bowl and process until smooth, about 15 seconds, scraping once or twice with rubber spatula to make sure mixture is completely smooth.

Place milk in small saucepan, sprinkle gelatin over it and allow to soften 3 to 4 minutes, then stir with whisk. Heat over medium heat, stirring constantly with whisk about 1 minute, until mixture begins to boil. Remove from heat.

In small bowl, beat egg yolk with whisk until frothy. Add a little milk mixture to warm eggs and prevent scrambling. Add remainder of milk to egg. Heat over medium heat, stirring constantly, just until mixture begins to simmer. Remove from heat and pour through strainer into cream cheese mixture. Process until blended.

Fill each crust-lined cup with filling. Refrigerate until set, about 2 hours. Garnish each with a berry and serve.

Lumberjack shows, Harley parade, music, at Celebrate Kenosha

Rotary International is celebrating its 100th Anniversary this year, and the local Rotary Club of Kenosha and the Rotary Club of Kenosha-West are throwing a free party to celebrate. Everyone's invited on Saturday, June 18 to "Celebrate Kenosha" from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. at HarborPark, 54th Street and Lake Michigan.

The celebration will feature three Lumberjack shows and a Harley-Davidson motorcycle parade. The Lumberjack exhibition shows include climbing, chopping, logrolling, music and more for the entire family to enjoy. Approximately 50 Harley riders will arrive at the celebration at 4:30 p.m. sporting international flags from the countries that once used Kenosha's commercial port. Other entertainment includes a North American T28 airplane flyover, with music by Kenosha Area Pipes and Drums, John Bunic Big Band, Kick'n Kountry and the Pat Crawford Jazz Band. There will also be face-painting and the Titanic House Slide for the kids. International and local Cuisine, as well as liquid refreshments, will be available for purchase.

Celebrate Kenosha coincides with the 100th Anniversary Convention of Rotary International, which begins in Chicago that same weekend. Many international visitors attending the convention are expected to arrive early to attend Kenosha's event. In its first century of existence, Rotary has grown from a group of four Chicago professionals into a worldwide service organization with more than one million members.

For more information about Celebrate Kenosha visit or call 262-612-1057. ## Annual 'Honor the Eagle' Pow Wow

Starved Rock Lodge and Midwest Soaring Foundation will co-sponsor its First Annual Honor the Eagle Pow Wow on July 16 (11 a.m. to 5 p.m.) and 17 (11 a.m. to 5 p.m.) and it will be held at Starved Rock State Park near the boat ramp.

Throughout the weekend you can hear the sound of Native American drumming, see dancers in regalia (native clothing) and shop our many vendors. Items such as turquoise baskets, drums, blankets, hides and moccasins as well as native food, can be found throughout the many vendors displaying their unique merchandise.

The Grand Entry of dancers will be held at 1:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. on Saturday and 1 p.m. on Sunday. Mani, special dances will be held throughout the day. Special Attractions include Al Jever playing native flute on Saturday at 5 p.m. and S.O.A.R. (Save Our American Raptors) who will bring some of their rehabbed birds of prey, including their American Bald Eagle, "Deshka". Cultural demonstrations, including storytelling, quilting, sweetgrass braiding, beading and a dreamcatcher demonstration will be held at different times throughout the two day event.

A popular area is the Kidz Korner, which hosts crafts, games and educational facts for both children and adults alike.

Admission to this event is $5 each day for adults and $4 each day for Seniors (60+) and for children 6-12. A portion of the admission fee to this event, goes to fund Midwest Soaring Foundations many programs and projects. This event is open to everyone. As with all Soaring events, this event is alcohol and drug free. For more information on this event call 773-585-1744 or 1-800-868-ROCK. ### opening this week

Lords of Dogtown: In the 1970s, a group of teenage surfers from a tough neighborhood known as "Dogtown" in Venice, California pioneered a revolutionary new style of skateboarding. Riding the waves at the Pacific Ocean Park pier, the Z-Boys, known for their aggressive style and hard street attitude, combined the death-defying moves of surfing with the art of skateboarding and became overnight sensations and local legends. With empty pools as their canvas, the Z-Boys paved the way to what is now referred to as "extreme sports." But all of this fame would take its toll on the friendships that they thought would last a lifetime as the sport that started out as an afternoon hobby turned into big business. Starring Emile Hirsch, Victor Rasuk, Heath Ledger and John Robinson. (PG-13)

Sisterhood of the Traveling Pants: A drama based on Ann Brashares' best-selling novel about a special summer in the lives of four lifelong friends who are separated for the first time. On a shopping trip, the young women find a pair of thrift-shop jeans that fit each of them perfectly and they decide to use these pants as a way of keeping in touch over the months ahead. Each one wears the jeans for a week to see what luck they bring her before sending them on to the next. Though miles apart, the four friends still experience life, love and loss together in a summer they'll never forget. (PG)

Everybody loves a winner

Boxer Jim Braddock (Russell Crowe) earned the nickname "Cinderella Man" because of his fairytale rise from a poor, hometown New York fighter, struggling to feed his family and keep the heat on in his house, to the heavyweight boxing champion of the world. From his first fight in 1926 until late 1928, things were good for Jim, both at home and in the ring. He was happily married to Mae (Renee Zellweger), who always backed him up even though she did not attend his fights. They had three great kids that they would do anything for. Jim had a decent win/lose record going into 1928. The fight game was okay because the money was decent.

Braddock's weakness was an injury prone right hand and a weak left. He was banned from boxing for fighting injured too often (trying to pay his bills). The Great Depression closed in on nearly everyone. As fate (and some would say bad luck) would have it, Braddock became a day laborer on the docks. With a bum right hand Braddock developed his left hand through the repetitive hard work.

Max Baer (Craig Bierko) was an outsized, over-the-top fighter whose ego made Muhammad Ali's personality look like a shrinking violet.

Braddock was a 10-1 underdog when he beat Max Baer in 1935. He won the heavyweight championship in a thrilling 15 round decision. Two years later Joe Louis knocked Braddock out even though he floored Joe early in the fight.

Russell Crowe carries a self-confident, quiet strength and pride to his role as the man who gives his all to his family and his profession as a boxer. Renee Zellweger's Mae is the soft-spoken, shy-eyed type, unless you stir her ire. Paul Giamatti turns in yet another Academy Award performance as Jim's trainer and corner man.

With a good story, three exceptional actors, and though you know the outcome of the fight, there is plenty of drama. We probably would have liked the film better if it had more of the grit of "Raging Bull." The boxing sequences were believable, well choreographed, with the right amount of blood letting. Some of "home-front" scenes, however, particularly with Zellweger, were a bit on the "soft focus" side. The slick production of the too-clean, poor living areas and placing Zellweger in a "dancer's" spotlight outside her door, did not convey the "Grapes of Wrath" depression reality that so many other scenes achieved.

Also some good footage was probably left on the cutting floor involving a story that was only partially played out with Mike (Paddy Considine of "In America" and "My Summer of Love"). A neighbor of Jim's and a fellow dock worker, it appears that Mike was also a union organizer during the Depression. Driven out a job, Mike moved to a Central Park we've never seen before—a tent-city, with cardboard lean-tos. During the Great Depression, these so called "Hoovervilles" (named after President Hoover who was blamed for creating the Depression) sprung up throughout the country because many families lost their homes since they could not pay their mortgages. If we had a better understanding of the desperation behind Mike and his wife Sara (Rosemarie DeWitt), the darker side of the movie would have come together more completely.

But with the running time of almost 2 1/2 hours, the film was about as long as it was allowed to be. The DVD version may add footage back in and create a film that is better than you see in the theaters because of the attempt of studios to keep films at about two hours. That's Hollywood for you!

Film Festival weekend of June 9-12 in Saugatuck, Michigan

By Pam & George Singleton

Last year's Waterfront Film Festival featured many films that were hits with film lovers and popular with critics. Most notable was the documentary Oscar winner, "Born Into Brothels." Other worthy films that found appeal with national audiences were "The Story of the Weeping Camel," "Saved," "Napoleon Dynamite," "Open Water," and "Harold & Kumar Go to White Castle." All are somewhat under the radar, as they did not get the $30 million Hollywood marketing budgets.

The festival this year, set in the beautiful, art loving town of Saugatuck, Michigan, promises to be just as good if not better. One of the featured films is "Me and You and Everyone We Know," a poetic and penetrating observation of how people struggle to connect with one another in an isolating and contemporary world. Christine Jespersen is a lonely artist and "Eldercab" driver who uses her fantastical, artistic visions to draw her aspirations and objects of desire closer to her. Richard Swersey (John Hawkes), a newly single shoe salesman and father of two boys, is prepared for amazing things to happen. But when he meets the captivating Christine, he panics. Life is not so oblique for Richard's sons, seven-year-old Robby, who is having a risqué Internet romance with a stranger, and his fourteen-year-old brother Peter, who becomes the guinea pig for neighborhood girls—practicing for their future of romance and marriage.

In this film about the modern world, the mundane is transcendent and everyday people become radiant characters who speak their innermost thoughts, act on secret impulses, and experience truthful human moments that at times approach the surreal.

"Murderball" is a film about quadriplegics who play full-contact rugby in Mad Max-style wheelchairs. They overcome improbable obstacles to compete in the Paralympic Games in Athens, Greece.

Part of the fun in attending a film festival is to learn interesting stories and be entertained with movies that don't have the benefit of marketing hype. The fact that you have not heard of the film title should not discourage you from attending. The selection committee puts forth a lot of effort to ensure that you will be pleased with what you see. All you need do is read a capsule preview of the film to determine if it's something that interests you.

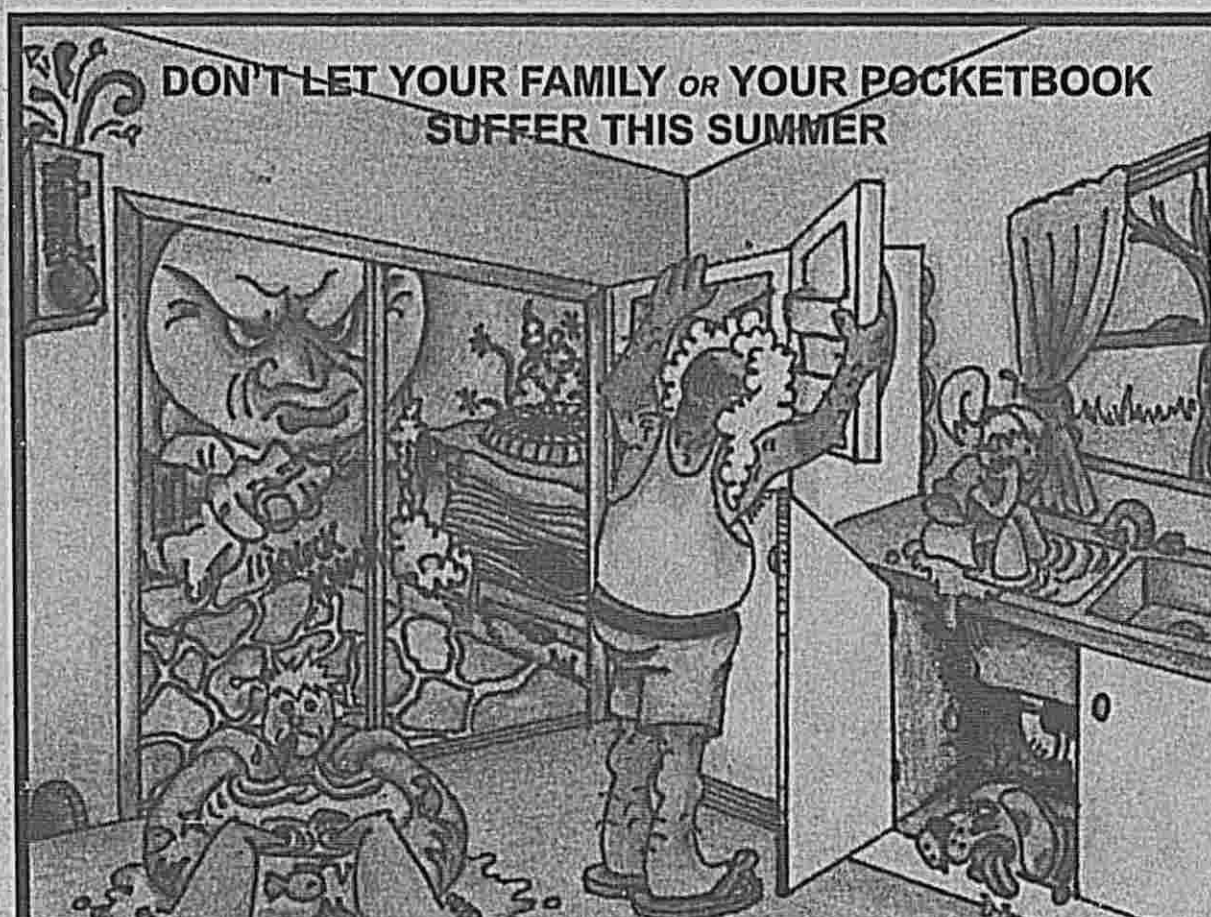

Known as "Michigan's Art Coast," Saugatuck is unique in its combination of culture and summer fun! Whether your interests include cruising the many art galleries in the Saugatuck/Douglas area, or sailing along the coast of Lake Michigan's Eastern Shore, sunbathing, golf, fishing or dining out at premiere restaurants, all tastes can be indulged. From funky to eclectic, Saugatuck's attractions will make your stay unforgettable.

The venues where the films are shown are indeed eclectic, including an outdoor concert and screening (both are free on June 9th). Regular venues are at the Yacht Services Club, Center for the Arts, the High School and American Legion.

For accommodations, you can contact the visitors bureau at 269-857-1701 or visit "The Travel for Less" link at our web site. From Lake County, the drive is about 3.5 hours. Saugatuck is literally right across Lake Michigan from Chicago. Most of us will go by car but for some of the boaters in the Chain of Lakes, they can go across the water.

There are various ticket options, such as the $8 per admission price and the Super Pass for $150 that provides admissions to all films and seminars. The deluxe "FastPass" at $250 is good for all films, all seminars, no standing in lines, the Saturday Night party, and guaranteed seating up to five minutes prior to the film's showing.

For more information, visit its web site at www.waterfrontfilm.org.

CLC bands selected for festival in Italy

The Monday Night Jazz Ensemble and the Wind Ensemble from College of Lake County will travel to Italy in June to participate in an international band festival. The CLC ensembles were the only American groups chosen to play in the festival, which has occurred every two years in Besana, Italy, since 1984. Fifty-one band members and 13 guests will represent CLC during the festival, held June 24 to July 3. The host city is a town of 12,000 people located 35 kilometers north of Milan.

Dr. Michael Flack, director of the two groups, first participated in the festival in 1989 as a student in the Rolling Meadows High School band, and he thought that the festival would be a great opportunity for the CLC band program. This is the first time that a CLC band has traveled internationally, according to Flack.

The Wind Ensemble and Monday Night Jazz Ensemble will perform concerts in the towns of Besana Brianza, Medolago and Renate. The group will go on day trips to Lake Como, Milan and Venice. About 60,000 people turn out to listen to the various festival concerts throughout the week.

"This is not a competition. This festival is totally in the spirit of making music with people from all over the world," Flack said. "There are concerts and parades through the town. But one of the highlights is when hundreds of musicians from all the bands come together to play the 'Hymn of all Nations.' Interacting with musicians from all over the world and learning about other cultures will be a fantastic benefit for our band members."

The CLC Foundation approved a grant of $25,000 to help fund the trip, and several raffles were held to raise funds.

In addition to regular members of the Monday Night Jazz Ensemble and Wind Ensemble, several special guests will be going on the trip. These include several members of the Waukegan Symphony Orchestra; Frank Catalano, a tenor saxophone player from Chicago; Rich Corpolongo, a professional saxophone player from Chicago; and Larry McWilliams, a professional trumpet player and professor at Ball State University.

Match the owner with their pet

ANSWERS

A-2 (Linda Hempling, of Hawthorn Woods and Max), B-7 (Jessica Ingles, of Round Lake and Duce), C-1 (Rebecca Hayne, of Vernon Hills and Einstein), D-5 (Wendy Peters, of Grayslake and Ceasar), E-4 (Jim Eker, of Grayslake and Atlas), F-6 (Emily Loeckner, of Mundelein and Cleo).

Get your pet ready for summer

Summer has blasted its hot, sticky breath on us once again this year. No surprise—we are in the Midwest. But some precautions must be taken to insure your pet's safety this time of year. Dogs should not be outside during the day for any length of time (out and in to go potty). Walks should be reserved for early morning or later evening. A backpack with water and a bowl is important and you should regularly offer water to your pup during your excursion. Many dogs love to romp in their fenced yards. Consider putting a baby pool filled with water out there for their pleasure. It's a great way for them to cool off. Be sure to change the water regularly.

Never, ever leave your dog in the car when it's over 65-70 degrees outside. The car acts as an oven and could quickly cause your dog to dehydrate, get heat stroke and even die. If you should see a dog left in a car, regardless of whether the window is cracked open, call the police. Wait there for them and insist that they open the door and get the dog out. They are usually very helpful and will stick around until the owner comes back.

Cats should not be let outside at all but those of you that insist on doing so regardless of the dangers must consider the hot weather. Cats should be provided ample water and shade and allowed inside whenever they wish. Ideally keeping them inside during the hot weather would be best.

Even though most birds are tropical they have been acclimated to a regulated indoor cool temperature so they too can overheat in the summer if put outside without the proper precautions. Birds left outside in their cage to bask in the sun should be under partial shade, provided fresh water and checked on regularly. They can be misted with cool water from a bottle.

A Sad Story

A couple months ago a friend of mine that works at a local pet store told me a very sad story. A man came in carrying a box. He said he had a guinea pig he could no longer keep. He asked if she would take it. My friend opened the box to take a look at the little guy and found him dead inside. The man had left the guinea pig in the box, without large holes for ventilation, in his hot car and it had died from the heat. The man was horrified, my friend sickened. So no matter the kind of animal the heat can be dangerous.

And Remember

Please have your pet spayed or neutered. The overpopulation of pets is astounding and heartbreaking. Shelters all over the country have no choice but kill thousands of perfectly healthy dogs and cats. Frown upon people breeding dogs or cats because they can make a buck, think of the sad faces of animals in shelters. Lastly, speak about it and share the information in an educational, loving way that will promote change.

Benefit event at Woodstock Opera House

Benefit Event at Woodstock Opera House On Thursday, June 23, the Assisi Animal Foundation holds its third annual wine tasting and art auction at the Woodstock Opera House. The evening begins at 6 p.m. until 9 p.m. featuring samplings of numerous wines, delicious snacks and bidding on a variety of art. Silent auction choices run from prints and oils to some primitives, and three dimensional selections. Proceeds of the evening benefit the Assisi Animal Foundation, a no kill organization that shelters cats and dogs until they find new adoptive homes, and serves the community with its animal assisted therapy programs, visiting numerous area retirement and convalescent facilities, as well as special programs for children and adults with disabilities.

Tickets for the evening are $25 and available by reservation with the Assisi Animal Foundation which can be reached at 815-455-9411.

Actor's Craft On-Camera Acting Technique

Achieve the external simplicity and internal complexity necessary for the revealing eye of the camera.

Whether you are an actor in between shows or someone looking for a creative activity on a Friday night, the Actor's Playground is for you. Get up on your feet with theater games and improv. Practically speaking, this can help you become more at ease and confident in front of other people, but we would rather you just think about it as a great way to make friends and have fun in downtown Kenosha.

Who: Adults over 18 years old

Where: Actor's Craft Studio, 5126 Sixth Avenue, Kenosha, WI. Call 262/705-0194 or email actorscraft@aol.com for information.

When: The first two Fridays of every month between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

How Much: $10 per person

Make your child a Lake County historian

Sign up your little ones entering grades 1 - 2 to become Hip High Historians this summer with a day camp at the Lake County Discovery Museum near Wauconda. Kids will learn Lake County history with "Mastodon Adventure Hunt" offered June 13, "Native American Stories and Crafts" offered June 14, "Native American Tools" offered June 15, "French Fur Traders" offered June 16 and "Pioneer Homesteads and Games" offered June 17. Sign up your kids for one day or for the full week.

Drive away a car in raffle to benefit Lambs Farm

Lambs Farm is raffling off a 2005 Toyota Prius with a goal of raising as much as $75,000. Proceeds from ticket sales will benefit programs at Lambs Farm for adults with developmental disabilities.

The drawing will be held at the 21st Annual Lambs Farm Golf Day on July 12 at Thunderhawk Golf Club in Beach Park.

The Toyota Prius is a gasoline/electric hybrid that offers fuel efficiency, performance and style. With its unique Hybrid Synergy technology, the Prius boasts gas mileage of 50-60 miles per gallon. The innovative design of the Prius makes it an environmentally friendly and economical alternative to conventional cars.

Raffle tickets are $50 each or 5 for $200. Only 1,500 tickets will be sold. More information is available on our website at www.lambsfarm.org just click on the Toyota Prius. Call 847-362-4636 to order tickets via phone.

HOROSCOPE

ARIES

Mar 21/Apr 20

While you would like to help out a loved one who gets into trouble late in the week, don't. If you're asked, give your opinion, but otherwise stay out of the situation.

LIBRA

Sep 23/Oct 23

You have a lot to juggle this week, Libra. In addition, people are watching you closely to make sure you can handle it. Don't let the pressure be a setback.

TAURUS

Apr 21/May 21

Don't make any hasty financial decisions this week, Taurus. Look at the pluses and minuses first. A close friend reveals true feelings to you and you are taken aback.

SCORPIO

Oct 24/Nov 22

A loved one says something hurtful on Tuesday. Instead of keeping your feelings to yourself, share them with this person. It just may help strengthen your relationship.

GEMINI

May 22/June 21

Don't be shy when you meet an interesting person on Thursday, Gemini. Just be yourself and you're sure to make a good impression that will last for a while.

SAGITTARIUS

Nov 23/Dec 21

Your sense of humor wins you a new friend early in the week. Get to know him or her better in the days to come. You two are certain to make a good team.

CANCER

June 22/July 22

Don't back down when an acquaintance challenges you late in the week. You know that you can win this disagreement as long as you stay focused, Cancer.

CAPRICORN

Dec 22/Jan 20

Don't let a business associate sway your opinion on an important matter, Capricorn. You know where you stand and you're remaining firm, even though the pressure is great.

LEO

July 23/Aug 23

That special someone has a difficult time early in the week and takes his or her frustrations out on you. Instead of getting upset, try to be understanding of this person.

AQUARIUS

Jan 21/Feb 18

You have your eyes set on a goal this week, Aquarius. Don't let anyone stop you from reaching it, especially naysayers. A loved one turns to you for romantic advice.

VIRGO

Aug 24/Sep 22

A loved one turns to you with a problem over the weekend. Listen to what he or she has to say, and give your honest opinion on the matter. It may not be received well.

PISCES

Feb 19/Mar 20

Your temper erupts when a loved one makes a mistake that gets you into trouble. Try to stay calm — it wasn't done intentionally.

Fashion Focus

Swimsuits that fit your style, budget and body

Slipping on a bikini and finding coordinating accessories may be a little less intimidating this season; there are many great options to help you look your best. Trendsetting Swimwear: If you love to stay on top of the latest trends, refresh your closet with this season's hottest looks, inspired by natural elements, global glamour and exotic accents. Select an embellished string bikini or a gorgeous bandini skirt to add glam to beach wear. For added coverage, georgette tunics and light cotton embroidery cover-ups are a way to still look hot in the sun.

Put Your Best Body Forward: Whether you want a tighter tummy, larger bust or smaller bottom, there's swimwear designed especially for your needs. Look for a suit with a high Lycra content such as Newport News' Shape FX featuring power-mesh lining to minimize trouble spots. The catalog's B.Y.O.B. (Build Your Own Bikini) system is another great solution, letting you mix and match separates to find the most flattering and fashionable fit. B.Y.O.B. pieces come in an array of colors and styles.

Jet Set in Style: Planning a trip? Pack light with minimal items that have maximum versatility. Spiegel

Catalog can be a great resource for travel essentials that can take you from the beach to beyond. Go from day to dusk by pairing swimsuits with coordinating casual wear and accessories that you can mix-and-match for several looks. For example, linen cargo pants you can slip over your swim bottoms or a canvas tote that doubles as your travel tote and beach bag. For post-pool party cover-up, throw on a packable palazzo shirt dress.

For catalog information visit Newport-news.com or Spiegel.com Web sites or call Newport News at 1-800-688-2830 and Spiegel at 1-800-345-4500.

You can mix and match swimwear separates for the look that's right for you.

Having It Made In This Season's Shades

Kate Spade's ode to Jackie O.

Gucci plays the name game.

Valentino offers tasteful bling.

Giorgio Armani aviators soar with style

Marc Jacobs packs a tropical punch.

Have your eye on a new look? This season's most scintillating shades offer a new view on sunglass styles. The top six sizzling looks of the season, according to Safilo Group, one of the world's leading designer sunglass manufacturers, include:

1. Aviator Redux-Giorgio Armani and Dior offer chic, feminine aviator looks while Diesel and Polo Sport offer more masculine aviator options.

2. Cool Jewels-Dior offers whimsical Swarovski crystal hearts while Valentino and Boucheron offer sophisticated crystal encrusted creations.

3. Hollywood Style-Channel old Hollywood glamour with retro Jackie O inspired designs in round and rectangular shapes. Ralph Lauren, Kate Spade, Bottega Veneta and MaxMara offer chic selections.

4. Logo Logic-Gucci plays the name game well with its vintage logo as a unique temple treatment.

5. Tropical Punch-Fruit colors pack a punch this season. Find them in Marc Jacobs, Yves Saint Laurent, Stella McCartney, J Lo by Jennifer Lopez and Liz Claiborne styles.

6. Shades of Serenity-Emporio Armani and Burberry offer beautiful spa shades ranging from baby blue to aqua.

All featured styles are available at better optical and department stores as well as sunglass specialty retailers such as Solstice Sunglass Boutiques (866-246-9043 or www.solsticestores.com).

Ralph Lauren shades offer blue hues.

Area Dems, GOPs, clash over new state budget

By Nicholas Alajakis
Staff Reporter

A final-hour, $55 billion state budget passed Tuesday has local politicians at odds over who really benefited from the deal.

Republicans across the state have said they are unhappy with the way the majority Democrats dominated budget talks and passed a budget in both the House and Senate. And it's no different in Lake County, said State Senator William Peterson (R-Long Grove).

"The budget heavily favors Chicago," Peterson said. "I thought that (suburbanites) actually lost."

Peterson's opinion comes from the fact that more than $2 billion was taken from pensions on teachers located outside of Chicago to help pay for the budget. Additionally, the Chicago Transit Authority and many other Chicago-based organizations received more funds, Peterson said.

"It's a total rip-off of the suburbs," Peterson said. "It happens when you have the Speaker of House, President of the Senate and Governor (from Chicago)... They cut funding from (The University of Illinois)... the flagship of the state. And increased the funding at Chicago State University."

Local Democrats viewed the budget differently. While recognizing that Peterson: Budget heavily favors Chicago Dems.

Ryg: Education benefits will be state-wide.

Link: Only GOPs got fair advance look at budget.

Democrats did have an advantage when looking at the budget, State Kathy Ryg (D-Vernon Hills) said she thought the suburbs did OK - especially in education.

Education funding was improved by more than $300 million, an increase of 5 percent.

Those types of increases help people across the state, Ryg said.

Among the projects included in the education funding was money to move forward the University Center at the College of Lake County and money to assist with mandated education items such as special education and transportation.

Many school districts previously struggled to pay those mandated items without state assistance, Ryg said.

State Sen. Terry Link (D-Waukegan) also applauded the educational increase in the budget.

Link also attempted to dismiss the notion that Democrats in the House and Senate attempted to pass the budget without consulting Republicans.

"(The Republicans) knew 98 percent of that was going in there," Link said. "I remember when I was in the minority when we would get the whole budget at a quarter to midnight... that was different."

Peterson said many republicans still felt they did not have enough time to review the budget.

CLC re-opens search for new president

By Kyle Schmitt
Staff Reporter

After CLC trustees broke off negotiations with their top candidate, College of Lake County officials are going back to the drawing board to find a suitable president.

A new search committee has been instituted, and would meet later this month to begin recruiting and interviewing candidates. Their efforts continue a search for a successor to university president Gretchen J. Naff, who retires June 30.

As that process continues, CLC officials announced that a familiar face will be taking on presidential duties for the next several months. Former college executive vice president Dr. Russell O. Peterson would serve as interim president for a minimum of four months beginning July 1.

His familiarity with CLC officials and academic programs made Peterson an ideal choice for office, said board chairman William M. Griffin. Peterson began working for CLC as a part-time English instructor in 1975, and retired last June after serving in numerous administrative positions.

Appointed by the board, Peterson would likely work toward moving CLC in the direction Naff has recently taken the college,

Griffin said. "Russ has all the characteristics and traits we were looking for in an interim, and I'm very pleased he accepted the position," he said.

Several new members would serve on the 20-person presidential search committee, Griffin said, including board of trustees members Robert Anderson and Philip Carrigan.

He believed that the board would ask to see four or five candidates in-person, and would choose and place into office a new president within four to five months.

Board of Trustees members have appointed the Pauly Group of Springfield to conduct the re-opened search for a new college president. Search committee members began the original process during Fall 2004, and started their new search after withdrawing an offer from a candidate tapped to assume the presidency earlier this year.

Due to monetary and other issues, board members decided they could not continue to negotiate with the candidate, Griffin said. Three other candidates with college presidency experience had been presented to the board, but Griffin said that none fit the university's needs at this time.

Naff: In her last month as CLC president

Peterson: Will take post for at least 4 months.

Impact fee ordinance advances

Formula a part of county's Unified Development Ordinance

By Steve Peterson
Staff Reporter

Lake County Board members may soon consider a revised ordinance to the way school impact fees are collected.

A committee of school districts, county board members and area real estate agents has been examining the issue for months. Their recommendations may be coming forward to the County Board as early as June 10. The formula would be part of the county's Unified Development Ordinance (UDO).

"This establishes a process by which the school districts may enter into private agreements with the developer. It waives any liability to the county, and applies to building in unincorporated lands. The money collected by the schools would go into an escrow account. The developer likes it because they can see that the money going to schools on a line item," said Bonnie Thomson Carter, Lake County Board member (R-Ingleside).

The formula has been in the discussion stage for a year, Carter said.

School districts' benefits include knowing just exactly how much a development will impact them, Carter said. Big Hollow Elementary, Grant High School, Wauconda District 118, Grayslake Elementary District 46 and Grayslake High, Woodland Elementary, Warren Township High School and other growth-oriented districts were among those represented.

Carter said a few years ago the Lake County State's Attorney said that this formula could not be justified, but issued a new opinion.

Sex offender caught again

The Lake County Sheriff's Office has arrested a Sycamore man for the second time in seven years for a similar offense.

Sheriff's investigators have charged Douglas I. Scott, 41, of 328 High Street in Sycamore, with four counts of Indecent Solicitation of a Child, a Class 3 felony and three counts of Distribution of Harmful Material, a Class A misdemeanor.

The investigation began approximately two months ago when a sheriff's undercover investigator, posing as a 15-year-old boy, met Scott in an Internet chat room.

Online conversations with Scott almost immediately turned to the subject of sex.

Though many discussions with Scott took place over the last two months, arrangements to meet with Scott were made this week.

The investigator agreed to meet with

Scott in an apartment complex parking lot in the Gages Lake area.

At approximately 11:30 a.m., Scott arrived at the arranged location intending to meet a 15-year-old boy for the purposes of engaging in sex, officials said.

Scott was identified and taken into custody by sheriff's investigators.

The distribution of harmful material charges stem from pornographic images of young males that were sent to the investigator via e-mail by Scott.

Following Scott's arrest, investigators executed search warrants on his home and the home of his parents, both in Sycamore. A computer and related equipment were recovered and are currently being held for further forensic investigation.

In 1998, the same sheriff's investigator arrested Scott for virtually the same offense. However, Internet laws were not yet in place then so Scott was charged with one count of attempted predatorial criminal sexual assault. During that investigation, this investigator was posing as a 12-year-old boy who agreed to meet Scott at a restaurant in Waukegan for the purposes of engaging in sex.

Scott was brought before Judge Valerie Boettel-Ceckowski in Waukegan who set his bond at $500,000. Scott was subsequently remanded to the custody of the sheriff pending posting of bond.

Vanderventer hosting her 10th golf event

Mary Ellen Vanderventer, Lake County Recorder of Deeds, will host her 10th-annual golf outing fund-raiser on June 8 at Orchard Hills Golf course in Waukegan.

"Sold out every year, our golf outing has become the 'Kick-off' for summer fun. I'm delighted that people look forward to this event. I can't believe it's been 10 years already," Said Vanderventer.

Hosted by State Sen. Terry Link and Attorney J. Ted Kuderko, individual entries at $90 include golf, cart, lunch, prizes and hors d'oeuvres after golf. Foursomes can be reserved for $360. Golfers will play in a scramble format.

The event will happen rain or shine. For details, call Don Vanderventer at 847-249-4404.

New funding plan cockeyed scheme

Illinois lawmakers gave it the old college try, but in the end a school funding reform proposal fell flat not because legislators are against funding education, but because the plan was so cockeyed. Billed as a convenient "tax swap" by cutting property taxes while raising income taxes, the proposition to help financially-strapped schools during serious debate came to be seen as a huge tax increase for the typical taxpayer. Not exactly a neat package to take to citizens at re-election time.

Lake County legislators stayed as far away from the measure as possible despite a clamor of support from a small group of parents upset by program cuts in some school districts due to a drop in education income. Two bus loads of Grayslake residents went to Springfield to attend a rally for the bill.

State Rep. Bob Churchill (R-Grayslake) called the bill for what it was, a product of the Chicago teachers union. Leaders of both political parties were happy to let an obscure South Side senator technically elected as an independent sponsor the bill.

Go figure. The so-called reform plan would raise individual income taxes from three to five percent. For far too many persons, particularly those in better-off suburban areas, a small reduction in real estate tax would be more than offset by higher income taxes. State Sen. Terry Link (D-Waukegan) found fault with figures put out by boosters.

Lost in the rhetoric generated over the bill and a companion bill was the negative reaction of voters toward future individual district tax referenda if the swap would have passed. How could a local school get support for a tax rate hike from people already paying to help education by paying higher income taxes? No way. Passage of the tax swap scheme would have been the death knell for local tax referenda.

What happened to Bean the Democrat?

Congresswoman Melissa Bean has now cast enough votes to begin to give us a fairly clear picture of what kind of representation we now have in Washington. Focusing on five of these votes, I ask 8th District Democrats—Is this what you thought you were getting when you worked so hard to replace Phil Crane?

First, Bean voted with the Republicans for passage of the REAL ID Act, with its harsh provisions against immigrants and refugees. This legislation, disguised in the cloak of homeland security, is really little more than a backwards attempt to address the problem of illegal immigration—by squeezing the hardworking immigrants already here, instead of fixing the broken borders that are the real problem. Meanwhile, it takes us all one step closer to a police state mentality, complete with national ID card.

Next, she voted with the Republicans again for a permanent repeal of the estate tax, one of the most regressive acts of our lifetime. This is not about protecting the middle class from rising bracket creep. Congress has repeatedly fixed that problem by raising upper limits on exemptions, and could easily continue to do so. We are talking here about the complete elimination of all taxes on the fortunes of the super-rich. This may well have a disastrous impact on charitable contributions by our wealthiest citizens, at the same time that government cuts back on help for the poor, the sick, and the elderly.

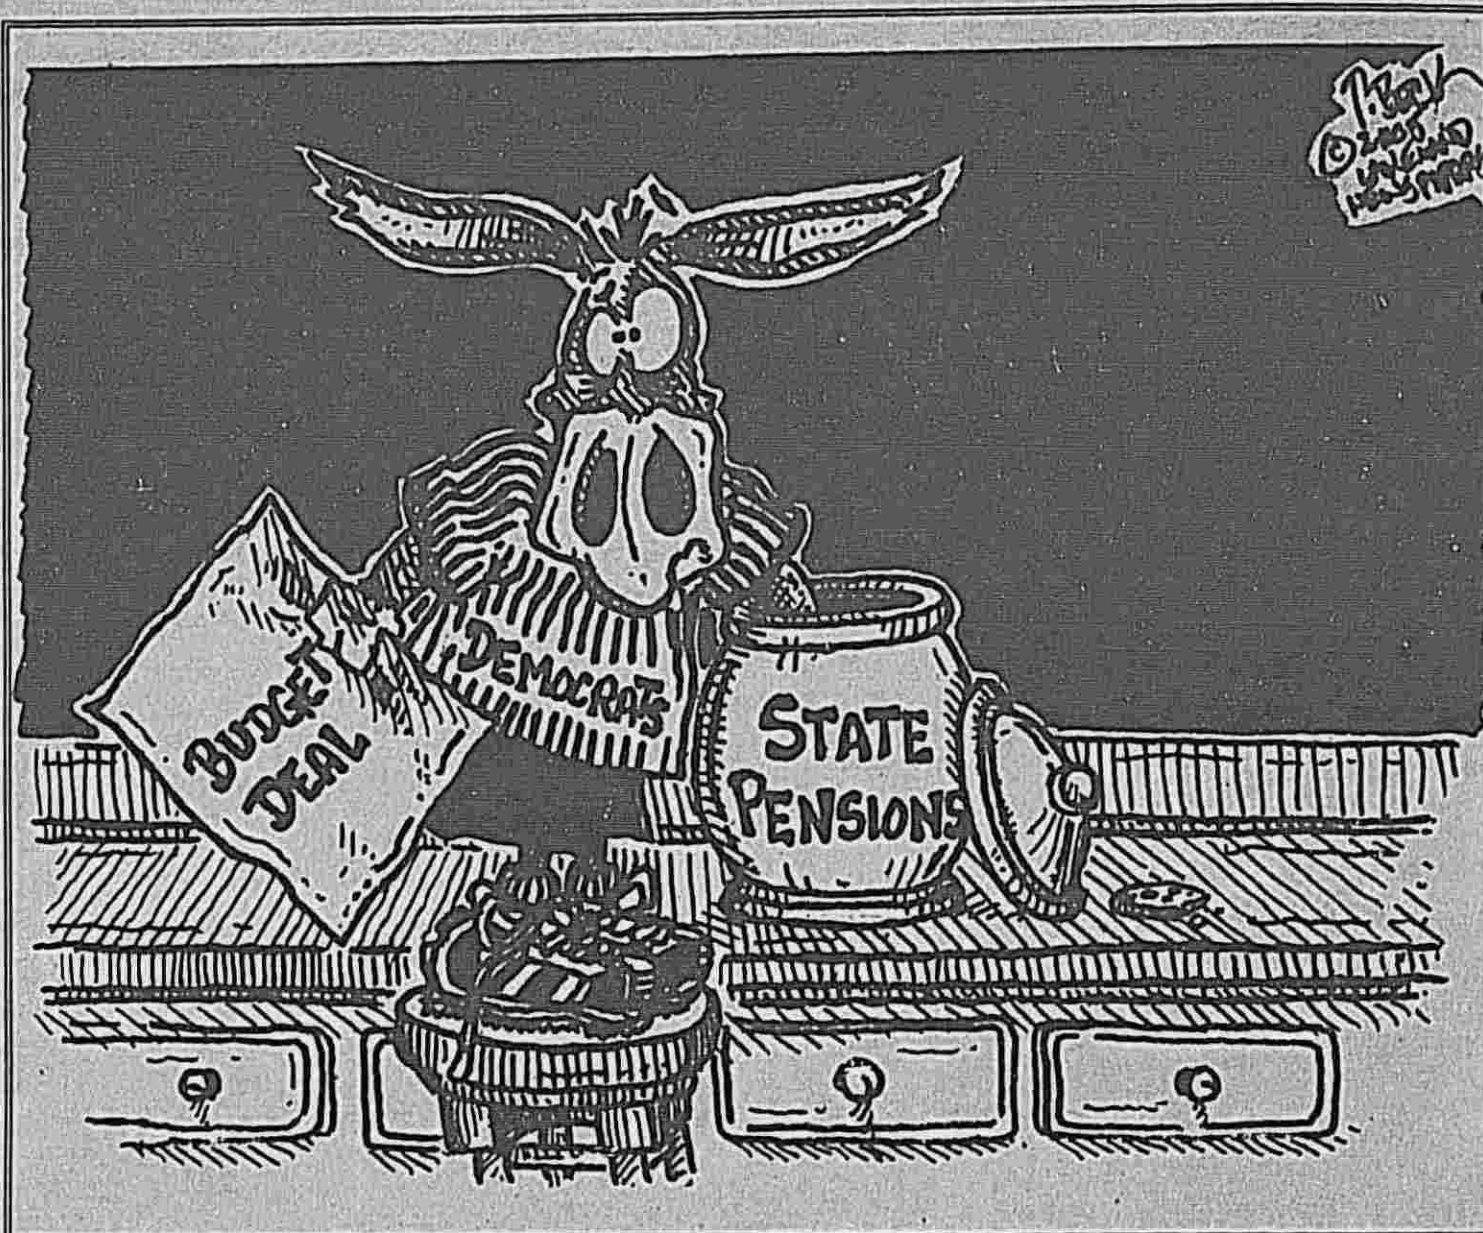

Then, Congresswoman Bean again sided with the Republicans and the big banks and credit card companies, in drastically limiting the ability of those who have suffered financial reverses to protect themselves in bankruptcy and get a fresh start. With our national healthcare coverage in shreds and our declining labor market, this is especially harsh. Two of the biggest causes of personal bankruptcies in this country are uninsured medical bills and lost jobs. Meanwhile, the super-rich get their tax breaks.

Also, Congresswoman Bean continues to support the tragic and misguided Iraq war. Despite the loss of thousands of American and tens of thousands of Iraqi lives, and the flushing of billions of dollars straight into the coffers of corporations like Bechtel and Halliburton, and the destruction of Iraqi society and infrastructure, and the stretching of our military to the breaking point—Melissa Bean still lacks the courage to stand up and say no to this war. She voted for another $82 billion blank check for the war.

Finally, just recently, she voted for the Republican environmental appropriations bill that cuts critical funding for clean water programs like the Clean Water State Revolving Fund, which helps with wastewater collection and treatment, correction of combined sewer overflows, and control of storm water and non-point source pollution. These funds also create good jobs for engineers, contractors, skilled laborers, and manufacturers.

Again, I ask 8th District Democrats—Is this the kind of representation you really want? Is this why you poured so much of your hope into ousting Phil Crane last year?

Editor's note: Bill Scheurer works with PeaceMajority.org and ran against Melissa Bean in the Democratic primary in 2004. He is a resident of Lindenhurst.

Congratulations

A lot of new chapters are being started during the week devoted to graduations. Viewpoint extends best of luck and wishes for future success to all the grads. Kids, especially high schoolers, never realize how wonderful life is until they are handed a diploma and told to head out into the big, wide world.

One man's family

Grandma has taken to heart the idea of family gardening. Nikki and Tommy will be tending to their own tomatoes with their grandmother's assistance. If the baseball season ever ends, gramp intends to get their brother, John, acquainted with the working end of a shovel.

Even a gourmet guy like Jerry concedes that there's a place for fast food. Speed is what counts.

In the spirit of rapid calorie intake when time is of the essence, I took to heart the advice from Jerry, who knows and enjoys fine wine, and a host whose idea of a great evening is sharing a well set table with friends. Jerry advised enthusiastically:

"You've got to see it. You need to go there. You've got to try the food."

Fancy new restaurant? Our friend was talking about the new look, redone Lake Forest Oasis on the I-94 tollway stretch, a spic and span temple where fast food fans can feast to their hearts desire. The revitalized food and rest spot has been open some months, but I just got around to heeding Jerry's advice the other day. He didn't steer me wrong.

Lining both sides of a wide well lighted corridor, are eight or so fast food shops covering yogurt, pizza gyros, subs, hotdogs, take-along-snacks, Mickey D's and the perfunctory Starbucks.

There's plenty of room to expand the food line. Besides plenty of clean tables and chairs are some kids games, a portrait booth and an ATM machine.

Washrooms are ample and well maintained. For a fast food aficionado, what more could you want?

There was an unbeatable side to my turkey sub. No waiting. Fast food, for sure.

Do elected officials need public credit cards?

If you took a vote of taxpayers on this issue, "Should credit cards be issued to elected public officials?" what would their response be? My guess is that taxpayers, by probably a 90-10 percent vote, would say that credit cards don't belong in public hands.

I bring this up because more and more local governments are allowing their elected officials to use credit cards for what ostensibly are used for public-related expenses. It is a bad practice, and I believe that will many well-intentioned persons fall for the temptation to use the cards for personal or political purposes.

Locally, in the hot Waukegan Township election, it was revealed that the township has issued 12 credit cards to elected and appointed persons. I'm not sure why the elected officials need credit cards when they are also allowed expense accounts. In what some called the Comedy Central North Chicago meetings when the mayor and City Council fought over everything, it was revealed, and admitted to, that an alderman used his public credit card to purchase equipment for his private business, but he paid back the city. The same charge was made about an appointed staff person, who said he reimbursed the city.

When the new County Board took office after the November election, they were issued "debit cards," which in effect are to pay county business expenses. Those expenses are debited against an annual $3,500 account per board member. It is increased to $4,500 next year. The cards are supposed to be used for postage, office supplies, and official purchases.

There is always a fine line on what are public mailings to constituents and what might be called political mail. I believe that the debit cards may increase constituent mailings that would otherwise not be sent.

Only four County Board members chose not to accept the debit cards, and I commend them for their decision. They are Carol Calabressa, Brent Paxton, Stevenson Mountsier, and Randy Whitmore. Calabressa said she holds her expenses to a bare minimum, so she really didn't need a debit card. Mountsier said that he will continue to file reimbursement requests for the few times that he has such expenses. If those four members can go without the debit cards, why can't the rest of the Board?

PARTY LINES

THIS COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTSEarly contributions part of Kirk strategy

Congressman Mark Kirk already is pushing hard on his campaign for re-election next year. A recent mailing soliciting contributions was geared to maximize new money before a May 30 reporting deadline.

The North Shore Republican sees Democrats emboldened to target him in 2006 despite his rousing victory last year over an unknown opponent. In a mailing to supporters, Kirk mentioned that State Sen. Susan Garrett (D-Lake Forest) might be induced to challenge him.

Kirk is making no bones about the fact that a healthy campaign war chest could be helpful in fending off serious opposition. He pointed out that he must file his candidacy for re-election in seven months.

The youthful looking political leader is rising in the ranks of GOP House leadership. He is chairman of the House Republican Tuesday Group, a coalition of 45 mainstream Republican and now is an assistant deputy whip. In January, he led a mission to Afghanistan and Pakistan to organization a new assault against Al Qaeda. As a commander in the Naval Reserve, Kirk represents the shrinking minority of Congressman with military experience.

Remembering Neal

"Better than being known as a paintball shooting range, I guess," joked Bob Neal upon being informed that a wetlands area of Rte. 41 near the Wisconsin state line has been designated Neal Marsh in his honor. The name selection was made by the Lake County Forest Preserve District. A former Lake County Board member, township supervisor and Republican chairman of Lake County, Neal also served as a director of the Illinois Toll Highway Authority. Former owners of the recently acquired preserve permitted members of paintball shooting clubs to use the property when the sport was popular 15 years ago.

NIU official returned

A Lake County attorney received bi-partisan support for a governor's renomination to the governing board of Northern Illinois University. Myron Siegel, 54, of Bannockburn, first was appointed in 1996 when the board was formed from the former three state university board of regents on which he also served. Siegel is known for his tireless efforts to enhance the value of a NIU degree.

Not bean bag

More than a few Republicans are wondering "What's up?" with State Rep. JoAnn Osmond (R-Antioch) and Lake County Republican chairman appearing with a broad smile on a mailing piece from Democratic Congresswoman Melissa Bean. According to Bean supporters, the theme of the mailing is constituent service and Osmond's involvement addresses the importance of bipartisanship. Not a re-election bid. Oh? One page was devoted to Bean's accomplishments of her first 100 days in office.

COMMENTARY

I just knew that some public official somewhere would get in trouble for using public credit cards for other than public purposes. Sure enough, I recently read that a grand jury indicted the mayor of Pekin on six charges of misconduct for allegedly using a credit card for personal, rather than public uses.

The Pekin mayor used his city credit card to make cash advances at a nearby casino. He said that he has paid back the more than $1,400 to the city that he "borrowed" via the credit card.

A downstate sheriff lost his elected position after he used a credit card issued by his county. He used it for personal expenditures.

No matter how much you warn public officials that they are open to criminal prosecution and that their public credit card purchases are open to public examination under the freedom of information laws, some will not resist the temptation to abuse the privilege. It is something that public officials ought to voluntarily avoid, such as the four county board members have.

We know how wild credit card and cell phone spending can be in private hands. We are asking for trouble in allowing elected officials the use of credit cards. It's like asking for, and waiting for, a scandal to happen.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Battered women to get transition home

Our hearts go out to the family, friends, neighbors and school-mates of the two young victims of domestic violence from Zion. The entire community - and indeed the nation - is mourning and reeling from the shock of this senseless loss of vibrant and hopeful lives. This is the ultimate tragedy that occurs when domestic violence is not confronted and eliminated from our communities.

We know that somewhere between 3.3 and 25 million children each year are living in homes where domestic violence occurs. We know that any time there is partner abuse in a home, the children are affected both in overt and in subtle ways. When a mother is abused, her children see it, hear it, sense it. The children feel confusion, stress and fear. They may suffer eating and sleeping disorders, have headaches, ulcers, depression and anxiety caused by the trauma of witnessing abuse.

And we know that children who live in homes where their mothers are battered are 50 percent more likely to be beaten as well.

Escaping the throes of domestic violence is a complicated and potentially life-threatening situation. The emotional and psychological fears of abuse and intimidation simply paralyze many victims. Add to those the barriers of attaining affordable housing, employment that can sustain her family, accessible transportation, adequate day care, possible health or substance abuse issues, and she faces odds that seem overwhelming when you have been cut off from whatever resources you have had.

A Safe Place's vision to removing that barrier, to provide the first transitional living program for battered women and their children in Lake County, will open this fall in the Zion community. The initial phase of this project will provide safe, affordable housing and will foster self-sufficiency through onsite programming for 20 women and their children.

Transitional housing is another important step in the ongoing comprehensive services of emergency housing, individual and group counseling, children's counseling, court advocacy and case management that A Safe Place has been providing to Zion residents as well as more than 3,000 other Lake County area residents each and every year.

In our 25th year of providing services, A Safe Place, as well as other domestic violence service providers throughout this country, knows that domestic violence does not single out certain areas or demographics. It is a pervasive crime that knows no economic, educational, racial, ethnic, religious or geographical boundaries.

Gun idea scary

It appears to me that Bill Schroeder seems to think the answer to any inconvenience or irritation can be remedied by picking up a gun and shooting it. Not only does he want to eradicate a "pesky pack of squirrels and family of chipmunks," but this narcissist went so far in one of his Viewpoint columns to say that he wanted to "form a posse" to rid the world of coyotes. It is a good thing "The Dog" didn't annoy this grandpa or he would have been a dead dog long before the coyotes got him. His fascination with guns is at the very least scary and dangerous. I would like to suggest that he retire and move the middle of nowhere so that God's four legged creatures don't get in his way....

New toll burden

I recently attended a village board meeting where plans by the Illinois Toll Way Authority (TWA) to put northbound 75-cent toll plaza in the middle of Gurnee were discussed. Unfortunately, no official from the TWA was present. However, some information provided to Gurnee village officials by the TWA was presented, including the possible locations south of Grand Avenue or Route 120, and the intent to capture tolls from a putative 31,000 motorists who enter from Wisconsin at the Waukegan 75 cent toll but return to Wisconsin by other routes.

As a resident who lives very close to Route

120 and I-94 and who must hear normal traffic on I-94, I am extremely concerned about the additional noise this will pose with trucks slowing down and speeding up. I am further concerned about the additional congestion this will cause at toll exits that are already problematic, either Route 120 or Route 132 depending on where the TWA intends to relocate the toll, as well as on local Gurnee roads that are sure to be even more crammed by motorists unwilling to pay such a large amount for the use of the toll in the Gurnee area. But most of all, I am irate by the TWA's intent to increase the already uneven burden of tollway usage costs that residents in the northern suburbs must pay.

Playing 'wetlands tag'

We disagree with the claims of Rep. Karen May's regarding "wetlands" as published in your May 13 edition. We suggest the legislation enabling the creation of Storm Water Management Commissions be revisited. Read the legislation and you will not find the word "wetland" within its language. That was not an oversight by its authors or by those in Lake County who championed it over a decade ago.

The proponents hoped that the bill would facilitate intergovernmental cooperation in establishing, coordinating, and managing various existing and future storm water management facilities. Wetland preservation and management was not even on the agenda of those who initiated, worked for, and eventually obtained passage of the Storm Water Act (SWA). We agree with the laudable goal of preserving and protecting wetlands, but not by conjuring up rules unrelated to any science and used as an "income tool" allegedly pursuant to a state statute which was never intended for that purpose.

Claiming that the wetlands restoration project minimized the flooding in Gurnee last year is of questionable validity considering that the same project existed prior to and at the time of passage of the SWA. Yet, ironically, it was flooding in Gurnee many years ago which served as the motivation for initiating the Storm Water Act.

Unfortunately, much of the storm water protection activity that Rep. May claims is keeping water out of basements, off streets, and protecting our citizens, businesses and homes does not do any such thing. Rather, those activities are used to wring huge fees from builders of anything - and those fees are not paying for establishing facilities to "manage" storm water! Wetlands come in more than one form - based upon science - not upon political whim. What a wetland is, or is not, depends upon facts such as soil type, plant life, and wildlife for example. When citizens read the word "wetland," they envision a low, wet area such as a pond or lake; cattails blowing in the breeze; frogs croaking; and other wildlife such as birds, egrets, etc. inhabiting the area. Yes, those do exist, should be and are protected!

SB761 does in fact: create a statewide standard to protect wetlands; provide protection for the regulated community by setting fees by statute; and establish the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and the Illinois Pollution Control Board as the regulatory bodies with jurisdiction over isolated wetland programs; and allows local implementation (delegation of inspecting, investigating, and enforcement). Why the IEPA and the IPCB? Almost all other issues dealing with the Clean Water Act are handled by these entities.

Reasonable people can disagree without being "disagreeable." If the IEPA—the "E" stands for "environmental"—cannot be trusted to fairly safeguard quality wetlands, why does it exist. The old habit of anointing oneself with a "good, positive" word like "environmentalist," and placing a negative name tag, like a scarlet letter, such as "special interests" on those with whom you disagree is disingenuous. Finley P. Dunne said, "A fanatic is a man who does what he thinks the Lord would do if only He knew the facts of the case." None amongst us has that wisdom, so we ought to stick to the facts, and skip the game of "tag."

Attorneys Salvi, Schostok & Pritchard Illinois Super Lawyers 2005

Patrick A. Salvi, Michael P. Schostok and David J. Pritchard were recently featured in the May 2005 issues of Chicago magazine and Illinois Super Lawyer magazine for being among the best lawyers in the state.

Salvi, Schostok & Pritchard has been serving Lake County for more than 23 years. Together they have settled more than 100 cases involving $1 million or higher. Last year alone, such cases totaled $88 million.

Pat, Mike and David have not only been dedicated to their clients, but they have also committed their time and talent to their profession. Each attorney is a published legal author, a highly sought after speaker, and has served in leadership positions in both bar and professional organizations. Pat sums it up best in saying, "It's not just our practice - it's our passion!"

Salvi, Schostok & Pritchard P.C. concentrates in the area of personal injury, but they are particularly regarded for their expertise in medical malpractice litigation.

Property taxes due June 6

Lake County residents should be aware that the first installment of real estate taxes is due Monday, June 6. County Treasurer Robert Skidmore is reminding taxpayers of the due date so that they can avoid paying late charges.

Payment options include payment via U.S. Mail, in person at most Lake County banks and in person at the Lake County Treasurer's Office, at 18 N. County St., Waukegan. Those paying at a bank must have an original or copy of their tax bill.

Taxpayers may also make payments online by credit card at www.co.lake.il.us/treasurer. There is a convenience fee charged by the credit card company for those paying online.

Two drop-boxes are also available 24 hours a day, seven days a week for property tax payments. Those using either of the drop-boxes must pay via check and should include their tax bill stub in a sealed envelope.

One drop-box is located at the northeast entrance of the Lake County Courthouse and Administrative Complex, 18 N. County St., Waukegan. The second drop-box is at the Lake County Division of Transportation, 600 W. Winchester Road, Libertyville, a half block west of Milwaukee Avenue.

Taxpayers can avoid late charges by paying their real estate taxes on or before the June 6 deadline. By Illinois State Statute, any payment received after the due date must include a 1.5 percent penalty.

For the convenience of those residents paying at the treasurer's office, the office will have additional hours on Saturday, June 4 from 9 a.m. to noon and on Monday, June 6 from 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Regular office hours are Monday to Friday, from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

For more information, contact Lake County Treasurer Robert Skidmore's office at 847-377-2323 or visit www.co.lake.il.us/treasurer.

Paddlers invited to waterways

In the tradition of Lewis and Clark, canoeists and kayakers are invited to the first Northeastern Illinois Water Trails BLITZ, to select and paddle a stretch of waterway from the Northeastern Illinois Water Trails system and record their experiences in a publicly shared online log book as part of the "Water Trails Corps of Discovery."

The Northeastern Illinois Water Trails system includes the Illinois shoreline of Lake Michigan, the Chicago River, the Des Plaines River in Illinois, Salt Creek, the Calumet and Little Calumet Rivers, parts of the Cal Sag Channel and Thorn Creek, the DuPage, Fox, and Kishwaukee Rivers and the Kankakee River in Illinois.

This 36-hour event starts at 6 a.m. on June 4 and ends at 6 p.m. on June 5. Everyone from experienced paddlers, to beginners, to families with children are invited to take part.

Participants can register for a stretch to paddle and download a log form to record their trip through the Water Trails Web site at www.openlands.org/watertrails.asp.

SBC tours, educates students

By Kyle Schmitt

Staff Reporter

Representatives from the SBC Yahoo! DSL Hometown Tour Para Ti visited Waukegan last week to educate children and business owners of the promise and perils of technology.

Technological demonstrations provided a look not only at new wireless products, but ways that businesses could expand their services and promotions at the Waukegan Business Association.

Many local consumers and small business owners fail to utilize readily available resources, said SBC spokesperson Ivette Lopez.

Discussing the "digital lifestyle," Lopez said that SBC provided information on services that utilize high-speed Internet and allow small-business owners to set up their own Web sites.

"Some of the Hispanic community is intimidated by all this technology," she said, noting that electronics may be affordable than some owners realize. "We talk about how easy it really is."

Focusing on Hispanic residents, the tour also made bilingual presentations at four Waukegan elementary schools to educate students on Internet safety and how to protect themselves from online predators May 24 and 25.

While students today often prove more tech-savvy than their parents, they may not realize they must practice "the rules of stranger danger in the online world" as well. "Some of their first lessons about Internet safety may be from us," Lopez said.

An interactive cartoon game demonstrated situations that children may confront, such as receiving e-mail attachments and dealing with someone asking them for their personal information.

Such efforts serve to break ground in providing needed information for students, said

North Elementary School principal Angel Figueroa.

Appropriate supervision exists to protect students at school, Figueroa said. "But when they go to their homes we want to make sure they follow security measures and procedures to protect themselves."

Though SBC provides no services to the school, no sales pitches were made before or after the presentation, said Figueroa, who expressed gratitude for the information provided to more than 200 North students. Approximately 1,400 students viewed the demonstrations.

Get Checking classes coming

Get Checking, a program designed for people who have never had a bank account and those who have had trouble with their bank account, will offer two classes, one in English and one in Spanish, this month.

Participants take an important step toward safe and effective management of their money. They learn how to choose a financial institution and an appropriate account, how to manage a checking account effectively and avoid costly fees, and how to establish good credit and access other financial services. Upon completion, participants receive a certificate which they can bring to a participating financial institution to open an account if they have been forcibly closed in the past.

The six-hour class in English will be offered in two three-hour sessions on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 14 and 15 from 6 to 9 p.m. The Spanish class will be a one-day class on Saturday, June 11, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Pre-registration and a fee of $20 for individuals and $30 for couples is required. To register for the class in English, call 847-623-1020. For the class in Spanish, call 847-263-5486.

The program is led by: Habitat for Humanity, Consumer Credit Counseling Services of Waukegan and Lake County Partners. Additional sponsors include: Catholic Charities Lake County Services, Christian Outreach of Lutherans, College of Lake County, Community Action Partnerships of Lake County, HealthReach, Lake County Housing Authority, YWCA of Lake County.

Participating financial institutions include: Bank of Waukegan, Baxter Credit Union, First Midwest, Guaranty Bank, Harris Bank, National City, North Shore Trust and Savings, TCF and Waukegan Savings and Loan SB.

10 YEARS AGO • 1995

A Grayslake asphalt company faced punitive action from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency after a leaking underground fuel tank was found on company property. The leaking fuel tank contaminated the Avon Fremont drainage ditch, which flows into Third Lake. The tank was promptly removed, but the company still faced charges.

Round Lake Beach police captured a McHenry County man in connection with the robbery of an area bank. The man arrested was already in custody for another bank robbery in Huntley. He was caught through photographic match linking.

A power outage in Northern Illinois closed classes at Antioch High School for one day. The power went out on a Friday morning and was not restored to many customers for more than four hours.

Warren Township officials were pondering the addition of a senior center. The center, which would be located on Warren Township property at Washington and Almond Road, was to be voted on by Township officials, before being placed on a November ballot for residents.

25 YEARS AGO • 1980

Four Grayslake children spent hours joining beer and soda can tops together to create a giant chain. The chain totaled 76 feet.

More than 100 Antioch Community High School students were honored for their artwork. The artwork was on display at the ACHS All School Art Show. Students' projects ranged from painting to ceramics.

30 YEARS AGO • 1975

A group of Grant Township citizens put together a memorial for people killed in Vietnam. In all, eight men from Grant Township were killed in Vietnam from 1967 to 1969. Their memory was honored with a plaque.

An investigation into the death of a Wildwood youth showed he died from head injuries. The boy, 8, was found in a snow covered field months earlier. He had been missing from his home for two days before he was recovered.

"We had a second, but it was a distant second," he said.

A new nationwide search would now be conducted, said vice president for administrative affairs and board liaison for the search process Jim Rock.

"You expect some of the same applicants, and also expect several who didn't apply the first time," he said.

Whoever is chosen would have to confront significant challenges during their tenure, Griffin said. School programs face financial constraints in the next several years, as state sources would provide less funding.

BUDGET

Also, the way it was financed did not sit favorably, he said.

The money taken from pension will eventually have to be paid off, and by that time, Gov. Rod Blagojevich will be out of office.

And while the two sides did not agree on all aspects of the budget, there were some issues on which they were able to see eye to eye. Peterson said that most everyone was happy to see malpractice reform approved. Link agreed, saying any help to area hospitals is a positive.

LAKE FOREST HOSPITAL

G.R.O.W. program for junior high school girls June 17

"It's easier to talk to friends than to parents ... Without friends, you'd be talking to yourself." That remark, one of many revelations shared at the most recent G.R.O.W. session at Lake Forest Hospital, underscores the reason for the program's existence. G.R.O.W. - Girls Reaching Out 2 Wellness - is an interactive discussion series for seventh- and eighth-grade girls, designed to help cultivate wellness behaviors and attitudes that empower young women to take charge of their health. The Women's Health Advisory Council of Lake Forest Hospital sponsors the program, in conjunction with CROYA, Lake Forest's quarter-century-old community youth group.

The advisory council put together a focus group of high-school-age girls in CROYA, whose perspectives provided insight into the concerns and challenges of their slightly younger counterparts. Based on their input, the idea of a series of interactive sessions was born. At some programs, participants break into small-group discussions led by the older girls, who have "been there" and can offer insight into the next phase of life.

The next program will focus on valuing yourself in relationships. It will take place on Friday, June 17, from 1 to 3:30 p.m. at the Hunter Family Center for Women's Health. There is no charge. For more information or to register, call (847) 535-8500.

Massages

Offered on Thursday afternoons from noon to 4 p.m., 30-, 60-, or 90-minute massages. Fee depends on length of massage. Call 847.535.8500 to register for the limited appointments available.

PARENT'S PLACE

Dr. Sherri Singer

Hi Dr. Singer,

We have 2 kids and my wife has scheduled each of them in so many activities their heads are spinning. I don't like this and have told her that, but she thinks that because she always had every minute of her childhood scheduled that this is the right thing to do. I was one of those kids who had lazy summer days catching frogs and hanging out and I think I was and am better off for it. Which one of us is right and what do you think about this? E.F.

Hi E.F.,

There are 2 sides to this issue and I don't mean yours and hers. My first inclination is to agree that too much scheduling and too many activities are going to inundate the kids and may frustrate them as well. I think for kids to truly figure out what they like to do and what they have a strength with, they need to try things one or two at a time. Free time to catch frogs and just kick back for kids is so important for them. I also have lots of good memories just hanging out and riding bikes and sun tanning. There were days that the sky was so blue it looked like an Everlasting Gobstopper. The clouds were so perfectly white and soft looking and I can remember lying on the grass with my friends and just being and nothing felt better as a child.

Now for the other part. This is not the same world anymore. Unfortunately, we have lots of predators out there and many parents are afraid to have their kids just wandering like we used to be able to. It makes me really sad and angry to think that our kids don't have the same ability to just enjoy being free as we did, but the plain hard truth is that it exists and sometimes activities that are scheduled with adult supervision is the way to go, especially if the parent cannot be there all the time to supervise kids just being.

The best of all worlds is if a parent or parents can be there to supervise to let the kids just be, in a limited amount of space. You don't let them just take off on their bikes, but maybe they can ride around the block if they're old enough. If it can't happen every day of the week, maybe schedules can be moved so parents can be there to have at least a few days of the week to let the kids just have unscheduled fun.

Let me say something else about all the activities. You didn't mention this, but I have heard it enough times from other parents that I think it's worth mentioning. Lots of parents I run into sign their kids up for an activity and then if the child doesn't like it and wants to quit, the parent digs in and says 'no way.' The parent wants the kid to stick it out so they don't become quitters. I don't agree with that at all. I think that the healthiest, most successful adults are those who know what they like and know what they don't like. They don't just stay stuck in something they aren't feeling good about. They use that information to move on and find what does feel good to them. Now, obviously if this is the 16th activity in 16 days, that's a problem with commitment and I would ask for more responsibility on the child's part for the decisions, but if it's the first activity chosen and it isn't working for the child, 86 it and let the child pick something else! That doesn't make a quitter. It makes a person who knows how to move, if the surroundings are not right. It also helps the child find what his or her strengths are and what is fun for him or her.

So, I'm not picking sides here, and I think you guys need to come to some safe compromise that will allow some free, fun time for the kids just to be and some scheduled time for one or two activities, not ten. Hope this helps!

The natural look is popular trend in home decorating

The glitz of the 1980s and the sleek modernism of the 1990s have given way to an entirely different trend in flooring — the natural look. "Consumers' preference for natural and natural-looking materials is in full swing," says Joe Amato, vice president of styling for flooring manufacturer Mannington Mills. "...homeowners are looking for patterns inspired by nature."

Thanks to today's technology, the naturally inspired look can be achieved in any hard surface flooring material. For example, the vinyl flooring on the market today (also called resilient) is nothing like what your mother and grandmother had. "The patterns are much more realistic than ever. Advances in design capabilities, particularly with Computer Aided Design (CAD), have been key in helping us get such realistic looks," says Amato. Some of today's most popular looks in vinyl flooring are patterns that resemble slate, stone, and even sisal and leather, he adds.

New staining and finishing techniques a brand new hardwood floor can look worn and lived-in. Homeowners decorating in a casual or rustic theme find these handscraped and distressed floors go perfectly with that decor.

Whatever your flooring preference, there's a natural look that will suit your life and your style. For more information on Mannington, call 1-800-482-9527, or visit www.mannington.com.

Area track team adds another medallist after decades of frustration

By Dan Patrick
Sports Reporter

Memorial Day weekend has long been a great day for tracks. From the Indianapolis Motor Speedway with the Indy 500 to the Lowe's Motor Speedway and its Coca-Cola 600, it's good to be speedy the last weekend of May.

Another track got its day in the sun as the meet took place at Eastern Illinois University's O'Brien Stadium last Friday and Saturday. While a female garnered the most attention in this year's 500, it was time for the boys at the 2005 IHSA Track and Field state meet as a contingent of area track and field stars vied for medals at the event.

In total, 29 area athletes from Antioch, Carmel, Grant, Libertyville, Mundelein, Warren and Waukegan high schools proudly represented Lake County in the event. While Lake County made a good showing in the first day of competition, only three athletes, Antioch's Ryan Cashmore and Grant's Chris Rosado and Eric Horvath made the cut into the finals.

Cashmore proved to be the strongest of the area's trio as he finished fifth in the discus competition with a 175-foot-8-inch throw while Horvath also medaled in the 300 hurdles with a 40.31-second time, good enough for an eighth-place finish. Horvath's teammate, Rosado, finished in the No. 15 spot with a 13-foot, 6-inch pole vault.

Medals adorning any athlete is impressive for any school, yet Grant High School has seemingly reached critical mass with Horvath along with lady Bulldogs Danielle Eiler and Cora Caulfield all medal-ing at state. Prior to the trio's success, no Grant athlete had ever medaled at state since 1936.

Boys coach Sam Spasojevich assures there is nothing in Fox Lake's water to promote such unbridled success, instead, it's just good old-fashioned blood, sweat and tears.

"It's just a combination of talent and effort," Spasojevich said. "Both Chris (Rosado) and Eric (Horvath) are talented and they both put in the time. Horvath never missed a single practice in four years and he would often come in on Sundays to work on his technique."

An eighth-place finish might bring a lot of pride to any other athlete, Horvath felt as though he didn't bring his best stuff to the finals competition.

"It was kind of a let-down because I didn't get the timing exactly right in the race," Horvath said. "I was disappointed in the outcome, but I was ecstatic that I got into the finals. My first goal was just to make it to Saturday and I just wanted to end my senior year on a good note."

'It's just a combination of talent and effort.'

Sam Spasojevich
Grant track and field coach

Horvath's performance may have been bolstered by the presence of another Bulldog at the meet. Rosado may have missed out on a medal in the competition, but he was happy simply to make an appearance. Unlike his teammate, it was Rosado's first appearance at the state venue.

"I really didn't know what to expect, when I first stepped out onto that blue track, I felt like I was stepping onto the ocean," Rosado said. "When my coach just told me to warm up, it was a little strange. Eastern (Illinois University) was one of my original choices and to compete on that track was special."

While the Grant track and field program has enjoyed some of its best success in decades, other area schools barely missed the cut at the state meet. Libertyville had one of the strongest area contingents with five singles competitors and a 3,200-meter relay make the trek downstate, but was unable to make it into Saturday's competition.

The Waukegan Bulldogs found themselves in a similar predicament as four individual competitors and their own 800-meter relay team also demolished sectional contenders, but also could not make the cut for the second day.

Some area athletes also made it to state in multiple events, but were sent home on the first day. Waukegan's Darren Patterson qualified in the 100 and 200 dashes and the 3,200-meter relay team, but barely missed the cut with a third-place finish in the 200. Waukegan's Kris Gehrke competed in the 300 and 110-meter hurdles competition, but placed fourth and eighth in his heats, respectively.

2005 was a year that truly placed Lake County on map within Illinois's track and field scene. Athletes like Cashmore, Rosado and Horvath might have found the winning formula, but the challenge of the competition is sure to inspire area athletes for years to come.

"State's what you work for all year in every sport you play," Rosado said. "Just to make it into state is what everyone is shooting for and it's great to get the chance to compete at that level."

Corsairs fall to rival Libertyville

By Dan Patrick

Sports Reporter

The final moments of any event are exactly the instants that are forever burned in the mind of the participant. Within sports, that effect is amplified as the final ticks on the clock, or in Carmel senior Dan Krzmarzick's case, the final points come to pass.

As the high-powered Libertyville Wildcats beat perennial rival Carmel last Wednesday 25-15, 25-19, 25-22 in the Antioch Regional, Krzmarzick, along with fellow senior Nick Rill were overcome by emotion.

"It's a tough loss to handle; I wasn't sure what I was going to do," Krzmarzick said. "If we won, I knew that I was going to go crazy, if we lost, I didn't know how much it would affect me, but there we lost, I just fell down."

The powerful 6-foot-6-inch senior literally fell to his knees under the weight of the final game at the high school level. After four years of dueling with the Wildcats, the end of the line has come after a 20-10 2005 campaign.

"I came out and I knew that this could be the last time I played in a brown and white uniform," Krzmarzick said. "I just could sense that this was it for me and I knew that I should push hard...I wanted it so badly, I think that's why I just broke down."

Despite the tough loss, Carmel coach Sarah Yeager was proud of her athletes for putting up such a good fight against Libertyville's powerful attack. After trading blows in the first and second games, the Corsairs came out with a 10-2 lead before dogfighting to a 25-22 Libertyville win.

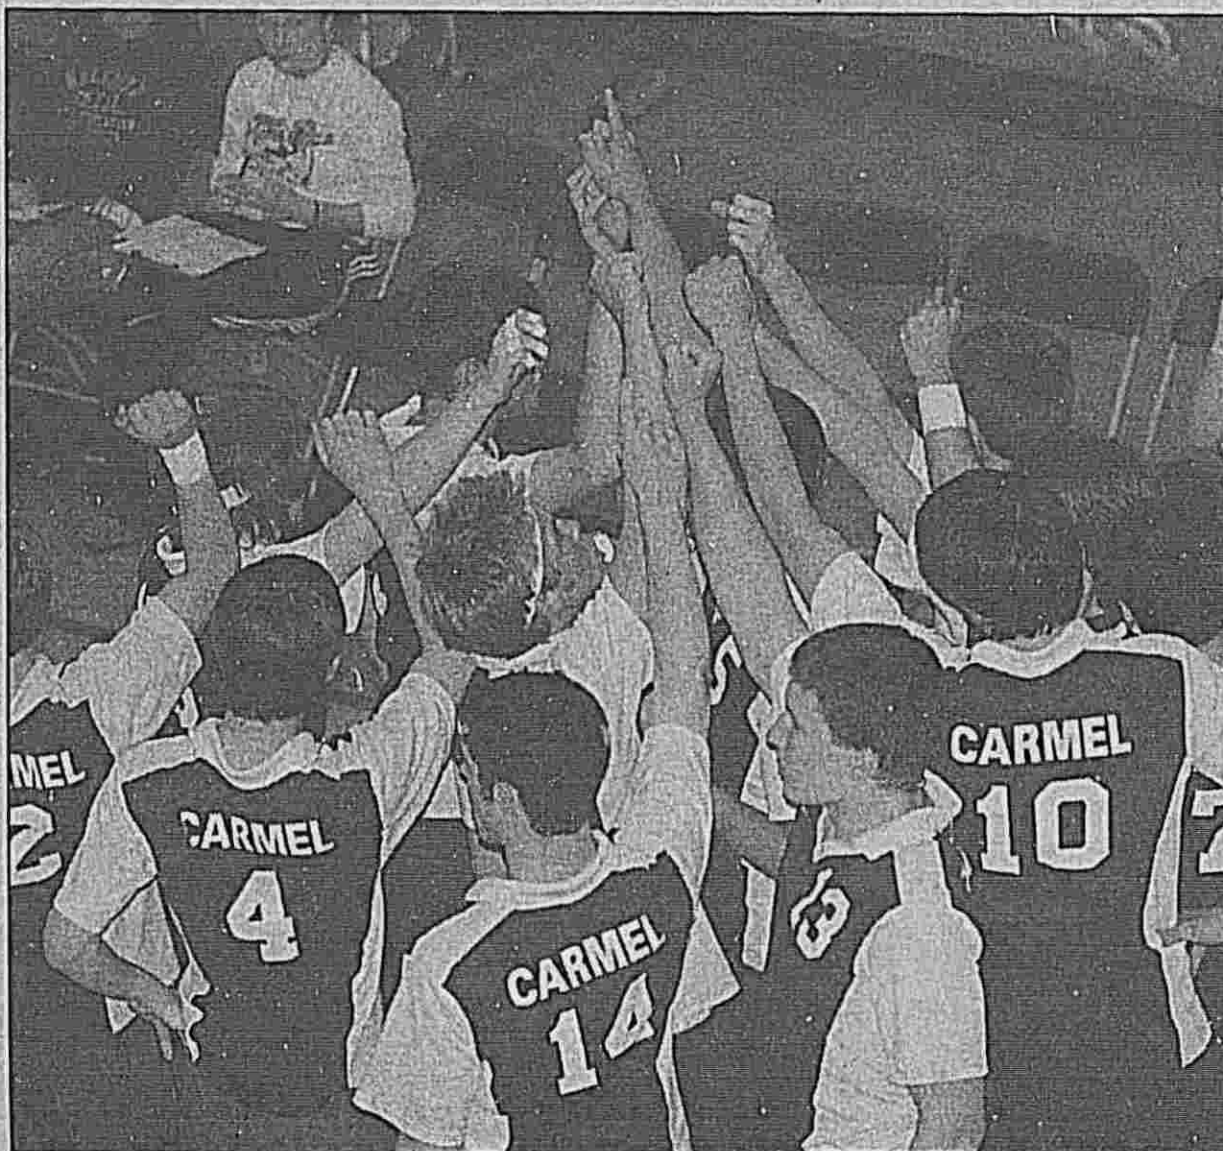

"I'm disappointed, it was a tough match, we had our game plan set and Libertyville, they played a good game," Yeager said. "I'm giving all the credit in the world to my kids, they played their hearts out and we wish Libertyville luck."

The loss might have been tough to swallow for the team, but it was precisely the fear of failure that brought out the fighting spirit within the Corsairs. In the third game, Krzmarzick virtually served as the entire Carmel offense for most of the third stanza.

"(In) the second game, our backs were against the wall, the kids didn't want their season to be over," Yeager said. "I think my two seniors played their hearts out tonight and knew what was at stake, so they turned it around."

The pressure of a looming loss did indeed throw fuel into Krzmarzick's fire. The senior scored seven of the team's ten points to open up the final stanza.

"When I'm backed into a corner, I like to come out swinging," Krzmarzick said. "I don't want to revert to a tipper role just to keep the ball in play. If you're losing, the only way you're going to win is to play hard and coming out in the third game, that's what I like. I like the pressure and getting those butterflies. I like the 'You can't make a mistake' mode, it just pushes me to play harder."

'I just told them that I know that they were disappointed, but I was really proud of them for giving such a good effort. It was an honor coaching those two seniors (Dan Krzmarzick and Nick Rill) this year and they will be successful in whatever they do.'

Carmel volleyball coach

Confidence killed the Corsairs and aided the 'Cats in the match. The big eight-point lead might have been Carmel's downfall. Krzmarzick said he thought his team lacked the intensity to close out the final game and the match.

"The gym was so loud, that it just brought up the intensity," Krzmarzick said. "I think we just got overconfident. When you're up eight points in the regional championship, we got kind of relaxed, but that's when you can't relax."

The Wildcats may have ended Krzmarzick's high school career, but the senior has nothing but good things to say about his team's rivals.

"You do have to give credit to them for playing a good game, to come back from a 10-2 lead is just exceptional," Krzmarzick said. "They're a great team and they didn't win 32 games for nothing."

Carmel's senior class might have played its last point of volleyball, but Yeager is sure this class will live on in her memories.

"I just told them that I know that they were disappointed, but I was really proud of them for giving such a good effort," Yeager said. "It was an honor coaching those two seniors this year and they will be successful in whatever they do. I'm really proud of both of those boys and they're going on to play club ball."

The loss will certainly weigh heavily on the minds of the two Corsair seniors. But Yeager is certain that the game is nothing for Carmel's players to be ashamed of.

"Dan (Krzmarzick) really wanted it and Nick (Rill) really wanted it," Yeager said. "All my kids wanted it, but my two seniors and they knew what was at stake. With Libertyville, we lost against them earlier this year and we really wanted to beat them here tonight; but it just wasn't our time."

Round Up

Baseball

It was a pitcher's duel to say the least in Saturday's regional championship match-up between the Vernon Hills Cougars and the hosting Corsairs. While Carmel would go on to take the close 1-0 victory, Vernon Hills hurler Rob Kolton pitched an impressive game as he didn't give up a hit until the fourth inning and finished the game with only four hits and no walks. As brilliant as Kolton's pitching was, Corsair Matt Diedrich was one step ahead of his opponent, not giving up a hit until the seventh inning and finishing with 10 strikeouts in the game.

Carmel was able to give Diedrich some run support as Sean McCreary nabbed a triple while Mike Morrissey singled to bring home McCreary and his team's only run. After the win, the Corsairs improve to 30-7 while Vernon Hills ended its IHSAA tourney bid with a 20-14 record.

Boys' track and field

Corsairs Mike Chew and Matt Pirih made the trek to Charleston for the 2005 IHSAA Boys Track and Field State meet last weekend. Chew had a strong showing in the shot put competition, finishing second in his heat with a 49-foot, 8-inch throw; but unfortunately, his distance did not qualify him for the second day of competition. Pirih found himself in a similar situation in the 1,600-meter run, but did not make the cut with a time of 4:29.20.

Softball

Carmel's softball season ended on a sour note as the heavily favored Corsairs were defeated by the Zion-Benton Zee-Bees 5-2 last Wednesday. Carmel carried a fifth seed into the game while the 10th-seeded Zee-Bees rode a 4-run first inning to victory in the game. Zion-Benton would go on to be eliminated by the Vernon Hills Cougars Saturday.

Boys' volleyball

The Corsairs' impressive 2005 boys volleyball bid came to an end against the Libertyville Wildcats 15-25, 25-19, 22-25 last Wednesday. Carmel ends its season at 20-10 while the Wildcats went on to the Sectional semifinal and was defeated by Barrington.

Carmel jumped out to a 10-2 lead in the third game, but was unable to keep the run going, falling 25-22 in the game, losing the match 2-1.

GRANT

Bulldogs 'came a long way'

By Dan Patrick

Sports Reporter

There's no crying in baseball and it seems that there is no sugarcoating either. Grant coach Mike Mizwicki made no bones about his team's season ending 7-2 loss at the hands of the Mundelein Mustangs last Wednesday.

"They're a better team than us," Mizwicki said. "They made every play, they didn't make mistakes. In order for us to beat them, they had to make mistakes. Offensively, they needed to make a couple mistakes defensively and they didn't make them, so that's where we ended up."

'No one wants moral victories, but at one point, we were once 2-18 and we were 10-runned (mercy rule games) four or five games in a row; we've come a long way to get where we're at.'

Mike Mizwicki
Grant baseball coach

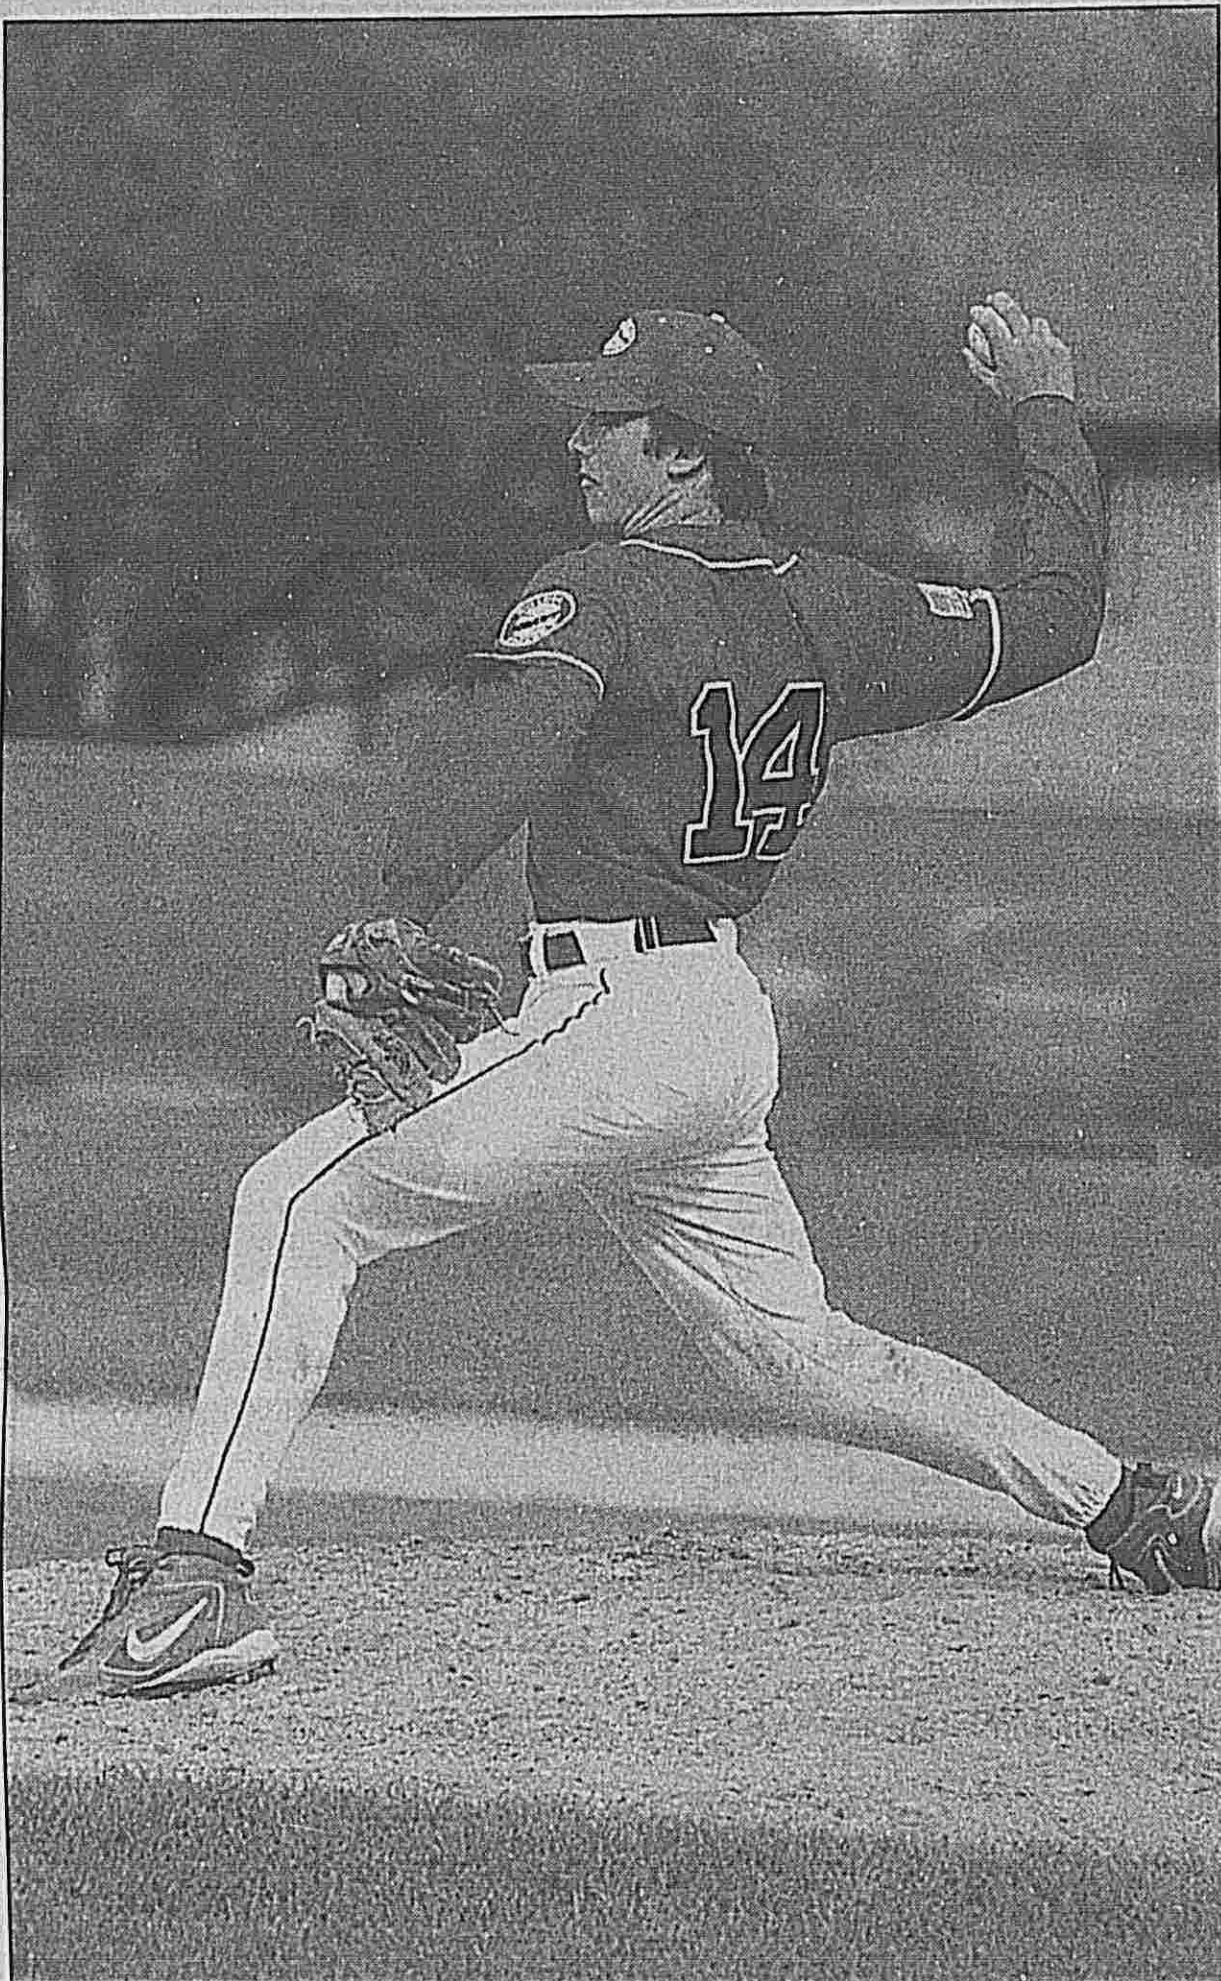

Like it or not, Mizwicki was honest. While his team gave up nine hits, including a back-breaking two-run home run to Brian Betti, the game could not be considered a bust. The Bulldogs actually played better defense than their opponents as Grant had only one fielding error to Mundelein's three.

"We didn't play a bad game, I think we had one play that we should have made but we didn't, but outside of that, they executed," Mizwicki said. "They scored some runs and the pitcher (senior Kevin Sashko) held us down. They just played a very solid game."

Grant finished the season at 7-24 and dealt with a change in power after longtime Bulldog head coach Lee Raddatz retired at the conclusion of the 2004 campaign. A .226 winning percentage might not win any state titles, but there were significant strides made during the 2005 season.

"No one wants moral victories, but at one point, we were once 2-18 and we were 10-runned (mercy rule games) four or five games in a row; we've come a long way to get where we're at," Mizwicki said. "We're in that game until the fourth or fifth inning and that's a lot better than where we were at the beginning of the season."

The team certainly had its growing pains in the season as Mizwicki inherited a program with few veterans or even players with basic varsity experience. However, the young coach never lost sight of the goal to improve.

Grant Community High School's Brian Swanson pitches during a game earlier this season against Mundelein High School.

"I'm in my first year as a head coach and we had five kids returning as seniors and of those five kids, only three of them had varsity experience," Mizwicki said. "With the juniors, only one of them had varsity experience and it was like we only had two returning starters. We were very inexperienced, especially at the beginning of the year."

To place the improvement in perspective, the Bulldogs were mired in the cellar of the North Suburban Conference until a crucial run brought Grant out from the NSC doldrums.

"It could have been a lot worse than it was, but at one point, we went 5-8 to win the division, to finish 5-5 in our division," Mizwicki said. "Based on what we had, that's really not too bad."

Along with the strengthening of the roster throughout the current season, there is quite a bit of hope attached to Grant's youthful rosters. Graduation took a severe toll on the Bulldogs at the conclusion of last season and with the numerous underclassmen making regular appearances on the Bulldog's field this season, the loom of graduation might not cast as big of a shadow.

"We had a freshman (Kyle Stroup) who started at first, a sophomore (Brian Vogt) started at third, a sophomore in center (Anthony Kaskadden) and we had a number of sophomore pitchers," Mizwicki said. "That was out of necessity and when you do things out of necessity, those kids get all of those varsity at-bats, so the future could be promising. But who knows what could happen because they

Softball

The Bulldogs narrowly lost a 2-1 nine-inning decision against the Grayslake Rams in the Antioch regional final last Saturday. Grant had trouble generating offense as the opposing pitcher, Grayslake senior Lea Corcoran fanned 19 Grant batters in the game. Corcoran was not unhittable as the Bulldogs mustered two hits — a single by Kariann Hill in the fourth inning and a double by Tabitha Rand in the fifth. Hill's single led to Grant's lone run as she crossed home plate after two infield errors with two outs in the inning. Freshman hurler Heather Ruetsche pitched a strong game, fanning eight hitters of her own while walking just two Rams. The Bulldogs came into the game with an unimpressive No. 13 rank, but upset the top-ranked Mundelein Mustangs to advance to the Grayslake game. Grant ended its season at 16-19.

There were also four Bulldogs named to the All-North Suburban Conference team as Kariann Hill, Lauren Liles and Amanda Alaimo were named to the All-NSC first team while Sara Patterson was named as an Honorable Mention.

Baseball

While the softball team was able to upset the Mundelein Mustangs last week, Grant's baseball team was unable to follow suit in a 7-2 regional semifinal game against Mundelein last Wednesday. The Bulldogs gave up nine hits in the game while they were only able to put up two runs of their own in the game. The loss ended Grant's season at 7-24 and 5-5 in NSC action.

Boys' track and field

Bulldogs Eric Horvath and Chris Rosado put up strong performances in the IHSA state track and field final to advance to the finals last Saturday. Horvath became the first Grant male to medal since 1936 with an eighth place finish in the 300-meter hurdles. Rosado took the No. 15 spot in the pole vault with a 13-foot-6-inch vault.

all need to work hard."

Youth does not necessarily equal a lack of talent as some of the younger members on Grant's roster would have been playing varsity ball anyway. However, some are taking their lumps and improving all the way.

"Some of them were up (on varsity) because of ability and some of them were up because we had no one else to fill that position," Mizwicki said. "But I think our center fielder Kaskadden and big Stroup and those are the guys of the future. We'll just see what happens next year."

The future looks bright for the Grant team, but that is not to say the Class of 2005 is unappreciated. Seniors Alex Starnes, Kyle Kapusta, Jeff Cukla, Eric Lostrosio and Andrew Stern have all been performing well for the Bulldogs this season. Lostrosio, Kapusta and Cukla have all set such a high standard on the field that Lostrosio made the All-NSC First Team while Kapusta and Cukla were named as Honorable Mentions.

"You've got five seniors, one of them is a pitcher, one pitcher who's a junior, so we had to bring up some young guys and it took a little bit of time for them to develop," Mizwicki said. "I'm disappointed in the loss, but I'm not disappointed in how hard we worked and the attitude of the team."

With some work, Mizwicki is hopeful his team can really make a run for the conference title next season. Regardless of the outcome, Grants coach will always be fond of his team and quite honest about its chances.

"You evaluate your team and you know what you have from an ability standpoint," Mizwicki said. "We didn't have a ton of ability, but we had a ton of heart, and heart won us some games, but heart doesn't beat a team with 25 wins (Mundelein)."

GRAYSLAKE

Rams win 1st regional since '86

By Rob Backus

Sports Editor

Any sports fan in the area would easily remember 1986. On Jan. 26, the Chicago Bears won their first and only Lombardi Trophy with a 46-10 drubbing of New England in Super Bowl XX.

Later that year, Mike Tyson became the world heavyweight boxing champion, Larry Bird and the Boston Celtics won their last NBA title and the Red Sox suffered their heartbreaking collapse against the New York Mets in the World Series.

But 1986 also weighs heavily in the minds of the Grayslake softball faithful as it marked the school's last regional title. But that all changed Saturday with a 2-1 nine-inning win over Grant in the Antioch Regional title game.

Incidentally, senior hurler Lea Corcoran was born on Dec. 9, 1986 and had set the goal prior to the season of bringing the school its first regional plaque in almost two decades. And Corcoran did her part in the victory, fanning a career-high 19 batters, including four in one inning. She now has 331 K's on the season and 1,024 in her career.

"This is so exciting," Corcoran said after the win. "It shouldn't have taken us this long (9 innings), but Grant put up a heck of a fight."

And that was just the first big event of the weekend for Corcoran, who graduated on Sunday.

'We're 4-1 in extra innings this year, so we weren't worried. The girls don't give up and they've always believed in themselves.'

Stacy Selle
Grayslake softball coach

"I woke up at 7:30 and came to the game, and now I have a new career high (in strikeouts) and we won a regional," Corcoran said. "It's a lot to take in on a Saturday morning. Then I have to graduate tomorrow. Wow."

When asked what was more important, the regional title or her graduation, Corcoran took little time before making her decision.

"I have every intention of graduating from college, so it won't be my last graduation," said Corcoran, who will attend LaSalle University in Pennsylvania next year. "This (the regional) is definitely sweeter."

While Grayslake coach Stacy Selle should be used to Corcoran's dominance by now, she was almost in awe of the senior after the game.

"She was so awesome," Selle said. "Her riseball was on. They were going for it, and they're not going to hit it. (Catcher) Hannah (Michal) did a nice job calling it during the game."

Grayslake High School's Lea Corcoran misses a pitch against Antioch in the regional semifinal last Wednesday. The Rams defeated Antioch 1-0 in nine innings and won their first regional championship since 1986 with a 2-1 nine-inning victory over Grant on Saturday.

Michal also came up huge in the contest. Not only did she call a good game behind the plate, she had a one-out single in the ninth inning and later scored the winning run on a gapper by Anna Snyder.

"I could tell right away that it was going to drop," said Michal, who had two hits in the contest. "I just told myself not to fall, because, knowing my luck, that would happen."

Maybe her luck will change now. As Michal crossed the plate, she and Snyder were bombarded with green Silly String.

"That was a lot of fun," Snyder said of the Silly String. "I hadn't hit at all, so I was just waiting for that chance."

But, according to Selle, it was just the latest in a line of clutch hits for the sophomore.

"She's always coming up with these big hits," Selle said. "I always ask her if she has her spot picked and she definitely picked the right spot there."

The moment was even more satisfying, considering that Grayslake had loaded the bases with one out in the previous inning, but failed to plate the winning run. While squandering such an opportunity usually means a huge shift in momentum toward the other team, the Rams remained poised, according to Selle.

"We're 4-1 in extra innings this year, so we Grayslake, the No. 11 seed, scored early and often as the Rams defeated Libertyville 10-5 in the Lake Zurich Regional opener last Thursday.

"It was a great team victory," Grayslake coach Troy Whalen said. "We had 10 hits, six RBI with two outs and held Libertyville below its season average of 10 runs per game. Not a bad way to begin postseason play."

The Rams put the Cats on the ropes early as Micah Yarbrough (2-for-3, 3 RBI) smacked a three-run homer in the opening inning. The teams traded runs over the next two innings, with Grayslake holding a 6-5 lead when senior Matt Konczal replaced Yarbrough on the mound.

He proceeded to hold the Cats scoreless over the final five innings, walking one and fanning nine.

"Matt was simply awesome today," Whalen said. "He picked the right moment to pitch his best varsity game."

Rick Krajewski had a triple and two RBI and Pat Garvey and Matt Mulvaney each added run-scoring singles for the Rams.

However, Grayslake's season came to an end in its next game, a 12-3 loss to No. 4 Lake Zurich on Saturday. Down 3-0 in the third inning, the Rams tied the game on key hits from Garvey, Mulvaney, Yarbrough and Bobby Truckenbrod.

But the Bears outscored Grayslake 9-0 over the final four innings to earn the win and the regional title, ending the Rams' bid to win their first regional title since 1970.

"We threw four different pitchers at them and they hit all of them," said Whalen, whose team finished the season 16-20. "But this was our second straight year in the regional title game and you can't take the plaque unless to get there. We've clapped for another team two years in a row; it would be nice if someone could clap for us. And we return a lot of guys."

were't worried," Selle said. "The girls don't give up and they've always believed in themselves."

The Rams actually trailed 1-0 in the contest after Grant scored an unearned run in the fifth inning. First baseman Ashley Pugh was also hurt on the play after dislocating her finger. Her status for the rest of the postseason is uncertain.

"We knew we'd come back," Selle said. "We weren't going to lose on a play like that."

In fact, Grayslake answered back in the bottom of the inning to even the game after Christina Hughes ripped a triple and scored the tying run on a Snyder groundout.

The win improved the Rams' record to 25-9 and was their 16th in the last 17 games. They were scheduled to play Vernon Hills on Thursday in the Mundelein Regional Semifinal.

LIBERTYVILLE

Wildcats go down fighting

By Dan Patrick
Sports Reporter

The end has come, but what a ride it was for the Libertyville Wildcats' boys volleyball team. With a regional championship and an outstanding 32-6 final record, the Wildcats had little to be ashamed of after the tough 2-0 loss at the hands of Barrington.

The Buffalo Grove Sectional semifinal loss was closer than the final game count suggested as Libertyville bounced back from a hard 25-15 drubbing in the first game to lose 27-25 in the second game. Libertyville coach Steve Rochon has always spoken very highly of his team's ability to overcome adversity.

"We were talking about how resilient this group of kids is," Rochon said. "I wish I could say that that was me, but it's not. I'm doing a lot of the same kinds of things that I've done in years past, but these guys have simply believed it."

Even the team's previous win against a hard-charging Carmel Corsair team was played in a similar fashion. After trading games, Carmel jumped out to an early 10-2 lead before the Wildcats bounced back to take the game and the match to advance to the contest against Barrington. For Rochon, it was just more of the same as his team made a lifestyle out of digging themselves out of holes.

"We had Maine South at some point and were down to them in the championship tournament match and fought back in the same way," Rochon said. "It had to go all the way to 32-30 before we beat them and it was one of those things where we'd get a lead (and) they'd catch up, but these guys just believe in their heart that they can get it done."

The regional Carmel match-up was actually a rematch from an earlier bout less than two weeks prior to the playoffs. While Carmel was able to take that game, the Wildcats learned from their mistakes.

"We saw (Carmel) a week and a half ago and beat them soundly in game one...we really dictated the pace of game one," Rochon said. "We had them at 18-23 in game two and they go back to the service line and just fired off a bunch of great jump serves. We tried to play it a little bit safe...and all of a sudden we lost that one 26-28."

Aggression was the name of the game for Libertyville in their win. While it couldn't take them much deeper in the IHSA tournament, it certainly did make for some memorable moments.

'We were talking about how resilient this group of kids is. I wish I could say that that was me, but it's not. I'm doing a lot of the same kinds of things that I've done in years past, but these guys have simply believed it.'

Steve Rochon
Libertyville volleyball coach

"Luckily we learned our lesson and jumped on teams in the third game," Rochon said. "In the course of a very long season, you have these small lessons like that and at times like this at 2-10, they know they can come back."

Setter Jake Anderson, who proved to be an integral component in all of Libertyville's success this season, said the fear of the end was integral in the Carmel win. Unfortunately, playing an opponent like Barrington overpowered any sense of survival in that contest.

"There was a lot of uncertainty, we weren't ready for the season to be over, but in the back of everybody's mind, we thought 'We're down eight points, this is really rough,'" Anderson said. "Luckily it was really early in the game and we were able to take control of the match."

Anderson mastered trick sets that fooled the defense for numerous points over the course of the season. While the tactic became a Wildcat staple, opponents rarely seemed to catch up to the sneaky tactic.

"We went into the first match (against Carmel) thinking they might be vulnerable to that (dump sets) and that's something that

Boys' volleyball

The Wildcats boys volleyball team ended an impressive 2005 run with a 2-0 loss against the Barrington Broncos in the Buffalo Grove Sectional semifinal last Friday. Libertyville ended the season at 32-6 while Barrington improved to 29-2.

The Wildcats bounced back from a tough 25-15 beating in the first game. The second game was an out-and-out battle, with both teams constantly jockeying for position. Libertyville led 23-22 until the teams tied at 25 points, apiece. Unfortunately for the Wildcats, Barrington went on to score the next two points to take the game and the match.

Junior Jake Conrad and senior Ryan LaForce were the offensive stalwarts for Libertyville as they each scored 5 kills while senior Terry Hanlon added four kills of his own. Setter Jake Anderson finished the game with 15 assists. On the defensive side, senior Ryan Wood and Conrad added 5 and 4 digs, respectively and Elliot San had 3 blocks.

Conrad and LaForce's efforts did not go unrecognized as both players were named to the All-North Suburban Conference first team. They weren't the sole Libertyville members as Hanlon and Anderson were named as Honorable Mentions.

Boys' track and field

A large contingent of Wildcats represented Libertyville at the IHSA state track meet last weekend. Five Wildcats qualified in individual events while the 4x800-meter team also qualified. Unfortunately, none of the Libertyville athletes made it to the second day. Logan Meyer went an even 13-feet in the pole vault, Ryan Castle jumped 6'0" in the high jump and Max Bellmore also cleared 6'0" in the high jump to round out the field events.

Jack Howard managed a 1:57.50 time in the 800-meter run while Alex Mayer got a 50.54 time in the 400-meter dash. The 4x800 team of Jon Valdez, Brian Paplaski, Josh Schweigert and Tim Taylor managed a 8:24.38 time, but also failed to advance to the finals.

(Anderson)'s very good at it," Rochon said. "Maybe Jake is just that good in being able to hide it. I think two teams that can really come out with some aggressive attacks tend to go for that sort of attack and that can play to your advantage when it is time to tip."

The season might be over, but Rochon's team certainly proved their mantra throughout the season. While the team locked horns with many of the state's best programs, the Wildcats never went out without a fight.

"This is something that they can get done, there's nobody that they can't play with, I honestly believe that," Rochon said. "We've seen some of the best teams in the state and they're so resilient and we've seen them come back against some really good teams."

What allowed the Wildcats to be so competitive was a point-by-point philosophy that never allowed the players to grow lax in any situation.

"There is no such thing (as too easy)," Rochon said. "What we have preached is this idea of coming back with a zero-zero mentality, coming back out aggressive, especially against quality teams."

Unlikely hero carries Mustangs

By Dan Patrick
Sports Reporter

Success just isn't enough for some coaches. No matter what the score is, regardless if another win has been put in the team's column, some coaches just aren't satisfied with a simple 'W.' It might be hard to deal with, but for the members of such teams, these sort of coaches can also be the best.

One such coach is Mundelein's Todd Parola. After the Mustangs thoroughly demolished the Grant Bulldogs 7-2 last Wednesday, Parola looked past the scoreboard and saw numerous holes within his team's game plan.

"I was hoping we would play a little better than what we did," Parola said. "I thought we had some holes in our lineup today. We didn't look real sharp, Kevin (Sashko) did enough, but too many walks (5), that's kind of uncharacteristic for him but he found a way to get it done. Bottom line is that we advanced and now it's a matter of getting to the next game."

Parola's main beef with the emphatic win was simply the team's attitude within the game. While the end result might have been a success, Parola believed a lax approach could be damaging later in the IHSA tournament.

"I'm not real happy with how they've reacted, I thought we could have reacted a little better," Parola said. "I don't know if we were nervous, but the seniors have been out of school for a week now, I don't know if they're lethargic or what the case may be, but we need to play better."

A win is a win, but Parola was worried by the victory simply because of his opponent's unpredictable nature. Such opponents can always be trouble on the playing field as no coach, no matter how good, and no game plan, no matter how well thought out can be vulnerable.

"No doubt about it, Grant has had some unusual scores, they've had some nice wins," Parola said. "Baseball is a crazy game, a lot of crazy things can happen and they've been playing better at the end of the year, they had a nice win over Zion last week, but fortunately, we played just well enough to win."

The Mustangs have seemingly hit their

'I was hoping (Mundelein would peak), but today (Wednesday) proves that we have to get better. Either we get it done or we don't.'

Todd Parola
Mundelein baseball coach

stride in the last portion of the 2005 campaign as they are in the midst of a nine-game winning streak. Again, there were improvements to be made in Parola's eyes, especially as the quality of opponents improve deeper into the tournament.

"We've played pretty well in the last month of the season, we've thrown strikes but we didn't do a good job today," Parola said. "We had some real quality at-bats up and down the lineup, but we had some holes in the lineup, but defensively, we've been real solid. Today, we had some miscues that could have cost us."

Within the Grant game, Mundelein found an unlikely hero in junior Brian Betti. After serving as a backup for the majority of the season, Betti rose to the challenge in the regional game. During the game against the Bulldogs, Betti came up big with a two-run home run. All in all, the junior finished 2-for-3 with two runs and two RBI.

"(Betti) hasn't played a whole lot, we actually made some changes in the lineup, he was kind of a late add, but he's had some good at-bats for us," Parola said. "He's been hitting the ball real well in BP (batting practice) and with the left-handed pitcher, I thought it was a good opportunity to get him in the line-up."

The reason Betti was brought into the line-up because the team had trouble facing Grant's lefty hurler Kyle Kapusta. Betti's opportune homer gave the Mustangs the 4-0 lead - an advantage the Mustangs would ride all the way to the regional championship.

"You've got to give that Grant pitcher (Kapusta) some credit because he made us look silly a few times today," Parola said.

The playoffs are a time when every team must bring its best because the end is waiting just around the corner for each squad. Hopefully the Mundelein Mustangs will do a better job at rising to the occasion in their

The Mustangs secured a 5-2 victory against the Antioch Sequoits in the regional final last Saturday. The win marked the first time in school history that Mundelein won both the conference and regional championship in the same season. The victory also improved the Mustangs to 26-10 overall in the season.

The win came off of big sixth inning with the score knotted at 2-2. The big run began when slugger Matt Tye was intentionally walked. With Tye on first, Steve Tonsul came up with a clutch triple to bring Tye in to home. Tonsul himself then scored on a passed ball.

Tye pitched a complete game en route to the win and gave up only two hits in the final four innings after starting out poorly, giving up six hits in the first three stanzas.

Softball

While the season might be over after a huge upset at the hands of the Grant Bulldogs, some Mundelein softball team members were recognized for their efforts as a part of the All-North Suburban Conference team. Seniors Ana Antonetti and Megan Curry joined sophomore Lauren Ott and junior Christine Scott on the All-NSC First Team. The foursome weren't the only Mustangs represented as sophomores Katie Scott and Erica Harris were named as Honorable Mentions.

Boys' Volleyball

Four Mundelein players caught the eyes of North Suburban Conference coaches as the Mustangs had a large presence on the 2005 All-NSC team. Seniors Mike Harrington and Nick Horndasch were named as First Team selections while junior Warren Lenz and sophomore Ryan Sullivan were named as Honorable Mentions.

Boys' track and field

Vince Hahn was the sole Mustang representative at last weekend's IHSA boys state track and field meet. The senior discus thrower put up an impressive 158-foot-2-inch throw, good for a fourth place finish in his heat, but was unable to advance to the finals.

coach's eyes as they move deeper into the tournament.

"I was hoping (Mundelein would peak), but today (Wednesday) proves that we have to get better," Parola said. "Either we get it done or we don't."

Say what you will about a good old-fashioned coach. As for Parola and the rest of the Mundelein Mustang baseball team, the proof remains in the pudding as the team has gone on to win the Antioch Regional championship, beating the host Sequoits 5-2 to clinch the title. At 26-10, both Parola and his players certainly have done something right.

ROUND LAKE

No regrets for Hughes, Panthers

Round Lake High School's Jim Schwarz, swings at the ball to get a hit, while Round Lake plays against Antioch High School.

By Dan Patrick
Sports Reporter

Ups and downs, smiles and frowns — that's the way it's been for the Round Lake Panther baseball team for the last few years. Now that the 2005 season has come and gone, it seems as though the roller coaster that is Panthers sports is a long way from ending.

After beginning the season with seemingly unending optimism, Panther coach Howard Conkling's hopes for a stellar season on the Round Lake baseball diamond were all for naught. The team's single-digit winning total is a long way away from what many were expecting for the Round Lake team. Everything from discipline problems to just plain bad luck has plagued the Panthers throughout the year. However, Conkling did find some refuge in his team's ability to simply keep on fighting.

"We have definitely struggled over the course of the season," Conkling said. "We had some discipline things happen and the team's had to fight a little adversity here and there, but they've hung in there, not a whole lot of complaints."

In the Panthers' regional game against Antioch last Thursday, Round Lake's play belied their ailing win total. With the exception of a tough six-run fourth inning, the Panthers shut out the hosting Sequoits and managed to put up two runs of their own. Conkling was happy with the amount of players his team was able to put on base, it was just bringing them in that proved to be the problem.

"We had our chances, we had some guys on base, we should have got some runs in," Conkling said. "We had the bases loaded a couple of times, but we didn't get any runners in. They had hits at the right time and we didn't hit when we should have at the right time."

While the fourth inning was downright ugly for the Panther faithful, Conkling was relatively pleased with the effort his team put forth for the contest. However, coaches like Conkling put little weight to moral victories as Conkling was unhappy with his team's inability to drive baserunners in.

"We kept battling but a loss is a loss," Conkling said. "It's one and done now. We're done for the year, so I guess that's what you can take from it. You've got to give Antioch credit, they got the hits at the right time and we had opportunities, we just didn't get it done."

'It always hurts when you lose and you've got guys in scoring position and you can't bring them in. It eats at you for a while, but it's the game of baseball, it happens.'

Mike Hughes
Round Lake senior catcher

Senior All-North Suburban Conference player Mike Hughes found his team's lack of opportune RBI especially stinging as it marked the end of his high school career. While Hughes and his cohorts were able to put up four hits, it just wasn't enough to overtake Antioch and preserve his high school career.

"It always hurts when you lose and you've got guys in scoring position and you can't bring them in," Hughes said. "It eats at you for a while, but it's the game of baseball, it happens."

One constant bright spot in the Round Lake roster was Hughes' play. Hughes batted an unbelievable .500 average throughout the season and is now choosing between Carthage and Elmhurst Colleges for the next stop in his already bright baseball career.

According to Conkling, the ability to coach a special talent such as Hughes makes any season, regardless of the wins and losses, a worthwhile one. Hughes, who has been a staple on the Panthers varsity roster since he was a freshman, has been impressive throughout his career in a Round Lake jersey.

"When you're able to coach a kid like Mike Hughes, who played three years for me and has had a tremendous year, it's fun," Conkling said. "Win or lose, it's fun, especially when you have good kids."

Round Up

Baseball

The Panthers just couldn't get it done despite solid play in the Antioch Regional against the Antioch Sequoits in a 6-2 loss last Thursday. With the exception of a tough six-run fourth inning, Round Lake's pitcher Brian Mendralla kept the Sequoits scoreless in the game. As a result of the inning, Mendralla gave up 11 hits in the game. The coaching staff blamed the loss on a lack of run support.

"He (Mendralla) has been pitching really well for us," Round Lake coach Howard Conkling said. "You'd like to think we could get a few more runs for him too."

The Panthers' two runs were split amongst the fourth and the fifth innings, but the team failed to capitalize on bases loaded opportunities in two innings. Antioch's offense came on the backs of Nate Hughes, Chadd Ori and Justin Brown. Hughes went 4-for-4 while Ori and Brown drove in two runs apiece.

"You've got to give Antioch credit, they got hits at the right time," Conkling said. "We had opportunities, we just couldn't get it done."

Softball

After another tough season, there is a bright spot for the Round Lake Panthers softball team. Senior pitcher Megan Henry was named as an Honorable Mention in the North Suburban Conference All-Conference team. Henry was the lone Panther to make it onto the list.

Hughes found the loss especially difficult as the high school chapter of his illustrious baseball career has now ended, but, as with most players of his caliber, it's just a stepping stone to bigger and better things in college competition.

"Baseball's my love and to have to walk away from it, it's hard," Hughes said. "It's got to end sometime and I'll pick it up next year in college."

The Round Lake roller coaster certainly took hold of the senior as he pounded his way to the top of the Panthers lineup early in his varsity career. The numerous losses have been tough, but the young man has been given an attribute few men of his age have — the ability to put it all into context.

"No regrets, not at all," Hughes said. "I enjoyed every minute of it. There were some ups and downs, but that's going to happen anywhere."

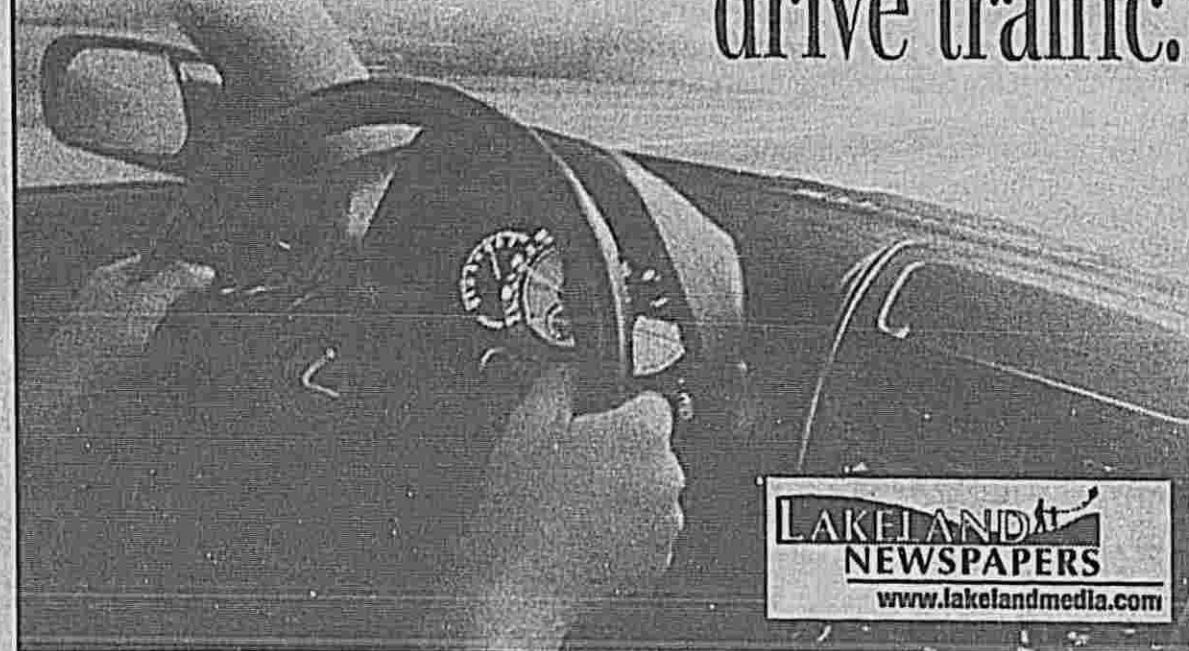

Wins and losses are nothing but numbers, and while Hughes and his teammates certainly had more L's than W's, the All-Star will certainly never forget one stat: the number of friends he's made.

"It's a great bunch of guys and I enjoyed being with them," Hughes said. "It's just a shame that it has to come to an end. I'm definitely going to miss it all."

Devils close out record season

By Rob Backus

Sports Editor

When it comes to professional sports, one simply needs to follow the money when looking for the most storied franchises. The New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox in Major League Baseball, the Dallas Cowboys and San Francisco 49'ers in the NFL and the Los Angeles Lakers in the NBA are just some of the teams that have used astronomically high payrolls to compete for titles.

The same could even be said for collegiate athletics, where the big teams use multi-million dollar recruiting budgets to land the nation's best amateur players.

High school sports are supposed to be different, but when it comes to tennis, money still talks. New Trier, Lake Forest, Deerfield and Highland Park are just a few of the wealthier high schools that contend for a state title just about every year.

While Warren certainly isn't considered financially poor, it isn't exactly rich, either. For several years, Warren coach has been trying to get his team over the hump to become one of the state's elite teams.

'Sometimes you don't need money, just hard work and dedication. Usually it's all the rich kids who win, so it's nice to come from this place where no one expects anything and do something on par with them.'

Karol Kocemba

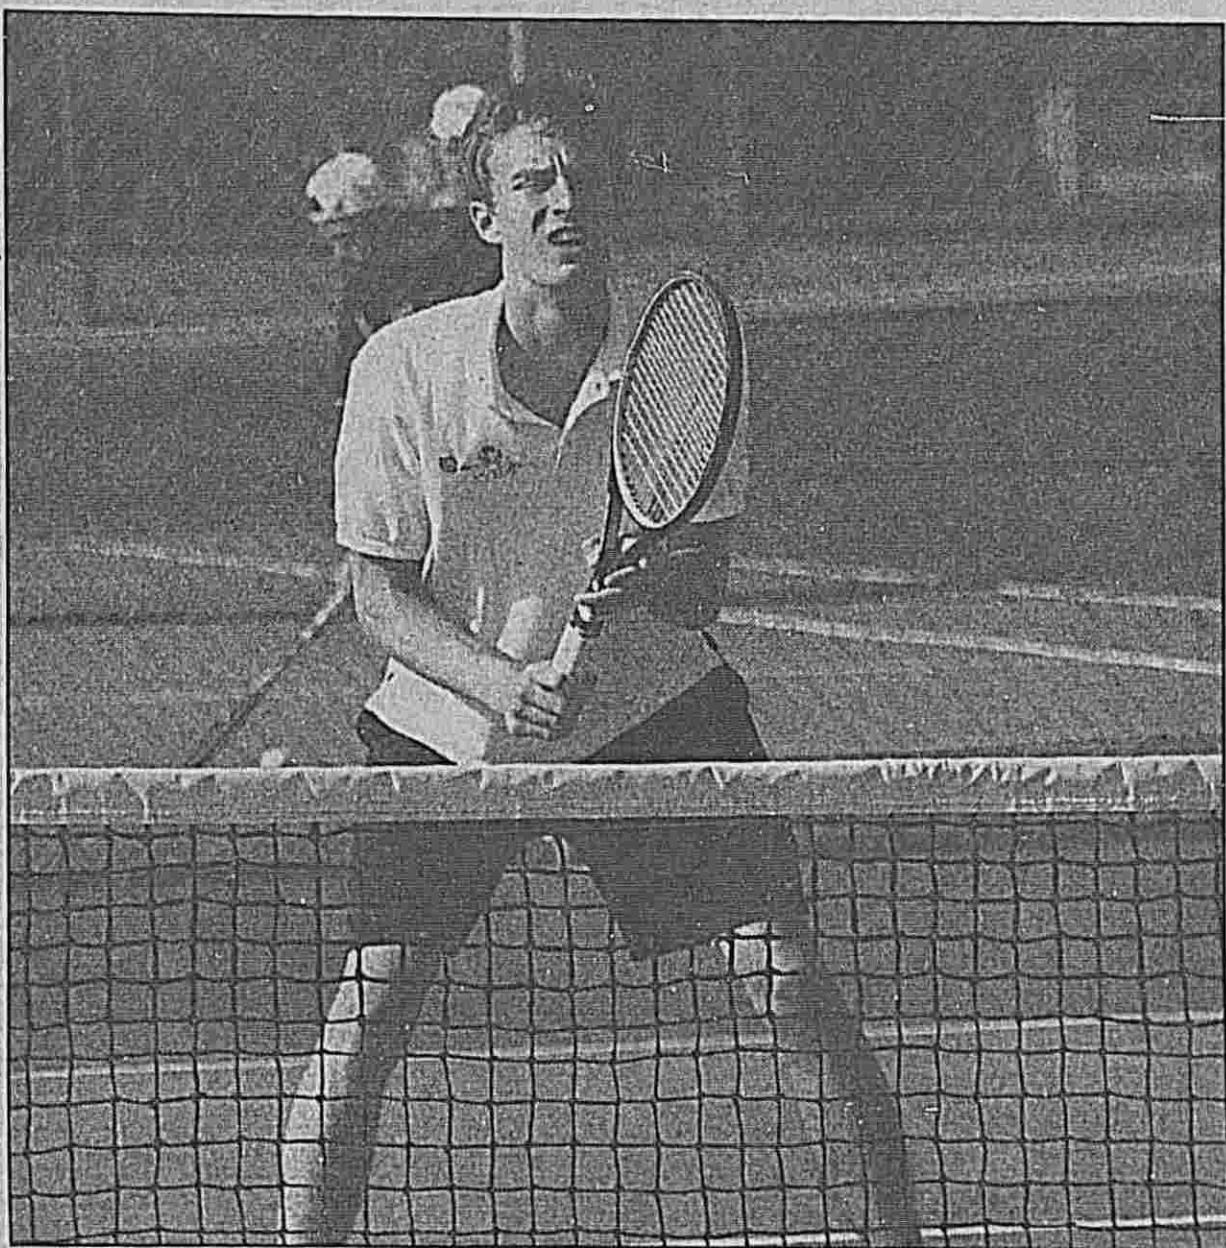

Warren senior doubles player

He's come close in the past, with a pair of top-20 finishes to his credit. Although he knew this season could bring some big things, he also knew his unproven players would have to prove it on the court. Even when the Devils roared through the regular season, he remained cautiously optimistic, knowing his team still had the sectional and state tournaments as potential stumbling blocks.

It would appear now that his subdued confidence in his team was justified, as Warren had its best ever showing at last weekend's state tournament. The Devils finished in a three-way tie for sixth place with 23 team points, and just one point out of third place and a trophy. As an added bonus, the team tied with rival Lake Forest.

"Sometimes you don't need money, just hard work and dedication," senior Karol Kocemba said. "Usually it's all the rich kids who win, so it's nice to come from this place where no one expects anything and do something on par with them."

Kocemba was a big part of Warren's finish.

Warren Township High School's Karol Kocemba waits for the serve during No. 1 doubles competition against Stevenson. Kocemba and partner Brian Silverstein finished in the top 32 in last weekend's boys state tennis meet.

He, along with doubles partner Brian Silverstein, earned four points for the Devils by winning a pair of matches in the top draw. Although they lost their next two matches, they still finished in the top-32.

"It was the same as last year (with former partner Jeff Nevolo)," Kocemba said. "We had close matches in both losses, and we were right there for All-State (top 16). Luck just wasn't on our side."

Warren's other doubles team, Mike Park and Dan Blaul, also won a pair of matches and gave Warren three points with a top-64 finish.

"I wasn't even sure I'd make varsity the last two years, but we were really able to accomplish something," said Park, a senior. "Every goal was accomplished except for All-State. But we feel like we proved ourselves for the first time as a team. It was a great season."

It was especially gratifying for Cohen to see his doubles players perform at the highest level, as they had been overlooked by many throughout the season.

"I'm very proud that doubles was able to compete at the highest level," Cohen said. "They're not nationally ranked players, but they've evolved into excellent varsity players."

Without their points, we would have finished in the 20's."

Unlike past seasons, when Warren's best finishes were in the doubles draw, the Devils' dynamic duo of freshman Dennis Nevolo and junior Keith Moran came up big, earning 16 points between them.

Nevolo roared through the first three rounds, but lost a tough three-setter to Glenbrook North's Eric Spector, who finished in the top eight. He then won a match in the consolation draw before falling in the seventh round.

"He had a season that should whet his appetite for the next three years," Cohen said. "He's a phenomenal player."

While Nevolo came in with much fanfare, Moran flew in under the radar and faced a tough time to even make it to state. In the sectional seeding meeting, Cohen had to battle to even get him a top-4 seed. But after the junior finished seventh in the state, it looks like Cohen made the right call.

"At two points during the tournament, I went up to him and thanked him because I stuck my neck out at the seeding meeting," Cohen said. "You could see he was always

Baseball

Warren opened the postseason with a convincing win over Zion-Benton, 12-2 in five innings last Thursday. Kevin Pollard went 3-for-3 with five RBI, Mark Mirretti went 3-for-4 and Nick Zupec with 3-for-3, while Mario Perez gave up two runs on three hits and four walks, while fanning five.

"We played the type of complete game we've been looking for," Warren coach Dar Townsend said. "We had good pitching and the defense and offense really stepped up."

However, the team's season ended two days later with a 4-2 loss to Stevenson on Saturday. The Devils managed little offensively against Stevenson pitcher Elie Schwartz, who allowed just four hits in 7 1/3 innings.

"He kept us off-balance, and we didn't hit the ball very hard," said Townsend, whose team finished 18-12. "They also made some good plays in the field. Our kids (Andrew Wolcott and Adam Worthington) pitched well, they just took advantage of too many walks."

Boys' volleyball

The North Suburban All-Conference team was announced and junior defensive specialist Mike Emerick and senior setter Jason Drake were both first-team selections.

capable of something like this, if he was able to control his emotions. And he was in a great place emotionally this weekend."

"I feel really good right now," Moran said. "It will be pretty cool to get my picture on the wall."

Now, the returning Devils will shift their focus to next season, and their goal of the school's first team trophy.

"We're already thinking about next year," Moran said. "Our goal is to win state."

And with Moran, Nevolo and Blaul as returning state qualifiers, combining with strong underclassmen and incoming nationally ranked freshman Denis Bogatov, Cohen feels his team can compete for a state title.

"I think we'll be even better next year," Cohen said. "We have seven or eight players fighting for two spots and the competition will be fierce from now until April. Our goal from now on is getting a trophy."

Bulldogs continue to grow

By Dan Patrick

Sports Reporter

The value of a team is often judged by its wins and losses, but for some teams, the wins just can't seem to come en masse. With a 7-23-1 final record, the casual observer would think Wauconda's 2005 campaign was a complete bust. But when last season's 2-28 record is taken into consideration, the prognosis gets a lot brighter.

Bulldog slugger Amanda Nance was pleased with the steps her team has taken since last year. Nance said Wauconda's formula for improvement was contained within team chemistry.

"I think we did fairly well, we've improved since last year," Nance said. "I'm a lot happier with our team this year, we worked a lot better as a team... Last year we weren't as close and I think that made a difference for us."

Overall, coach Tim Rennels also saw his Bulldogs make significant strides, but he was disappointed Wauconda could not have taken more contests.

"I think we progressed from where we were last year because we only won two games," Rennels said. "But I think we could have come a lot further, it was definitely like our girls weren't playing up to their potential as a team. We should have won more than 10 games."

Rennels didn't make his preseason goal of at least ten wins, but there were individual bright spots peppered amongst the Wauconda ranks. Nance, an All-North Suburban Conference player, was quite a formidable weapon for the Bulldogs while Jenny Matesi served as Nance's sidekick.

Amanda Nance
Wauconda junior first baseman

"Offensively Amanda Nance led the ball club in batting with a .301 average," Rennels said. "She played in every game and she only struck out twice, she was All-Conference. Jenny Matesi was an honorable mention with a leadoff left-hander. She finished with two homers and a .263 batting average."

Wauconda wasn't all offense with hurler Beth Eklund halting opponents' offensive output. According to Rennels, Eklund's supporting cast did not provide the ace with needed help to get her more wins.

"The pitching stalwart was Beth Eklund, she had a 1.88 ERA with 74 strikeouts and only 18 walks," Rennels said. "She was doing her job, but the defense behind her was not doing theirs."

Nance and Matesi put up a lot of runs for the Wauconda Bulldogs, but a lack of opportunity hits often plagued the squad. Nance said the lack of clutch hitting was due to a general lack of confidence rather than any lack of talent.

"I think that's more mental," Nance said. "We have to fight to stay tough in there. We break down and we're not as tough as we should be. When the game's on the line and we need a hit, we would think we were going to strike out. We need to start thinking better, we have the ability, we're just not as mentally tough as we should be."

It wasn't just the timing of the hits that annoyed Wauconda's skipper, it was also the lack of strength behind those hits. Extra-base hits were a rarity for the Bulldogs and Rennels intends to aid this problem before the start of next season.

"We're a very light hitting ballclub, we didn't get the power that we wanted," Rennels said. "We need to work on being a smarter hitter and pitch selection. We need to generate more offense, we lost a bunch of close games because we couldn't come up with the hits when we needed them."

Tripling the amount of wins can definitely be classified as progress, but Rennels and

RoundUp

Baseball

The end of the line has come for the 2005 Wauconda Bulldogs baseball team. The season ended after a 3-1 loss against the host Lake Zurich last Wednesday. Lake Zurich was heavily favored in the contest, as the team carried a No. 4 ranking into the game. While the Bulldogs were able to keep it close, the team could not find a way to advance in the tournament.

Softball

The Bulldogs softball team had a relatively large number of players representing Wauconda in the North Suburban Conference All-Conference team. Sophomore pitcher Beth Eklund and junior first baseman Amanda Nance made the First Team. Eklund and Nance weren't alone as senior pitcher Jenny Matesi also made the prestigious list as an Honorable Mention.

Boys' track and field

If there was ever a strength for the Wauconda track team, it was hurdler Kris Gehrke. The junior Bulldog certainly proved his worth as he qualified for the IHSAA State Track and Field Meet in both the 110-meter high hurdles and 300-meter low hurdles events.

Gehrke ran a 15.35-second time in the 110-meter race, good for an eighth place finish in his preliminary heat, but did not crack the qualification for the second day of competition. Gehrke's best shot for the second day was in the 300-meter race as he finished in fourth place in his heat with a 40.09-second time, but again did not make the cut.

Nance both believe further success can be found in participation in off-season leagues. Rennels said the number of his players playing softball in the summer has grown quite a bit since he began his tenure, but further work is still needed.

"When I started out six years ago, we only had one girl participating in summer ball," Rennels said. "We had 11 of 15 playing summer ball to get ready for last spring had played summer ball. It did show, we showed some glimmers of being very solid, it's just doing it consistently and not giving up extra outs."

Nance said her teammates are committed to their coach's beliefs that summer softball will bring more wins to the team. However, there are external problems standing in their way.

"You get a lot more practice time, games and experience," Nance said. "The people who played summer ball had the most improvement by far but some girls have jobs and don't have the money for it. We try to get them to play summer ball, but some don't have the will or the means to play summer ball."

Luckily, there is a large contingent of players who have the time to soak in Rennels' teachings and learn from practice both in the spring and summer as youth is a staple of the Wauconda lineup. With time and a little massaging, the Bulldogs could become a Lake County power in a few seasons.

"Our team is definitely growing," Rennels said. "We had a strong sophomore battery with girls like Kelly Reynolds and we'll have most of our lineup back next season. Amelia Jenkins is a freshman who played a number of positions for us and I'm sure she will grow into a starting role in the future."

Bulldogs surpass all expectations

By Rob Backus

Sports Editor

They say the third time's a charm, and Waukegan coach Shane Schueneman would have to agree. With a combined nine wins in his first two seasons, Schueneman knew his team would fare a little better, but even he didn't expect this.

Heading down the stretch of the regular season, Waukegan was 13-6. Despite dropping nine of their last 10 contests, including a 1-0 loss to Lake Forest in last Wednesday's regional opener, the Bulldogs still managed to finish 14-15, giving the team double-digit wins for the first time in several years.

"I knew we'd be okay, but I didn't know what to expect because we were so young," Schueneman said. "I thought if we had decent pitching and if we could play defense, we could be in some games. But the wins just kept coming. It was a very good year."

Schueneman feels the biggest reason for his team's improvement was the newly formed travel softball team, which gave his players an extra 40 games of experience last summer. And this year will be no different as Waukegan will play 75 games this year from March through July.

Senior catcher Nicole Holland, a three-year varsity starter, has experienced both the highs and the lows of Waukegan softball. And this season has been a breath of fresh air for her.

"It's been so amazing," said Holland, who will attend Lakeland College in Sheboygan, Wis. next year. "This is the best experience I've had in high school. There's not a single individual on the team; we all worked together. I love every girl on the team."

And the rest of the Bulldogs certainly loved Holland, a two-year captain and two-time team MVP. She led the team in hitting, RBI, walks, triples and slugging and earned her second straight All-Central Suburban League selection.

"It's going to be tough to lose Nicole," Schueneman said. "The kids all looked up to her and she's been our leader the last two years. She did a phenomenal job leading on and off the field."

Holland's battery mate, freshman Niko O'Neal, was also a big part of the team's success, giving Waukegan its first steady pitcher in several years.

'I knew we'd be okay, but I didn't know what to expect because we were so young. I thought if we had decent pitching and if we could play defense, we could be in some games. But the wins just kept coming. It was a very good year.'

Shane Schueneman
Waukegan softball coach

"Niko did a great job," Holland said. "She was always trying to improve; I loved having her on the mound. She really understood the concept of the game."

O'Neal finished the season 12-8 with a save, and had a 2.41 ERA with 142 strikeouts against just 22 walks. Of course, after 128 innings the freshman ran out of gas, one of the reasons Waukegan struggled down the stretch.

"My arm started to get tired at the end," O'Neal said. "I'm not used to throwing that many innings. But I think it will make me stronger for next year."

Schueneman also praised the play of Shavonne Ross and Haley Krueger, both of whom were All-CSL selections, and the Colver sisters, Liz and Katie.

RoundUp

Boys' track and field

Waukegan sophomore Darren Patterson was less than one-tenth of a second from earning a spot in the 200-meter dash finals in last weekend's Boys State Track and Field Meet at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston. He ran a time of 22.23 seconds, and the final spot went to Bloom's Aaron Lowe with a time of 22.16.

Senior Joe Leccesi was just inches from qualifying for the shot put finals. He had a 52-foot, 2 3/4-inch throw and Lincoln-Way East's Adam Gettis earned the 12th and final spot at 52 feet, 5 1/4 inches.

"Shavonne and Haley both played short-stop their whole lives, but I had a hole in the outfield that I had to fill," Schueneman said. "Halfway through the season I moved Haley to the outfield and put Shavonne at short and they both did great jobs. And they were both very good at the plate."

"Katie gave us pretty good defense and a lot of leadership and Liz was second on the team in hitting. She had a rough go in the infield, but she'll grow into it. I'm expecting big things from her."

He also has high hopes for the entire team next year as Waukegan loses just three players, Holland, Katie Colver and outfielder Chaneil Buckingham.

"We're going to be that much stronger next year," Schueneman said. "We're playing 75 more games this year, and the more games the girls play, the better they'll get. We took a big step forward this year, and I think we'll take another one next year. Our future is definitely looking bright."

O'Neal agrees.

"This year was really fun, but I'm already looking forward to next year," O'Neal said. "We lost some good players, but we have a lot coming back."

COLLEGE OF LAKE COUNTY

Lancers' baseball, softball standouts honored

By Rob Backus

Sports Editor

It was a season to remember on both diamonds at the College of Lake County. The baseball team won 30 games and made its first appearance in the Region IV finals in four years in Cory Domel's first year at the helm.

"Without a doubt, it was a successful season," Domel said. "And we have some solid things to build on. The sophomores stepped up as needed, but the freshmen really did the job. And they're going to be hungry next year."

No freshman came up bigger than first baseman Jason Acevedo, who hit an impressive .455, with seven homeruns, 23 doubles, 37 runs scored and 58 RBI. His RBI total was 10th in the nation for Div. II schools, and his average was 17th.

up huge all season, and was named first-team All-Conference and first team All-Region. He was also given the team's Hustle Award after hitting .400 for the Lancers, with 42 runs, 27 RBI and a team-high 19 steals.

Mike O'Leary, also a freshman, was second team All-Conference after going 5-4 with a 4.36 ERA and 44 strikeouts in 56 2/3 innings. Sophomore Alex Gavlick was given the team's Spirit Award.

Although several players will move on, Domel feels confident his team can better this year's performance with a run at the Region IV title next year.

"We're definitely looking forward to next year," Domel said. "The guys are chomping at the bit. We're hoping for 30-plus wins, a Skyway title and making a run at the Region IV title."

The Lancers will have incoming help, as Antioch's Chadd Ori and Mike Fuchs, Stevenson's Brandon Marks and Lake Forest's Danny Wolff and Kevin Kneesley all plan to play for CLC next year.

The softball team also reached the Region IV finals, taking third. The team finished 34-17 overall and took second in the Skyway with a 10-4 mark. Perhaps most importantly, the Lancers topped the previous single-season win total of 33, set in 1991 and equaled in '94, and also easily surpassed the two-year record win total of 55, set in 1990-91; finishing with 64 wins over the past two seasons.

"I'll remember this as one of the best teams I've ever been associated with," CLC coach Sue Garcia said. "It was a fun ride. They did all the work, I just went with them."

Sophomore Kristin Lancaster led the way throughout, with a .440 average, 46 runs scored and 44 RBI. She was first-team All-Conference and All-State and was named the school's Spring Athlete of the Season.

"She just crushed the ball all season," Garcia said. "Her numbers speak for themselves."

Natalie Young (.406, 34 runs, 31 RBI) was also first-team All-Conference and All-State and earned her second straight Golden Glove award at last month's team banquet.

"It was a no-brainer (the Golden Glove)," Garcia said. "She made spectacular catches I don't think any other area shortstop could have made."

Sadye McGrath was second-team All-Conference and All-State, Kelly Wells was first-team All-Conference, Megan Mitchell was second-team All-Conference, Brittany Behrendt was named the team's Most Improved Player and Megan Gerken earned CLC's Rookie of the Year award.

John 'Art' Sundin

Age 84 of Lake Villa, passed away Friday May 27, 2005 at his home. Born in Chicago, the son of the late John Alvin and Gertrude "Gerda" Sundin. He served in the U.S. Army during World War II and was awarded the Purple Heart Medal. He was a member of the VFW Post 4308 of Lake Villa and a former member of the Swedish Glee Club of Waukegan. Before his retirement, Art owned and operated a service station in Zion, and was a truck driver for United Oil Co.

Survivors include his friend and former wife Joyce "Jo" of Lake Villa; a daughter Robin (Frank) Ceplawskes of Lake Villa; a sister; two grandchildren; and a great-granddaughter. In addition to his parents, he is preceded in death by a brother.

A funeral service was held at noon, June 1, at the Strang Funeral Home of Antioch, with visitation beginning at 10 a.m. Interment was in Liberty Cemetery, Salem, Wis. In lieu of flowers donations to the family appreciated.

William J. Meyer, Jr.

A resident of Antioch passed away Friday May 27, 2005 at Hillcrest Nursing Center in Round Lake Beach at the age of 77. He was born in Evanston, to the late William and Judith (nee Bohman) Meyer. He was a member of the Antioch Moose Lodge and served during World War II for the U.S. Navy.

William is survived by his son William (Linda) Meyer III of Antioch; a daughter Sally (Richard) Good of Antioch; his grandchildren; his great-grandchildren; and a sister. He is preceded in death by his wife Elizabeth "Jane" (nee: Nelson); his parents, a brother and two sisters.

A memorial service was held at the Fox Lake Volunteer Fire Dept. Bingo Hall, 114 Washington St., Ingleside, IL 60041 on Friday June 3, 2005 at 5 p.m. Memorials may be made to the Fox Lake Fire & Rescue Squad. All funeral arrangements were entrusted to Strang Funeral Chapel & Crematorium in Grayslake.

Elbert L. Weathers

A resident of Lake Villa passed away Saturday May 28, 2005 at Condell Medical Center in Libertyville at the age of 90. He was born in Hillsboro, to the late Elbert and Gertrude Weathers. Elbert was a resident of Lake County for over 56 years and a retiree from the civil service of Great Lakes Naval Base. He served in the Army Air corps during World War II in the South Pacific, and spent most of his remaining years on his family's genealogy.

Elbert is survived by his daughters Sharon (Jerry) Motter, Lois (Reece) Cantrell, and Terri Schaps, his grandchildren; his great-grandchildren; and his three nephews and one niece. He is preceded in death by his parents, his wife, Grace (nee: Adkisson); a brother, and a sister.

A funeral service was held June 1, at 1 p.m. at Strang Funeral Chapel & Crematorium, in Grayslake. Interment was held immediately after the service at Highland Memorial Park Cemetery in Libertyville. Friends of the family visited on May 31, from 4 to 8 p.m. at the funeral chapel.

NORTHERN LAKE COUNTY

Restaurants

Consider these fine restaurants for Anniversaries, Birthdays, Office Luncheons or Anytime!

This Week's Feature:

Located just one block away from the newly restored Genesee Theater, Madison Ave. is housed in one of Waukegan's oldest buildings. Erected in the late 1890's by the Herman family, the original facility was a restaurant/tavern call "Harbor Inns", and included two floors of apartments. Current owners Marilyn Eccles and her son Kevin, joined forces in 1984, (along with another son, Kit, in the original plan), and bought the business, which by then had changed ownership and names a couple of times. They chose the name "Madison Avenue", because it was a name common to the family. Marilyn previously lived in New York. Kevin previously managed bars in the Concourse Hotel in Madison, WI. Also, the Waukegan building was located on the corner of Madison St. and Sheridan Rd. Madison Avenue is Waukegan's only fine dining room that combines excellent food, with floor-to-ceiling windows, assuring a Lake Michigan view from every table. "The only thing they overlook is the Lake".

The only thing we overlook is the lake!

Pet OF THE WEEK

BAILEY AND ZIMBA

A mother and son duo ready to keep you well-loved and entertained! Mom, Zimba (black), can definitely outrun her son and can often be found softly body-slaming her son to get him to chase her. Sometimes it works, sometimes it doesn't...well Bailey does carry a little bit too much weight, so he feels that it is wise occasionally to ignore her. Instead he happily plops himself in the pool and watches her run around, much more relaxing. They both get along with dogs and cats and would do well with older children. They would love a fenced-in yard, and although Bailey probably doesn't want to hear it, a little bit of a diet would do him good. Zimba (about 10 years old) and Bailey (about 7) need a home together. Don't let their age fool you, they are much more active than some of the middle-aged dogs!

HOROSCOPE

ARIES - Mar 21/Apr 20
Don't let an altercation with an acquaintance ruin your good mood early this week, Aries. This person is just having a bad day and is taking his or her frustrations out on you.

TAURUS - Apr 21/May 21
You must be determined if you are to get anything done this week, Taurus. Those around you will commend your diligence, should you succeed. Push through minor setbacks.

GEMINI - May 22/Jun 21
Be patient this week while you wait for a close friend to answer an important question. Don't force the issue or you may end up with an answer you don't want.

CANCER - Jun 22/Jul 22
Someone gets you tangled up in a mess, Cancer. Use your smarts to pull yourself out of this trouble ... and fast. You'll learn from your mistake with this situation.

LEO - Jul 23/Aug 23
Don't back down from a challenge come the end of the week. Take charge of the situation, Leo, as you know best how to do. Expect interference from close friends.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22
A lot of people are depending on you, Virgo, as usual, but this time you just can't possibly deliver. It's OK to put yourself first for once.
The others will have to understand.

SALUTING CARMEL HIGH SCHOOL'S CLASS OF 2005

About the cover:

Another Lakeland construction season is peaking this month, meaning that hundreds of families are either building or buying homes and scores of builders and developers are wearing their hardhats on an overtime basis. A banner year or close is predicted for 2005 building. Continually escalating land costs aren't having much effect on slowing down the construction pace.

Home Marketer is published the first Friday of each month by Lakeland Media at 30 S. Whitney, Grayslake, Illinois 60030. For advertising information, call, (847) 223-8161 or fax your information and press releases to (847) 223-8810. Business hours are 8:00 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday thru Friday.

All real estate advertising in this magazine is subject to the Fair Housing Act of 1968 as amended which makes it illegal to advertise religion, sex, handicap, family status or national origin, or an intention to make any such preference, limitation or discrimination.

All prices subject to change without notice. Neither advertisers nor Lakeland Media are responsible for any errors in the ad copy. Lakeland Media reserves the right to refuse any advertising which we deem unsuitable for our publication. No liability assumed for errors or omissions of advertisers from this magazine.

Shop, ask questions when seeking mortgage

In response to the Consumer Reports article "How To Protect Your Biggest Investment," the Illinois Association of Mortgage Brokers (IAMB) fully supports the position that consumers should shop and compare when seeking a mortgage.

Consumers should also ask to see the loan originator's registration card. Whether a consumer decides to work with a mortgage broker, or any other type of originator, the IAMB reminds the home-buying public to ask for a copy of the Good Faith Estimate, which the originator is required by law to provide within three days of application, and which details all costs associated with the loan.

According to a study presented to a Federal Reserve Board Conference on April 7 by Dr. Gregory Elliehausen of the Georgetown University Credit Research Center, which was co-authored by Amany El Anshasy of George Washington University and Yoshiaki Shimazaki of Oklahoma State University, mortgage brokers' customers have a lower annual percentage rate (APR), on average, than bank customers.

In addition to shopping around, the IAMB encourages customers to also engage in the following practices when obtaining a loan:

Negotiate. Don't let the promise of extra cash or lower monthly payments get in the way of your good judgement about whether the cost you will pay for the loan is really worth it. Don't agree to a loan that includes extra products you don't want. Negotiate the loan terms and agree to a loan amount only for what you need.

Be cautious. Be wary of anyone who calls you on the phone, solicits you in the mail or comes to your door offering "bargain loans". Beware of claims that the offer is only available for a short period of time. Beware of lenders claiming "bad credit—no problem". If the loan seems too good to be true, it probably is.

Never act immediately. Never pay a lender cash for any fees, and always make the check payable to the lender, not the individual loan officer. Say "no" to lenders who ask for upfront fees allegedly to cover a first loan payment and other expenses as part of the application.

Understand the terms of your loan. Some loans may sound very attractive because the monthly payment is small. Ask about balloon payments at the end of the loan period. Make sure you know the dollar amount of each monthly payment and ask if the monthly payment can change at anytime during the repayment process. If so, find out when it will change and by how much.

Don't be afraid to ask questions. You have a legal right to know the total cost of the loan, the annual percentage rate (APR), the monthly payments, and how long you have to pay back the loan. If you are unsure of any terms of the loan, ask. If you don't get a straight answer, go elsewhere for your financing needs.

Immediately get help if you feel you have been victimized. Contact your county office of consumer affairs or your state Attorney General's Office.

New ways to make a splash in your garden with Wave

Ten years after they first hit the market, Wave petunias are still making a splash in the garden.

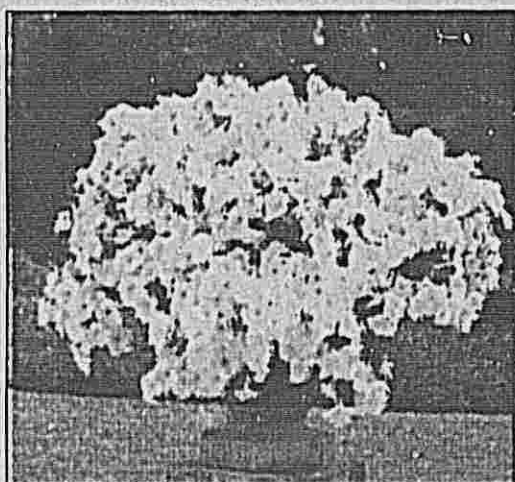

Millions of these super performers are planted by gardeners and professionals alike because Wave petunias are blooming machines. Extremely low-maintenance, these spreading petunias flower lavishly well into fall, withstanding heat and cold, rain and humidity.

Unlike old-fashioned petunias, there's no need to pinch back or deadhead Wave. They take care of themselves. Just give them a good feeding of an all-purpose plant food every few weeks, water and watch them grow.

The Wave Petunia family comes in four different series and two dozen colors. Make sure you look for the authentic Wave petunia in the Pink Pots or one of its sisters: Tidal Wave, Easy Wave or Double Wave.

To celebrate a decade of color in the landscape, Wave growers asked experts from around the country to give suggestions on new ways to use Wave petunias to create a dramatic garden that has your signature style without a lot of work.

White Easy Wave petunias mound up and out to form the perfect chandelier of petals.

1. Garden Chandeliers. Create an elegant focal point with a basket of Easy Wave in a single color placed on a traditional pedestal — as with Easy Wave White shown here. Easy Wave mounds up and out to form the perfect chandelier of petals. Place the pedestal within the landscape along a path, or put two at any entranceway to create a defined, sophisticated space.

2. Stair "Wave" to Heaven. Pick a color, any color. Use any of the Wave varieties to line a path to create a "heavenly" corridor. Wave's exceptionally large blooms fill in quickly, making a stunning statement. You can go with one bold color or graduate the colors from top to bottom. And to get a professional look, space the young plants closer together so they can weave around each other to create a thick mass of color.

3. Goodness Gracious, Great Balls of Flowers. Create a massive globe of color by punching holes in the sides of the cocoa basket and fill in with young plants of Easy Wave petunias until the ball is covered with flowers spaced about 4 to 6 inches apart. The petunias will spread and mound from the center to produce a full, lush ball of color in hot pink to pastel purple.

4. Power Pots. Power in numbers is certainly true when it comes to plants. A concentration of one plant in one color gives you more bloom for the bang! A container of Tidal Wave Cherry is literally cascading with color and cheerfulness. Tidal Wave holds up under rain without falling open and exposing bare centers like some petunias can. Give the container a center support and these petunias will climb up to 3 feet just like a vine.

5. Curb Appeal. Want to create a lot of "curb appeal" for your landscape without an entire re-design or budget breaker? Count on Wave petunias to come to your rescue! Plant a mass of these original spreading petunias in a free-form design or arrange the plants in stripes, borders or clusters. This low-maintenance, fast-growing crowd pleaser will make a colorful statement.

6. Make an Entrance. Fill a container with any of the great colors of Easy Wave petunias and make a warm, colorful welcome. Mix and match Pink, Salmon and Shell Pink for a burst of inviting, bold color. Mix with Double Wave with its rose-like flowers to add interest and create high impact.

7. Spots of Pots. Create instant interest and continual color in the garden or perennial border with pots of Wave petunias. Masses of a single color -- a black container filled with Tidal Wave Silver -- create a stylish look that adds punch and accents any spot in your yard, particularly when perennials are not in bloom.

Mix up a kaleidoscope of colors and plant them in a sea of Wave petunias for a dazzling effect.

FUTURE PLANS

LA CROSSE

Handsome architectural columns buttressing an expansive front porch, symmetrical lap siding exterior and a wood shake roof combine to give a dignified charm to the 2,012 square foot La Crosse (334-080).

The entry, framed in glass, brings you inside a medium sized home well suited for empty nesters who could close the second floor off when not in use, or couples with children old enough to need their own privacy.

In the first floor design, the living access to a large back deck with room for a hot tub. Good weather will bring the family out here!

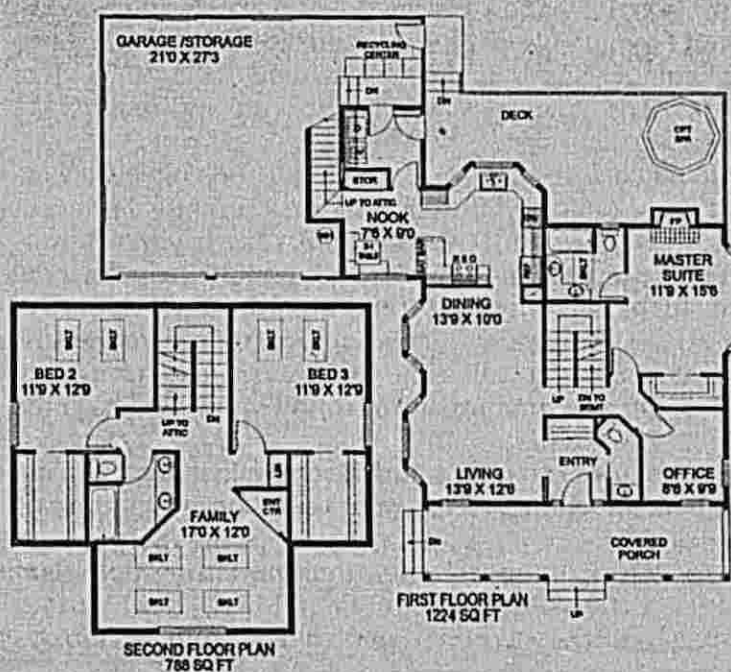

The master suite is a delight. Kept snugly warm by a built-in fireplace, this good-sized room features ample closet space and a skylit bathroom with twin basins. Adjoining the master suite, and completing the first floor design, is a small home office, where household accounts can be kept up to date.

The second floor design is unique. T-shaped, the middle section is dominated by a big skylit family room. With vaulted ceilings and a built-in entertainment center, this is the place for family and friends to gather for some television watching, board games, or perhaps you'll want a ping-pong table here. On either side of the family room is a large bedroom, also skylit. Each has a walk-in closet. A full bath is in the hall.

Need more storage space? The La Crosse has both a large unfinished basement and an unfinished attic. The two-car garage contains a recycling center and extra room for storage or a shop.

Secrets for a happy, healthy lawn

Struggling to compete with the neighbor's pristine, well-tended lawn? If you're wondering what the people next door are doing to keep their backyard looking as meticulous and lush as a golf course, you're in luck. And it's easier than you may think.

A well-manicured lawn doesn't just happen by itself. But it doesn't need to be backbreaking work, either. Landscaping pros — and in-the-know neighbors — understand that a little extra effort can produce a beautiful, healthy turf all season long. If you follow these three simple tips this season, you'll have a thriving backyard in no time, without a ton of extra effort.

1. Aerate — Just like it needs water and nutrients, grass needs air to thrive. Aeration removes plugs of soil from the lawn, which loosens areas that may have become compacted by heavy use, and lets air get down to the roots. Whether you use a power machine or a hand tool, keep in mind that an aerator that removes plugs is much more effective than one that just pokes holes (which can actually make soil compaction worse). Depending on the type of grass in your yard, you'll want to aerate in spring, early fall, or both.

2. Top dress — After you aerate, top dress your lawn by spreading 1/8 inch to 1/4 inch of peat moss over the grass with a rake. The top dressing of peat helps gradually condition the lawn throughout the growing season, strengthening the grass to resist disease and thatch, and reducing the amount of water and fertilizer it needs. Peat moss absorbs moisture and reduces the leaching of nutrients by holding and releasing them slowly over time.

3. Repair bare spots — Discolored patches on the lawn can ruin the look of your whole backyard, but they're often easy to fix. It doesn't matter if the culprit is disease, animal urine, or soil compaction; a repair job takes just a few minutes, and it works wonders on a backyard's overall look. Spring or fall are good times to tackle reseeding; the cooler temperatures help the grass grow. First, loosen the top 6 inches of soil in the affected area. (Throw away the top inch or so of soil if Rover is the reason for the bare patch.) Then, work 2 inches of peat moss into the soil. Scatter grass seeds on the soil, add fertilizer, and water with a fine spray. You can sprinkle a thin layer of peat moss over the new growth to add an extra measure of conditioning, and keep the area moist until it germinates.

That's all there is to it — three simple ways to give your backyard the equivalent of a fresh coat of paint. Pretty soon, your backyard will perk up so dramatically, your neighbors will be coming to you for lawn-care advice.

Designing the gourmet kitchen From the inside, out

Gourmet cooking and entertaining can be frustrating, even for the seasoned cook. With guests now congregating in the kitchen while the meal is being prepared, fumbling around in the back of your cabinets for that long lost spice jar, gadget or serving tray can turn cooking into a chore.

Fortunately, manufacturers are listening to these concerns, and responding with solutions that may change the way people think of and design their kitchens.

"For decades now, we've been designing kitchens in a classic triangle, with a cooking area, a food prep area and a cleaning/storage area. But today's serious cooks needed 'point of use' solutions," says Ellen Cheever, ASID, a well known kitchen and bath designer and industry educator. "So now, you're seeing appliances like special warming drawers or beverage centers that fit in base cabinets. The insides of cabinets are now so specialized, there is a pull out or a special drawer for almost every need," she said.

In fact, one manufacturer of high-end, semi-custom kitchen cabinetry, Decora, has just introduced the ACCESSORIES collection, with more than 100 cabinet options designed to provide specialized storage for the gourmet cook and entertainer. With more than 1,000 different size, door and finish combinations -- and now a full line of storage products -- Decora's national network of independent dealers and designers can offer a custom fit and a high-style look for around 20 percent less than custom cabinets, according to Jan Aufderhar, semi-custom manager for Masterbrand Cabinets, Decora's parent company in Jasper, Ind.

"Designers are realizing that built-in cabinetry is a great way to break up space between the open kitchen, dining room, great room combinations, without making the floor plan feel closed off. With cabinetry doing so much more now, people are lot more likely to have things like built-in butler's pantries, wet bars, study areas and even built in china cabinets," she adds.

Here's just a few of the applications Cheever and Aufderhar noted for today's new high-performance kitchens:

Food Prep Zone: Kitchen islands have become elaborate food prep areas, with lower counter heights, built in butcher block countertops and knife drawers with special inserts to keep knives straight, organized and sharp. Cutting boards slide out for use and disappear back into the cabinet when they're not needed.

Cooking Zone: With many cooks now buying separate cooktops and ovens, instead of free-standing ranges, new organization options have emerged. In the cabinet underneath the cooktop, chefs can put in drawers that hold up to 32 spice jars, right where they are needed, or install a special pull-out that holds all the pots and pans and organizes lids. A huge array of tall cabinets, base cabinets and special pull outs are specifically designed to hold sauces, spices, mustards and chutneys, right near the cooktop.

Baking Zone: Cooks serious about baking often choose to lower their countertop, adding knead-friendly marble counters. Now, Decora has taken this a step further by offering pull-out box cabinet inserts that allow bakers to store canisters, baking powders and spices together, under the counter. Special base cabinets have tiered, adjustable layers that are perfect for holding unruly springform pans, casseroles, cake decorating kits and the like.

Formal/Casual Dining Zones: "People are using built-in cabinets as a buffet that separates their kitchen from their dining area, usually with a tall bank of cabinets," says Cheever. "With the right door style, you can make a combination china cabinet/buffet that never needs dusting, isn't in the way and can be as big or as little as you want. With the right lighting, you can display your best pieces as artwork. It makes setting the table a snap; and it's a very smart way to use your space," she says.

The Wet Bar/Wine Service Zone: Wet bar modules can help make a transition between food preparation and food serving zones, and do it beautifully. Base cabinet beverage centers offer everything from rolling bins on a carousel, for storing a wide variety of canned goods; to pull out storage meant to hold eight, 2-liter bottles of soda. Wine racks can be built in a variety of configurations -- in freestanding pantries to doorless configurations built as a show area in the cabinets. Combined with today's under-the-counter wine chillers and beverage centers, there's no need to go to the basement for that dusty old bottle.

Meal Planning Command Center: Built in bookcases, file drawers and computer base cabinets can turn a corner of the kitchen into the perfect place for accessing computerized recipe files, paying the family bills or storing beloved cookbook collections and culinary backgrounders. With some kitchen cabinet manufacturers offering built-in office modules in addition to their kitchen line, designers can seamlessly integrate the two -- whether you're storing cookbooks in a hallway leading into the kitchen, adding a shelf at the bottom of the kitchen island or putting in a kitchen office nook.

Task-Specific Storage Zones: Instead of a pantry that stores everything in one place, many homeowners are opting for dividing storage into specific work areas of their kitchens. For instance, some families are using storage for a "breakfast center," where a trim, pull-out base cabinet can store cereals, syrups, pancake and muffin mixes and bagels. And for pet owners, a special pull-out base cabinet with an additional small drawer could be made to store large dog food canisters, treat boxes, toys and grooming materials.

Spring cleaning 101

The weather has finally warmed, and you're ready to open the windows and enjoy the outdoors. The last thing on your mind is participating in the annual rite of passage called spring cleaning. But reconsider — there's no better time to get your home orderly and clean. Follow this game plan and you'll be able to enjoy the spring weather after you're through cleaning.

Before you clean

First, head to the store so you have the right supplies on hand. Stick with the basics — a few rags, a few rolls of paper towels, furniture polish and a good all-purpose glass-and-counter cleaner. Put them all in a bucket that you can carry around to every room. Also throw in some garbage bags for collecting trash.

Make sure you are ready to get down and dirty. Wear comfortable, old clothes since they may get stained. Turn off the TV and unplug your phone. The fewer distractions you have, the faster you'll finish. It's okay to pump up the music though — the tunes will get you in the mood to make the house sparkle.

During the job

First, open the windows so you don't inhale dust and cleaning fumes. To start cleaning, tackle one room at a time. (Wear rubber gloves so you can protect hands and nails.) Read this list: Living room: Dust and vacuum corners, crevices and wood furniture. Vacuum carpet, furniture, lamp shades and pictures. Put away books and recycle old magazines. Remove all knickknacks, family photos and other items so that you can easily polish and dust surfaces. Take plants and their pots outside for a wash with a fine spray from your garden hose.

Bedrooms: Remove items under beds and file or throw away old papers. Wash or dry-clean curtains. Take blinds outside and rinse with the garden hose. Launder bed linens and dust ruffle. Vacuum mattresses and box springs. Flip and rotate mattresses before putting on new sheets. Polish wood furniture and dust knickknacks. Vacuum the floor/carpet and lamp shades. Clean mirrors and wipe down light fixtures and lamps.

Kitchen: Remove everything from counters and take down curtains. Keep any appliances you use daily or weekly on the kitchen counter. Anything else should be put in cabinets or cupboards. Consider stashing cookbooks you rarely use on a shelf to free up space. Clean the inside and outside of the oven, microwave, refrigerator and garbage can. Be sure to clean floors, appliances and counters with the right products. Empty out the freezer and refrigerator.

Bathroom: Clear potpourri holders, magazines and wastepaper baskets. Take down the shower curtain and liner and launder them. Then mop the floor and clean counters. Spray shower, bathtub, toilet bowl and outside of toilet bowl with appropriate cleaners. Clean mirrors, scale, light fixtures and sink. Empty and clean wastepaper basket. Vacuum everything to get rid of hard-to-remove hair. Scrub the floor.

As you clean each room, toss any clutter that you find, such as junk mail, in one garbage bag. Fill the other garbage bag with toys, dolls or other items. Remember, the faster you get it done, the sooner you can enjoy your new indoors and then the great outdoors!

Old-Time Remedies

Listen to Books On Tape to Help You Clean

Having trouble finding time to read these days? You can rent great books on tape from the library to listen to while you're cleaning and doing chores. It helps to pass the time, keeps you working a little longer and lets you catch up on those mysteries you've been wanting to read.

Removing Candle Wax from Walls

Candle wax can be removed from walls or other surfaces with an iron and facial tissue. Set the tissue over the wax and gently iron. When the wax seeps through or the tissue begins to brown, apply a new tissue.

What to do in June 2005

Landscaping, plantings and outdoor living spaces provide enjoyment, but don't forget the value they add to our lives.

The Illinois Landscape Contractors Association (ILCA) reminds us that air quality is better because trees remove pollutants and dust. Trees shading homes reduce home interior temperatures. In fact, properly located trees can reduce air conditioning costs as much as 40 percent.

Groups of plants act as giant water filtration systems, improving water quality and decreasing rates of runoff, which results in reducing soil erosion and flooding.

Homes with "excellent" landscaping can expect a sale price about 6 to 7 percent higher than equivalent houses with "good" landscaping. As for adding landscaping to a home, the improvement can bring a recovery value of 100 to 200 percent at selling time.

Scientific studies by the University of Illinois show that being surrounded by vegetation and nature reduces mental fatigue, reduces crime, reduces acts of aggression, and increases social activities and interaction between people simply because there are more common areas in which to meet, such as parks.

In the end, after all the studies are completed, the focus groups finished, the data collected, the numbers tabulated and crunched, we may find that the ultimate, and perhaps the truly immeasurable, benefit is simply the beauty that plants bring into our lives.

Enjoy your plants and flowers:

- Remove spent flowers from summer annuals to encourage new bloom production and prevent the plant from wasting energy setting seed.
- For roses, remove the first faded blossoms by pruning back to the first five-leaflet leaf to encourage new growth. Continue monthly fertilizations and monitor for black spot and powdery mildew.
- Provide acid-loving plants as azaleas and rhododendrons with mulch from pine needles (sometimes called pine straw) or leaf compost (preferably oak).
- Watch the growth on chrysanthemums plants, and plan to systematically trim back at least four times prior to July 4th. Take up to one third off the height with each, pinching to produce lateral shoots for a more bushy appearance (to negate the need for staking) and more flowers in the fall.
- Houseplants can go outside. Place in shade to avoid foliage burn from higher light levels. Water well and feed throughout the summer.

Lawn tricks

- Set lawn mower height at three inches as daytime temperatures increase and the turf's growth rate slows down. Taller turf leaf blades help shade the roots and encourage deeper root development, especially beneficial during hot dry periods. The rule to not cut off more than one third of the grass blade still applies.

Bug lookout:

- Check plants for three very common insects prevalent this time of year -- mites, aphids, and leafminers.
- Plants damaged by mites will be discolored. To detect mites, place a sheet of white paper under a branch and tap the branch to dislodge the pinhead-size spots which should begin to move after a few seconds. If not, smear the dots - if red, mites are present. Commonly-affected plants are honeylocust, spruce, spirea and arborvitae.
- Aphids are small green insects that feed on leaves at the branch ends, causing the leaves to curl and turn black. Commonly-affected plants are hawthorn, crabapple, spirea, linden and ash.
- Lastly, leafminers leave brown tracks after hollowing out the leaves which eventually turn brown or appear as onion skins. Because the insect is inside the leaf, a systemic pesticide (one that travels through the plant) must be used. Commonly-affected plants are hawthorns, birch and alder.

Check lawns too:

- Inspect your lawn for irregular brown patches caused by sod webworms. First evidence is adult moths flying about the lawn in the evening hours. The webworms (caterpillars) feed at night. Flooding the lawn with water will bring them to the surface from their daytime burrows. Visit your local garden center or call your professional landscape contractor for treatment procedure.
- Check out dead lawn patches that may be caused by grubs feeding on your lawn's roots -- most active from mid-June to October. Peel back a small lawn area to see the culprits. As a general rule, if there are more than eight grubs per square foot, the area will not recover and needs replacing.

ILCA landscaping hints are available at www.ilca.net. Click on Consumer Information. One can also check the base location and services of landscape contractors. ILCA offers the free color brochures, "Your Landscape Begins With A Dream," for planning, budgeting and creating outdoor spaces and "Garden Centers Are 'Natural' Resources," with guidance in garden center selection. Included is a list of member landscape contractors and garden centers. Call Monday through Friday 630-472-2851, write ILCA, 2625 Butterfield Road, Suite 204W, Oak Brook, IL 60523 or e-mail lodell@ilca.net for print material.

Give lawns a slow, one-inch watering once a week during dry weather. Water turf in early morning to reduce evaporation and deter mold and fungus growth. Measure the amount of water applied by placing a coffee can under the path of the sprinkler.

How to clean household upholstery

When did you last clean your upholstery? Start now! Dust settles on upholstered furniture just like on hard surfaces. Remove it regularly using your vacuum cleaner's nozzle and crevice attachments. For down-filled cushions that are not lined with down-proof ticking, use a brush because a vacuum can draw out the down. Note, though, that on other materials brushes will scatter dust around. Both vacuuming and light brushing help remove dirt and prevent it from getting embedded between the upholstery fibers.

Clean with care

For the best results when cleaning upholstered furniture, read its tag. You will see the letter W, S, W-S or X and then care instructions that will explain how the furniture should be cleaned. Before doing any cleaning, always test an inconspicuous part of the furniture first. When in doubt, seek the advice or services of a professional.

Here's your guide to understanding cleaning instructions, code by code:

W: Frequently vacuum or brush lightly to remove dust and grime. Spot clean using foam only from a water-based cleaner such as a mild detergent or nonsolvent upholstery shampoo. Apply foam with a soft brush in a circular motion and vacuum when dry. Get a professional cleaning when the furniture is completely soiled.

S: Frequently vacuum or brush lightly to remove dust and grime. Spot clean using a mild water-free solvent or dry-cleaning product with carbon tetrachloride. It's recommended that you get this type of furniture professionally cleaned.

W-S: Frequently vacuum or brush lightly to remove dust and grime. Spot clean with a mild solvent, upholstery shampoo or the foam form of a mild detergent. Avoid using any product with carbon tetrachloride. When using a solvent or dry-cleaning product, follow the instructions and only clean in a well-ventilated area. Get professionally cleaned when the furniture is completely soiled.

X: Clean this fabric only by vacuuming or light brushing to prevent accumulation of dust and grime. Avoid a water-based foam cleaner or solvent-based cleaning agents which can cause excessive shrinking, staining or distortion of the surface pile.

After shampooing, dry the upholstery by opening the window or turning on an electric fan, a dehumidifier, or an air conditioner in the same room.
